30 Mississippi And 13 Alabama Delegates Exit

Protesters Planning Birmingham Conclave To Choose Candidate

CONVENTION HALL, Philadelphia, July 14—(AP)—Mississippi's delegation and half of Alabama's walked out of the Democratic convention tonight, angry over its adoption of a strong "civil rights" platform plank.

Handy Ellis, chairman of the Alabama delegation, announced the walkout move. He said 13 of Alabama's 26 delegates were leaving and 23 of the 26 alternates. Mississippi's 30 delegates—with 22 votes—followed the Alabama walkers.

Sen. Eastland, of Mississippi, told reporters that "in all probability" the protesters will hold a convention in Birmingham.

The purpose would be to name a southern Democrat as a presidential candidate.

Telling the convention "goodbye," Ellis said that Alabama electors were under pledge that they would never cast their votes for Harry S. Truman.

Georgia's delegation stayed, but nominated Sen. Richard B. Russell to oppose Mr. Truman for the presidential nomination.

Mild Struggling On Floor

All kinds of new signs suddenly appeared. One carried by a South Carolina delegates said: "Lets send Harry Back to the farm."

There was considerable mild struggling on the floor. Truman delegates tried to impede the southern demonstrators.

Convention Chairman Sam Rayburn finally mixed in. By dint of hammering, he shut off the demonstration after 20 minutes.

Ellis said his group left—"without hatred, without anger, but with sorrow that we are faced with the necessity of carrying out the will of the people of Alabama."

Then a Mississippi delegate got up and said Mississippi wouldn't stay either.

"We bid you good-bye," he added and turned toward the door.

As members of the Mississippi and Alabama delegations went down the aisles, other delegates held Truman signs in front of them, delaying their exit.

An Alabama flag, a red X on a field of white, was taken from the bunting around the balconies and carried out by the departing delegates.

Ellis made his announcement

Southern Demos To Meet Saturday In Birmingham

PHILADELPHIA, July 14 (AP)—Gov. Fielding Wright, of Mississippi, formally called tonight for a meeting of Dixie Democrats in Birmingham, Ala., on Saturday to designate a "states rights" Democratic candidate for President, opposing Harry S. Truman.

He issued the call shortly after the Mississippi delegation and half the Alabama delegates had stalked out of the Philadelphia convention in protest against the convention's endorsement of Mr. Truman's civil rights program.

Riots And Strikes Follow Attempt To Assassinate Italian Communist Chief

Togliatti Is Wounded; Five Die In Disorders

ROME, Thursday, July 15. (AP)—Riots flared and a general strike spread throughout Italy early today as Communists reacted swiftly and violently to the attempted assassination of their leader, Palmiro Togliatti.

A Sicilian law student shot and dangerously wounded Italy's No. 1 Communist yesterday. Early today doctors said Togliatti's condition was "slightly improved" after an operation to remove two bullets from his body. He received three bullet wounds just before noon as he was leaving the Chamber of Deputies to buy ice cream.

Up to midnight, police reports showed at least five persons had been killed and more than 100 wounded in street battles which mushroomed all over the country following news of the attack on Togliatti.

Government Stands Firm

As midnight passed, it was apparently the Communist labor bosses had struck their hardest blow to date at the moderate government of Premier Alcide De Gasperi when they ordered the general strike to commence with the new day.

But the anti-Communist government stood firm. It labeled the strike call by the Confederation of Labor a "political" demonstration and announced "rigid measures for the maintenance of public order."

Even before midnight it became apparent that the strike, of indefinite duration, would paralyze business and industry. Newspapers failed to appear, crowds waited in railway stations for trains that never arrived, buses and taxes were idle in Rome and the government-operated radio was silent.

Electricity, gas and other public services will be choked off later today. Food shops will be open only until noon.

Communists Make Appeal

The directorate of the Communist Party issued a special newspaper appeal today to the Italian people demanding the "resignation of the government of discord, hunger and civil war."

After a three-hour meeting of the confederation's executive committee, observers said the labor leaders might keep the strike in force in an attempt to force the resignation of the De Gasperi government.

Two persons were killed in Naples, one a Communist and the other a

"Captive" Miners Return To Work; Suit Withdrawn

Judge Permits NLRB To Drop Proceedings

PITTSBURGH, July 14 (AP)—Coal flowed again from steel company-owned mines today as the government withdrew its injunction suit against the United Mine Workers in the captive contract case at Washington.

Captive miners, who began a work stoppage July 6 for lack of a contract, resumed work upon the strength of yesterday's contract signing, obtained through the instance of Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough.

In the capital, the judge today permitted the National Labor Relations Board to drop its injunction proceedings in view of the new contract. Operators of the captive, or steel company-owned, mines signed the agreement upon the UMW's promise to modify its union shop clause should later court rulings require it.

NLRB Is Reluctant

The NLRB made it clear it was dropping the case reluctantly and still regards the contract as illegal because under the Taft-Hartley law a union shop clause cannot be inserted without an NLRB election. This is not available to the UMW at present, since its president, John L. Lewis, has not signed a non-Communist affidavit.

A union shop clause requires all miners to become union members. The contract is also similar to the commercial mines contract in providing a $1-per-day pay increase and raising from 10 to 20 cents a ton the welfare fund royalty.

South Handed Double Defeat On Race Issue

States' Rights Plank Spurned; Civil Rights Stand Strengthened

CONVENTION HALL, Philadelphia, July 14 (AP)—The Democratic national convention handed the South a double-barreled defeat on the race issue today. It slapped down Dixie's states' right plank and then amended the platform to stamp endorsement on President Truman's civil rights program.

The repercussions came loud and fast, as:

1. The Mississippi delegation and half of Alabama's 26 delegates stalked out of the convention—taking a walk.

2. Gov. Ben Laney, of Arkansas, bitter foe of Mr. Truman's civil rights program, withdrew as a southern bloc's candidate for President, saying if nominated he could not run on the platform ratified today by a majority of the Philadelphia convention.

Some southern delegates quickly made plans to call a separate convention, nominate their own candidate for President and write their own platform.

The history-making political development, that may determine whether Democrats will be one party or two, rocked the convention just before a majority of delegates shouted approval of a 5,000-word 1948 "Roosevelt-Truman" platform.

Convention Rubs It In

First the convention refused, 925 to 309, to put a states' rights plank in the platform. This plank, offered by former Gov. Dan Moody, of Texas, would have declared that states have the right to run their own internal affairs and police powers Thus the South had sought, while joining in support of a general civil rights plank, to have the convention declare that states have jurisdiction over the legal processes governing those rights.

Then, to rub it in, the convention adopted an amendment to the platform sponsored by Mayor Hubert H. Humphrey, of Minneapolis, and former Rep. Andrew Biemiller, of Wisconsin, endorsing the President's civil rights stand. The vote was 651½ to 582½.

The amended and strengthened civil rights plank, as finally approved, declares:

"The Democratic Party is responsible for the great civil rights gain made in recent years in eliminating unfair and illegal discrimination based on race, creed or color.

Truman Is Commended

"The Democratic Party commits itself to continuing its efforts to eradicate all racial, religious and economic discrimination.

"We again state our belief that racial and religious minorities must have the right to live, the right to work, the right to vote, the full and equal protection of the laws, on a basis of equality with all citi-

Gov. Dewey Takes Whack At Democratic Platform

He claimed it contained "extremely partisan and provocative assertions concerning foreign affairs."

He said, without elaborating, that problems may result from it.

Dewey didn't say exactly which assertions in the platform he deemed partisan and provocative, or what kind of problems might result.

Holy Land Peace Plan Threatened As Russia Balks

Key Sections Draw Soviet Opposition

Refuses To Act Except Under Own Conditions

LAKE SUCCESS, July 14 (AP)—Russia tonight suddenly objected to several key sections of the American proposal for ending the Palestine war. The Soviet stand threatened to delay or even kill the plan for the Security Council to issue a cease-fire order to the Jews and Arabs.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko raised his objections and made counter-proposals just as the council appeared to be nearing a vote. The American plan had six affirmative votes pledged but seven are needed and Russia thus appeared to be in a position to force a series of changes and deletions.

Meeting Hurriedly Adjourned

Council President Dmitri Z. Manuilsky, of the Soviet Ukraine, hurriedly adjourned the meeting after Gromyko's speech and delegates went into private huddles in an attempt to reach some agreement. The council will convene again tomorrow.

If accepted, the Soviet counter-proposals would eliminate Count Folke Bernadotte from the picture. The United States resolution provides for the United Nations mediator to supervise a truce of unlimited duration and continue efforts at mediation. Russia moved to strike out all these sections.

LONDON, July 14 (AP) — Russia refused tonight a United States demand that it life its blockade of Berlin's land supply lines as a prelude to negotiating the Berlin issues.

A Russian note, replying to an American note of July 6 which demanded that the blockade be lifted, was broadcast by the Moscow radio several hours after it was delivered to the State Department in Washington.

The Soviets said they do not object to negotiating the problems of four-power administration in Berlin, but will not start such talks "with the fulfillment of any preliminary conditions." Furthermore, they said, they will negotiate only if the talks concern the administration of all Germany, and not Berlin alone.

The Russian note complained of the recent currency reform in the western zones of Germany and of the decision of the United States, Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg to establish partial self-government in Western Germany.

Charge Agreements Violated

As a result of these actions, which the Russians termed violations of four-power agreements on Germany, the United States, Britain and France have undermined the "legal basis on which rested their right to participate in the administration of Berlin," the note said.

Britain and France also sent protest notes to the Kremlin July 6, but the Moscow radio noted only that the Russian replies to the Western Powers were "of similar content."

The Western Powers introduced a new currency in the three western zones June 18 and soon afterward the Russians closed down the Berlin-Helmstedt railway line, only rail supply link between Berlin and the West. Highway and canal travel

President, Victor On Initial Ballot, Recalls Congress

Flings Challenge At GOP; Session Set For July 26

SEN. ALBEN W. BARKLEY

CONVENTION HALL, Philadelphia, July 15. (Thursday)—(AP)—The Democratic national convention adjourned at 1:30 a. m. (EST) today after nominating Harry S. Truman for President and Sen. Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky for Vice-President.

Mr. Truman said: "I accept," and flung a challenge at the Republican opposition with a call for a special session July 26 of the Congress he has labelled 'at least the second worst in history.

Delegates to the 30th Democratic convention howled and shrieked their approval of that maneuver.

And confidently, Mr. Truman declared:

"We'll win this election and make the Republicans like it."

He said he will ask Congress to do some of the things Republicans promised in their 1948 platform.

He enumerated some of them as civil rights legislation, increased minimum wages, extension of social security coverage, development of public power for cheap electricity, and housing legislation.

The President said he also wants Congress to pass "an adequate" displaced persons law instead of the recently-passed one he called "anti-Semitic and anti-Catholic."

Fighting Acceptance Speech

It was a fighting acceptance speech for the presidential nomination the Democratic convention had just handed to him.

Smiling, confident in manner, Mr. Truman went over one by one the things he said he had asked the Republican-controlled 80th Congress for, but failed to get,

The President began his speech by predicting that "Sen. Barkley and I will win this election and make those Republicans like it."

Mr. Truman spoke after Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky had accepted the vice-presidential nomination.

Mrs. Truman and his daughter, Margaret, were on the platform as he addressed the delegates who had nominated him.

"I can't tell you how very much I appreciate the honor you have just conferred upon me," the President said. "I shall continue to try to deserve it. I accept the nomination. And I want to thank this convention for the unanimous nomination of my good friend Sen. Barkley. He's a great man, he's a great public servant."

Mr. Truman said the Democratic Party's record had been written in the past 16 years; that he would not repeat it. He went on:

"It is the business of the Democratic Party to see that the people get a fair share of things. This

Decisive Battle For Jerusalem Is Seen Shaping Up

Jewish Forces Claim Military Successes

CAIRO, July 14. (AP)—A decisive battle for Jerusalem appeared to be shaping up today around Latrun where the Arabs have plugged Jewish supply roads to the Holy City.

The Jews are pressing an offensive from the coastal plain in an effort to pry loose the Trans-Jordan Arab Legion's grip on the Latrun bottleneck. But Legion artillery still dominates this area.

The main Jerusalem-Tel Aviv highway meanders through Bab El Wad gorge at this point. It is 14 miles from Jerusalem and 18 from Tel Aviv.

Jews Claim Successes

Elsewhere in the Holy Land fighting, the Jews claimed military successes in the north, center and south.

At Lake Success, the United States gained support for its demand for a cease-fire order which the United Nations would enforce, if necessary. It also calls for efforts to demilitarize Jerusalem. Canada and Belgium backed it in the United Nations Security Council.

Britain is supporting the United States demand for forceful action. When this became known in Trans-Jordan, mass demonstrations occurred in Amman, the capital. Thousands of angry Arabs hurled defiance at the British and at President Truman. They shouted "Fight to the death," "Down with the British" and "Down with Truman." British nationals stayed at home.

Syrian Planes Bomb Haifa

For the second time, twin-engined Syrian bombers struck Haifa. They caused no serious damage.

The British Foreign Office disclosed that Britain has proposed proclaiming Haifa a free port to help ensure the success of the European program.

Six Crewmen Killed In British Plane Crash

TOULON, France, July 14—(INS)—A British Overseas Airways two-engined Dakota plane crashed and burned tonight near Cape Sicie, on France's Mediterranean coast, killing its crew of six.

The plane struck a cliff and shattered, with part of it falling into the sea.

The Dakota, which carried no passengers, was en route to Malta from Marignane, France.

French maritime police recovered all six bodies.

Half Of Mountain Side Is Demolished By Big Blast

BRISTOL, Va.-Tenn., July 14. (AP)—The largest blast in construction history echoed through this section of Upper East Tennessee today as 840,000 pounds of high explosive blew half a mountain side into quarry rock at South Holston Dam site near here.

Project Manager George K. Leonard said TVA engineers expect to obtain 1,000,000 cubic yards of rock for fill at the dam. Today's blast, which demolished about one-half of a knob went off at 34 and a half minutes after 2 p. m.

Some 5,000 persons watched as Mrs. W. Dean Simpson, wife of the quarry superintendent, pulled the switch to detonate the 840,000 pounds of nitrogen that had been packed into tunnels under the sandstone knob.

Meanwhile scientists were busy gathering data on the blast.

A special shelter about 3,000 feet from the knob housed newsreel and newspaper photographers and reporters. Photographers from five newsreel companies covered the event.

Vibrations from the explosion were felt here, seven air miles from the dam site. One householder reported the shock shook down part of her chimney. A woman, listening to a radio broadcast of the blast, said she was lifted from her seat.

Project Manager Leonard said the remaining half of the sandstone knob will be demolished by a similar explosion in October. Tunnels for the explosive are being drilled on the opposite side of the knob, he said.

Mother And Daughter Divorce Father And Son

LOS ANGELES, July 14 (AP) — A mother and daughter divorced a father and son today, each appearing as a corroborating witness for the other.

The mother, Mrs. Hazel B. Sprague, 54, obtained a decree from Lester C. Sprague, 60, on the grounds he was stingy with the household money.

Then the daughter, Mildred Sprague, 32, got a divorce from Lester's son, Herbert, 36, charging that he locked her from their home.

Steel Union Groups To Discuss Pay Demands

PITTSBURGH, July 14 (AP) — Top strategists of the CIO-United Steelworkers meet tomorrow amid reports that a wage increase by the United States Steel Corporation is imminent.

Unionists meeting tomorrow are the negotiating committee and the executive board. This group includes Philip Murray, president of the CIO and the steelworkers. It first passes on wage offers and agreements.

The executive board's reccommendations are passed on to the union's 171-man wage policy committee which meets here Friday. This committee must give final approval to any wage offers. However it never has over-ridden the executive board's reccomendations.

Ford Offers CIO Union 13-Cents-An-Hour Boost

DETROIT, July 14 (AP)—The Ford Motor Company gave the CIO-United Auto Workers what it called its "final offer" tonight—a flat 13-cents-an-hour wage increase and other non-wage benefits and the union rejected it.

The so-called fringe benefits include an improved group insurance plan, higher afternoon and night-shift pay differentals, and improved vacation provisions. The company also proposed extension of the present contract for a year beyond its scheduled expiration July 15, 1949.

Ford made its "final offer" at the first night negotiating session since bargaining started June 15.

The union's latest counter proposal demanded a flat 14-cent an hour raise and other benefits boosting the demand to a total of 28 cents.

Negotiations resumed on the eve of a huddle tomorrow of the UAW's National Ford Council called to consider the union's position and make recommendations.

Walter Reuther, UAW president, said earlier in the week that the union would feel free to call a strike if there was no agreement by Thursday.

The Ford negotiations affect workers in 46 plants in more than a score of states. Their current approximate average is $1.52 an hour.

Refuses To Act Except Under Own Conditions

LONDON, July 14 (AP) — Russia refused tonight a United States demand that it life its blockade of Berlin's land supply lines as a prelude to negotiating the Berlin issues.

A Russian note, replying to an American note of July 6 which demanded that the blockade be lifted, was broadcast by the Moscow radio several hours after it was delivered to the State Department in Washington.

The Soviets said they do not object to negotiating the problems of four-power administration in Berlin, but will not start such talks "with the fulfillment of any preliminary conditions." Furthermore, they said, they will negotiate only if the talks concern the administration of all Germany, and not Berlin alone.

The Russian note complained of the recent currency reform in the western zones of Germany and of the decision of the United States, Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg to establish partial self-government in Western Germany.

Charge Agreements Violated

As a result of these actions, which the Russians termed violations of four-power agreements on Germany, the United States, Britain and France have undermined the "legal basis on which rested their right to participate in the administration of Berlin," the note said.

Britain and France also sent protest notes to the Kremlin July 6, but the Moscow radio noted only that the Russian replies to the Western Powers were "of similar content."

The Western Powers introduced a new currency in the three western zones June 18 and soon afterward the Russians closed down the Berlin-Helmstedt railway line, only rail supply link between Berlin and the West. Highway and canal travel

President, Victor On Initial Ballot, Recalls Congress

SEN. ALBEN W. BARKLEY

CONVENTION HALL, Philadelphia, July 15. (Thursday)—(AP)—The Democratic national convention adjourned at 1:30 a. m. (EST) today after nominating Harry S. Truman for President and Sen. Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky for Vice-President.

Mr. Truman said: "I accept," and flung a challenge at the Republican opposition with a call for a special session July 26 of the Congress he has labelled 'at least the second worst in history.

Delegates to the 30th Democratic convention howled and shrieked their approval of that maneuver.

And confidently, Mr. Truman declared:

"We'll win this election and make the Republicans like it."

He said he will ask Congress to do some of the things Republicans promised in their 1948 platform.

He enumerated some of them as civil rights legislation, increased minimum wages, extension of social security coverage, development of public power for cheap electricity, and housing legislation.

The President said he also wants Congress to pass "an adequate" displaced persons law instead of the recently-passed one he called "anti-Semitic and anti-Catholic."

Fighting Acceptance Speech

It was a fighting acceptance speech for the presidential nomination the Democratic convention had just handed to him.

Smiling, confident in manner, Mr. Truman went over one by one the things he said he had asked the Republican-controlled 80th Congress for, but failed to get,

The President began his speech by predicting that "Sen. Barkley and I will win this election and make those Republicans like it."

Mr. Truman spoke after Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky had accepted the vice-presidential nomination.

Mrs. Truman and his daughter, Margaret, were on the platform as he addressed the delegates who had nominated him.

"I can't tell you how very much I appreciate the honor you have just conferred upon me," the President said. "I shall continue to try to deserve it. I accept the nomination. And I want to thank this convention for the unanimous nomination of my good friend Sen. Barkley. He's a great man, he's a great public servant."

Mr. Truman said the Democratic Party's record had been written in the past 16 years; that he would not repeat it. He went on:

"It is the business of the Democratic Party to see that the people get a fair share of things. This

Decisive Battle For Jerusalem Is Seen Shaping Up

Jewish Forces Claim Military Successes

CAIRO, July 14. (AP)—A decisive battle for Jerusalem appeared to be shaping up today around Latrun where the Arabs have plugged Jewish supply roads to the Holy City.

The Jews are pressing an offensive from the coastal plain in an effort to pry loose the Trans-Jordan Arab Legion's grip on the Latrun bottleneck. But Legion artillery still dominates this area.

The main Jerusalem-Tel Aviv highway meanders through Bab El Wad gorge at this point. It is 14 miles from Jerusalem and 18 from Tel Aviv.

Jews Claim Successes

Elsewhere in the Holy Land fighting, the Jews claimed military successes in the north, center and south.

At Lake Success, the United States gained support for its demand for a cease-fire order which the United Nations would enforce, if necessary. It also calls for efforts to demilitarize Jerusalem. Canada and Belgium backed it in the United Nations Security Council.

Britain is supporting the United States demand for forceful action. When this became known in Trans-Jordan, mass demonstrations occurred in Amman, the capital. Thousands of angry Arabs hurled defiance at the British and at President Truman. They shouted "Fight to the death," "Down with the British" and "Down with Truman." British nationals stayed at home.

Syrian Planes Bomb Haifa

For the second time, twin-engined Syrian bombers struck Haifa. They caused no serious damage.

The British Foreign Office disclosed that Britain has proposed proclaiming Haifa a free port to help ensure the success of the European program.

RAF Jets Cross Atlantic

HALIFAX, July 14 (AP)—Six RAF Vampires landed at Goose Bay, Labrador, tonight, completing the first Atlantic crossing by jet-propelled aircraft. A signal saying the jets were down safely was received by the Royal Canadian Air Corps here.

Six Crewmen Killed In British Plane Crash

TOULON, France, July 14—(INS)—A British Overseas Airways two-engined Dakota plane crashed and burned tonight near Cape Sicie, on France's Mediterranean coast, killing its crew of six.

The plane struck a cliff and shattered, with part of it falling into the sea.

The Dakota, which carried no passengers, was en route to Malta from Marignane, France.

French maritime police recovered all six bodies.

Half Of Mountain Side Is Demolished By Big Blast

BRISTOL, Va.-Tenn., July 14. (AP)—The largest blast in construction history echoed through this section of Upper East Tennessee today as 840,000 pounds of high explosive blew half a mountain side into quarry rock at South Holston Dam site near here.

Project Manager George K. Leonard said TVA engineers expect to obtain 1,000,000 cubic yards of rock for fill at the dam. Today's blast, which demolished about one-half of a knob went off at 34 and a half minutes after 2 p. m.

Some 5,000 persons watched as Mrs. W. Dean Simpson, wife of the quarry superintendent, pulled the switch to detonate the 840,000 pounds of nitrogen that had been packed into tunnels under the sandstone knob.

Meanwhile scientists were busy gathering data on the blast.

A special shelter about 3,000 feet from the knob housed newsreel and newspaper photographers and reporters. Photographers from five newsreel companies covered the event.

Vibrations from the explosion were felt here, seven air miles from the dam site. One householder reported the shock shook down part of her chimney. A woman, listening to a radio broadcast of the blast, said she was lifted from her seat.

Project Manager Leonard said the remaining half of the sandstone knob will be demolished by a similar explosion in October. Tunnels for the explosive are being drilled on the opposite side of the knob, he said.

Mother And Daughter Divorce Father And Son

LOS ANGELES, July 14 (AP) — A mother and daughter divorced a father and son today, each appearing as a corroborating witness for the other.

The mother, Mrs. Hazel B. Sprague, 54, obtained a decree from Lester C. Sprague, 60, on the grounds he was stingy with the household money.

Then the daughter, Mildred Sprague, 32, got a divorce from Lester's son, Herbert, 36, charging that he locked her from their home.

Steel Union Groups To Discuss Pay Demands

PITTSBURGH, July 14 (AP) — Top strategists of the CIO-United Steelworkers meet tomorrow amid reports that a wage increase by the United States Steel Corporation is imminent.

Unionists meeting tomorrow are the negotiating committee and the executive board. This group includes Philip Murray, president of the CIO and the steelworkers. It first passes on wage offers and agreements.

The executive board's reccommendations are passed on to the union's 171-man wage policy committee which meets here Friday. This committee must give final approval to any wage offers. However it never has over-ridden the executive board's reccomendations.

Ford Offers CIO Union 13-Cents-An-Hour Boost

DETROIT, July 14 (AP)—The Ford Motor Company gave the CIO-United Auto Workers what it called its "final offer" tonight—a flat 13-cents-an-hour wage increase and other non-wage benefits and the union rejected it.

The so-called fringe benefits include an improved group insurance plan, higher afternoon and night-shift pay differentals, and improved vacation provisions. The company also proposed extension of the present contract for a year beyond its scheduled expiration July 15, 1949.

Ford made its "final offer" at the first night negotiating session since bargaining started June 15.

The union's latest counter proposal demanded a flat 14-cent an hour raise and other benefits boosting the demand to a total of 28 cents.

Negotiations resumed on the eve of a huddle tomorrow of the UAW's National Ford Council called to consider the union's position and make recommendations.

Walter Reuther, UAW president, said earlier in the week that the union would feel free to call a strike if there was no agreement by Thursday.

The Ford negotiations affect workers in 46 plants in more than a score of states. Their current approximate average is $1.52 an hour.

Russia Trying To Force West Into One Of Two Acts

WASHINGTON, July 14. (AP)—Russia's refusal to end the blockade of Berlin outright was regarded by officials here tonight as evidence of an unyielding Soviet determination to try to force the western nations into one of two actions.

These are:

(1) Either to withdraw from the German capital entirely or (2) suspend their plans for unifying all Western Germany and reopen the whole question of agreement with Russia on the unification of all Germany.

American authorities who spent the day studying the note received this morning were reported to have found in it no proposal which might lead to an acceptable compromise settlement of the Berlin stalemate.

In fact, some informants said that the Soviet declaration contains no proposals at all but adds up merely to a rejection of proposals made by the Western Powers.

(The Russian reply was not made public here but Moscow broadcast it.)

The United States, Britain and France told Russia on July 6 that they would be willing to negotiate the Berlin crisis provided the blockade on rail and other communications from the west was lifted first. In reply the Soviets, while not vetoing the principle of negotiations, spurned any such requirement as a preliminary.

Some diplomatic authorities here said that (1) the Russian note leaves the situation in Berlin itself completely unchanged, and (2) it makes the problem of finding a way out of the stalemate worse because it apparently leaves no door open.

last Congress proved the Republican Party's is just the opposite.

"Confidence and security have been brought to the American people by the Democratic Party.

"Never in the world were the farmers of this country as prosperous as now and if they don't do their duty by the Democratic Party they are the most ungrateful people in the world."

Southern Group Bolts

The President won the nomination on the first ballot after one southern delegation and half of another one stormed out of the convention in rebellion against the 1948 platform endorsement of Mr. Truman's civil rights program.

Mr. Truman romped home handily in his race for the nomination. He got 947½ votes to 263 for Sen Richard Russell, of Georgia, and one half of a vote for Paul V. McNutt, former Governor of Indiana.

Russell was thrust forward as a candidate in a final gesture of defiance by Dixie rebels against the President many of them now are vowing to beat in the November election. McNutt got into the edge of the picture the same way.

Some of the southerners shouted in the convention: "Truman can't win."

How much luck he would have against Republican Thomas E. Dewey and third party contender Henry Wallace was something for all America to decide.

One rebellious southerner, Charles J. Bloch, of Georgia, shouted to fellow delegates:

"You know—and if you don't know you'll learn it now—the Democrats can't elect a President without the votes of the South."

Strong Civil Rights Stand

Northerners used their heavy voting superiority in this convention to write into the party platform only yesterday a strong and specific endorsement of Mr. Truman's civil rights stand.

But ironically for the South, and its spectacular but losing battle, it was 13 of North Carolina's 32 votes that pushed Mr. Truman beyond the 618 total he needed to win on the first ballot.

The President won, but it was by no means unanimous. While some delegates voted against him in protest, others didn't vote at all.

And the President won at the cost of a 1948 version of the Civil War.

Byrd Sims, of Florida, had nominated Paul V. McNutt, of Indiana. Sims put in one vote for McNutt, then pulled it back to toss all Florida's 20 to Russell.

Indiana handed over a ballot to McNutt and also yanked it back. But Vermont kicked in a half vote for him.

New York split, too, at first and anti-Truman forces mustered 15 of the state's 98 ballots behind James A. Roe, of Queens. But Roe got up and turned them in all for Mr. Truman.

That New York break represented the remnant of a once big northern boom for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Big city and state leaders at one time had joined the movement to draft Gen. Ike. But tonight they were lined up with Harry S. Truman.

Wyatt Praises Barkley

Convention Chairman Rayburn, of Texas, read off the final tally and slowly, solmenly said:

"Harry S. Truman having received a majority of all the votes cast, I therefore declare him to be the Democratic nominee for President of the United States."

He sealed it with a crack of his gavel.

Then came the vice presidential nominating.

Dixie tried again with Russell. George C. Wallace, of Alabama, offered his name.

Wilson W. Wyatt, who used to be mayor of Louisville and national housing administrator, put up Barkley and went into a long speech.

Wyatt said Barkley is the best man in the country to "rip the smooth, but false, veneer from the real record and the real intentions of the Republican Party."

Mr. Truman arrived from Washington to address the convention in its final hours and to fire the Democrats' first official campaign gun in the coming struggle against the Republican ticket of Govs. Thomas E. Dewey and Earl Warren.

The harsh echoes of a North-South floor fight over party principles were still resounding when the delegates gave Mr. Truman the campaign banner last held aloft for them by the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The North won the civil rights battle—persuading the convention to turn down a Dixie-sponsored states rights plank in the platform and then getting the party to go on record in favor of the civil rights laws asked by Mr. Truman and vehemently opposed in the South.

Costly Victory

But it looked like a costly victory. All of Mississippi's delegates and half of Alabama's strode out of the convention in protest, amid a roar of booing from the floor and from the galleries. Some cheers went up, too.

But choice of the Truman-Barkley ticket was boiled down to mere formality by weeks of heated pre-convention battling and three days of meetings in this steaming hall.

On the showdown, there wasn't any substantial opposition left to letting President Truman have the No. 1 spot.

Big city delegations, which were beckoning to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower last week, long since had swung into line for Truman.

As for the southerners, the question bothering party leaders was not their revolt in this convention but what may come later—what may develop out of talk of bolting the party, or refusing to support the Democratic ticket.

Southerners Walk Out

Mississippi and half the Alabama delegation stalked angrily from the Democratic convention in a southern revolt against a civil rights platform and the party's choice for President — Harry S. Truman.

And southerners who were left behind put up in opposition to the Chief Executive Sen. Richard Russell, of Georgia, and former Gov. Paul V. McNutt, of Indiana.

The President's name was put in nomination by Gov. Phil Donnelly, of Missouri, as "the man of the people."

As the bolters walked out into the rain, they left the party badly and perhaps irreparably split. Some delegates said the Democratic discord might even guarantee a Republican victory in November.

Gov. Phil Donnelly, of Missouri, put Mr. Truman's name in nomination as "the man of the people." Just as he finished, the President arrived by special train from Washington to accept the nomination that was certain in spite of all the South could do.

And for his running mate, the choice was Sen. Alben Barkley from border-state Kentucky.

Donnelly praised his fellow Missourian as "soldier, patriot, and statesman," a man "whose splendid courage never faltered, in war or in peace, and who is today leading this nation to a new and greater destiny."

And then the Truman version of bedlam broke out in this vast, superhot hall. It was bells, horns, whistles, a siren or two, band and organ, just plain whooping and hollering.

Demonstration For Russell

There had been one for Russell, too. Twenty minutes of it. The folks from Dixie struggled through the aisles, with Trumanites using huge pictures of their man as barricades.

And this is the convention the delegates and spectators had been calling dead and dreary.

At least in equipment, the Truman demonstrators outstripped the anti-Truman crowd. They trotted out a live donkey who blinked in bewilderment at an Indian doing a war dance.

Up to the platform came a five-foot liberty bell of flowers, a gift of local florists to the Chief Executive.

The flower dealers weren't taking sides. They had given Republican Thomas E. Dewey an American flag just as big.

Charles J. Bloch, vice-chairman of the Georgia delegation, put Russell in nomination as "one of Georgia's most distinguished sons."

But mostly he hit at the strong endorsement of President Truman's civil rights program which northerners jammed into the platform early today.

His hands trembling as he clasped the speaker's stand, Bloch thundered:

"You shall not crucify the South on a cross of civil rights."

Bloch said Georgia wouldn't bolt. But when the convention adjourns, he said:

"We shall be sitting there opposing the nomination of any candidate, be he the President of the United States or not, who advocates openly or tacitly such proposals as have been made here today in the platform of this party."

Planes Save Wheat From Frost Now

FAIRFIELD, Idaho—(AP)—In this rich wheat belt of Idaho, the airplane was enlisted recently to save thousands of dollars of wheat from frost—and it is doing the job. Low-flying planes laid a criss-cross pattern across the wheat fields in the pre-dawn hours, rippling the standing stalks to prevent frost from forming on the tender kernels.

Last year the Camas prairie wheat country suffered a $1,000,000 crop loss because of a late unseasonal frost. This year the ranchers were prepared. In early morning "frost" hours, the planes swept low across the prairie, cruising with flaps down and pulling plenty of power to keep the wheat waving in the wind. Within minutes after the planes had zoomed across the fields the temperature increased from two to three degrees.

Les Randolph, Boise pilot who participated in "Operation Frost", said the planes rippled the wheat, mixed the cold and warm belts of air together and raised the temperature at ground level. Earlier plans to lay a smoke screen across the fields had been discarded. Weather bureau officials at Boise said the airplane method would be most successful during brief periods of frost danger. They said smudging seems still to be the best method of fighting a frost that sets in shortly after midnight and continues until well past sun-up

Two Persons Injured In Speedboat Blast

MAYO, Md., July 14 (AP) — Two persons were injured late today when an 18-foot speedboat blew up at its pier on Cadle Creek, police said.

Dorothy Gabler, 28, Chevy Chase, Md., received first and second degree burns of the legs and body, police said.

William Dugan, 30, Alexandria, Va., was also injured, but the extent of his burns was not known.

MANACLED-- Police Officer Joe LaMonica is shown questioning two small boys found with a younger brother in downtown Los Angeles yesterday with their legs manacled together by a pair of handcuffs (arrow). Their father, Samuel McPhail, an employe of a private detective agency, was booked on suspicion of child neglect. The children are Patrick, 1½; Robert (pointing), 4, and Samuel, Jr., 5.

Insecure Track Blamed For B. And O. Train Wreck

BALTIMORE, July 14—(AP)—Insecure track was blamed today for the wreck of the Baltimore and Ohio's Diplomat at Laurel, Md., June 10, and the railroad announced it had fired those responsible.

A Pullman porter was killed when the last four cars of the St. Louis to New York limited snapped off the train as it took a curve past Laurel race track. Some 50 persons were injured, only one or two of them seriously.

The Interstate Commerce Commission reported in Washington today that the wreck was caused by the "insecure condition of the track."

Parents, Teachers Hear Citizenship Leader

COLLEGE PARK, Md., July 14 (AP)—Dr. Ralph McDonald, Washington, today told the summer conference of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers, "It is impossible to be a good citizen of the United States without being a good citizen of the world."

About 190 delegates from 21 counties are registered for the three-day session on the University of Maryland campus.

McDonald is world citizenship chairman of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

order to the Jews and Arabs to stop fighting within three days. Failure to comply would open the way for invoking diplomatic and economic sanctions or even the use of international military force. He also agreed to an immediate cease-fire in Jerusalem.

Gromyko's Argument

Basing his argument on the contention that the United Nations Assembly's decision to partition the Holy Land into independent Jewish and Arab nations is in full effect, Gromyko said Bernadotte's mediation efforts had ignored this verdict and there was no need for further attempts at mediation.

United States Deputy Delegate Philip C. Jessup told reporters he is studying the developments. He said the United States might make some changes in wording but would not agree to dropping Bernadotte. It was Jessup's view that the Swedish Count was named by the General Assembly and that the council, even if it wanted to, could not eliminate him from the picture.

Husband's Action Spares Aerialist Serious Injury

AURORA, Ill., July 14 (AP)—A pretty young woman aerialist was spared serious injury tonight when her husband broke her 50-foot fall from a circus high wire.

Mrs. Ruth Nelson, 22, Mt. Clemens, Mich., was treated for shock in the Cole Brothers Circus first-aid tent, where it was found her husband, Paul, broke his nose in intercepting her drop. A physician said Mrs. Nelson did not have any broken bones.

Nelson and several other circus performers dashed to a spot below the high wire when Mrs. Nelson toppled off. She fell with full force on top of her husband.

Eels usually remain hidden during the day and feed at night on animal food.

19 Get Year In Prison In Md. Gambling Case

ELLICOTT CITY, Md., July 14 (AP) — Nineteen men were given the maximum sentence of a year in prison when they were convicted today of running a "big time" gambling casino on Washington-Baltimore Boulevard.

Judge James Clark acquitted two more of those rounded up when Maryland State Police pulled a surprise raid on Rocway Towers June 5.

The roadhouse is about a mile north of Laurel, in Howard County.

In asking for the maximum penalties, State Attorney Daniel M. Murray, Jr., said the doings at Rocway Towers involved murder.

He referred to the slaying last winter of Hunter Lewis, a small-time Baltimore hoodlum. Two Baltimore News-Post reporters found his body March 10, almost a month after Lewis was reported missing by his relatives.

It was in a thicket just off Whisky Bottom Road near Laurel, not far from the roadhouse.

Wilson W. Wyatt, who used to be mayor of Louisville and national housing administrator, put up Barkley and went into a long speech.

Wyatt said Barkley is the best man in the country to "rip the smooth, but false, veneer from the real record and the real intentions of the Republican Party."

Mr. Truman arrived from Washington to address the convention in its final hours and to fire the Democrats' first official campaign gun in the coming struggle against the Republican ticket of Govs. Thomas E. Dewey and Earl Warren.

The harsh echoes of a North-South floor fight over party principles were still resounding when the delegates gave Mr. Truman the campaign banner last held aloft for them by the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The North won the civil rights battle—persuading the convention to turn down a Dixie-sponsored states rights plank in the platform and then getting the party to go on record in favor of the civil rights laws asked by Mr. Truman and vehemently opposed in the South.

Costly Victory

But it looked like a costly victory. All of Mississippi's delegates and half of Alabama's strode out of the convention in protest, amid a roar of booing from the floor and from the galleries. Some cheers went up, too.

But choice of the Truman-Barkley ticket was boiled down to mere formality by weeks of heated pre-convention battling and three days of meetings in this steaming hall.

On the showdown, there wasn't any substantial opposition left to letting President Truman have the No. 1 spot.

Big city delegations, which were beckoning to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower last week, long since had swung into line for Truman.

As for the southerners, the question bothering party leaders was not their revolt in this convention but what may come later—what may develop out of talk of bolting the party, or refusing to support the Democratic ticket.

Southerners Walk Out

Mississippi and half the Alabama delegation stalked angrily from the Democratic convention in a southern revolt against a civil rights platform and the party's choice for President — Harry S. Truman.

And southerners who were left behind put up in opposition to the Chief Executive Sen. Richard Russell, of Georgia, and former Gov. Paul V. McNutt, of Indiana.

The President's name was put in nomination by Gov. Phil Donnelly, of Missouri, as "the man of the people."

As the bolters walked out into the rain, they left the party badly and perhaps irreparably split. Some delegates said the Democratic discord might even guarantee a Republican victory in November.

Gov. Phil Donnelly, of Missouri, put Mr. Truman's name in nomination as "the man of the people." Just as he finished, the President arrived by special train from Washington to accept the nomination that was certain in spite of all the South could do.

And for his running mate, the choice was Sen. Alben Barkley from border-state Kentucky.

Donnelly praised his fellow Missourian as "soldier, patriot, and statesman," a man "whose splendid courage never faltered, in war or in peace, and who is today leading this nation to a new and greater destiny."

And then the Truman version of bedlam broke out in this vast, superhot hall. It was bells, horns, whistles, a siren or two, band and organ, just plain whooping and hollering.

Demonstration For Russell

There had been one for Russell, too. Twenty minutes of it. The folks from Dixie struggled through the aisles, with Trumanites using huge pictures of their man as barricades.

And this is the convention the delegates and spectators had been calling dead and dreary.

At least in equipment, the Truman demonstrators outstripped the anti-Truman crowd. They trotted out a live donkey who blinked in bewilderment at an Indian doing a war dance.

Up to the platform came a five-foot liberty bell of flowers, a gift of local florists to the Chief Executive.

The flower dealers weren't taking sides. They had given Republican Thomas E. Dewey an American flag just as big.

Charles J. Bloch, vice-chairman of the Georgia delegation, put Russell in nomination as "one of Georgia's most distinguished sons."

But mostly he hit at the strong endorsement of President Truman's civil rights program which northerners jammed into the platform early today.

His hands trembling as he clasped the speaker's stand, Bloch thundered:

"You shall not crucify the South on a cross of civil rights."

Bloch said Georgia wouldn't bolt. But when the convention adjourns, he said:

"We shall be sitting there opposing the nomination of any candidate, be he the President of the United States or not, who advocates openly or tacitly such proposals as have been made here today in the platform of this party."

Planes Save Wheat From Frost Now

FAIRFIELD, Idaho—(AP)—In this rich wheat belt of Idaho, the airplane was enlisted recently to save thousands of dollars of wheat from frost—and it is doing the job. Low-flying planes laid a criss-cross pattern across the wheat fields in the pre-dawn hours, rippling the standing stalks to prevent frost from forming on the tender kernels.

Last year the Camas prairie wheat country suffered a $1,000,000 crop loss because of a late unseasonal frost. This year the ranchers were prepared. In early morning "frost" hours, the planes swept low across the prairie, cruising with flaps down and pulling plenty of power to keep the wheat waving in the wind. Within minutes after the planes had zoomed across the fields the temperature increased from two to three degrees.

Les Randolph, Boise pilot who participated in "Operation Frost", said the planes rippled the wheat, mixed the cold and warm belts of air together and raised the temperature at ground level. Earlier plans to lay a smoke screen across the fields had been discarded. Weather bureau officials at Boise said the airplane method would be most successful during brief periods of frost danger. They said smudging seems still to be the best method of fighting a frost that sets in shortly after midnight and continues until well past sun-up

Two Persons Injured In Speedboat Blast

MAYO, Md., July 14 (AP) — Two persons were injured late today when an 18-foot speedboat blew up at its pier on Cadle Creek, police said.

Dorothy Gabler, 28, Chevy Chase, Md., received first and second degree burns of the legs and body, police said.

William Dugan, 30, Alexandria, Va., was also injured, but the extent of his burns was not known.

MANACLED-- Police Officer Joe LaMonica is shown questioning two small boys found with a younger brother in downtown Los Angeles yesterday with their legs manacled together by a pair of handcuffs (arrow). Their father, Samuel McPhail, an employe of a private detective agency, was booked on suspicion of child neglect. The children are Patrick, 1½; Robert (pointing), 4, and Samuel, Jr., 5.

Insecure Track Blamed For B. And O. Train Wreck

BALTIMORE, July 14—(AP)—Insecure track was blamed today for the wreck of the Baltimore and Ohio's Diplomat at Laurel, Md., June 10, and the railroad announced it had fired those responsible.

A Pullman porter was killed when the last four cars of the St. Louis to New York limited snapped off the train as it took a curve past Laurel race track. Some 50 persons were injured, only one or two of them seriously.

The Interstate Commerce Commission reported in Washington today that the wreck was caused by the "insecure condition of the track."

Parents, Teachers Hear Citizenship Leader

COLLEGE PARK, Md., July 14 (AP)—Dr. Ralph McDonald, Washington, today told the summer conference of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers, "It is impossible to be a good citizen of the United States without being a good citizen of the world."

About 190 delegates from 21 counties are registered for the three-day session on the University of Maryland campus.

McDonald is world citizenship chairman of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Veterans' Reunion

FORT MEADE, Md., July 14 (AP)—Veterans of the 24th Infantry Division will hold their first convention and reunion in Baltimore, August 13-14, Second Army headquarters announced today.

order to the Jews and Arabs to stop fighting within three days. Failure to comply would open the way for invoking diplomatic and economic sanctions or even the use of international military force. He also agreed to an immediate cease-fire in Jerusalem.

Gromyko's Argument

Basing his argument on the contention that the United Nations Assembly's decision to partition the Holy Land into independent Jewish and Arab nations is in full effect, Gromyko said Bernadotte's mediation efforts had ignored this verdict and there was no need for further attempts at mediation.

United States Deputy Delegate Philip C. Jessup told reporters he is studying the developments. He said the United States might make some changes in wording but would not agree to dropping Bernadotte. It was Jessup's view that the Swedish Count was named by the General Assembly and that the council, even if it wanted to, could not eliminate him from the picture.

Husband's Action Spares Aerialist Serious Injury

AURORA, Ill., July 14 (AP)—A pretty young woman aerialist was spared serious injury tonight when her husband broke her 50-foot fall from a circus high wire.

Mrs. Ruth Nelson, 22, Mt. Clemens, Mich., was treated for shock in the Cole Brothers Circus first-aid tent, where it was found her husband, Paul, broke his nose in intercepting her drop. A physician said Mrs. Nelson did not have any broken bones.

Nelson and several other circus performers dashed to a spot below the high wire when Mrs. Nelson toppled off. She fell with full force on top of her husband.

Eels usually remain hidden during the day and feed at night on animal food.

19 Get Year In Prison In Md. Gambling Case

ELLICOTT CITY, Md., July 14 (AP) — Nineteen men were given the maximum sentence of a year in prison when they were convicted today of running a "big time" gambling casino on Washington-Baltimore Boulevard.

Judge James Clark acquitted two more of those rounded up when Maryland State Police pulled a surprise raid on Rocway Towers June 5.

The roadhouse is about a mile north of Laurel, in Howard County.

In asking for the maximum penalties, State Attorney Daniel M. Murray, Jr., said the doings at Rocway Towers involved murder.

He referred to the slaying last winter of Hunter Lewis, a small-time Baltimore hoodlum. Two Baltimore News-Post reporters found his body March 10, almost a month after Lewis was reported missing by his relatives.

It was in a thicket just off Whisky Bottom Road near Laurel, not far from the roadhouse.

County Commissioners And Mobile Library System

Refusal by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to approve a resolution authorizing the appointment of a board of trustees for the purpose of establishing, administering and governing the Allegany county mobile library service, until authority is vested in the county to name that board, will be generously supported by the people of the county.

Under the statewide legislative measure providing for the establishment of county mobile libraries, the county is divested of the right to name the trustees and of having any say as to how the $23,758 it is required to appropriate shall be spent. It is just another step toward centralization of government, a thing the people have long, long ago grown tired of.

Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., chairman of the Allegany county delegation to the Maryland General Assembly, who presented the resolution to the County Commissioners this week, told the county governing board that the Allegany county delegates had been unsuccessful in their efforts to have the county exempted from the measure giving the State Administration control over the promotion and operation of the libraries.

Mr. Whitworth has promised to renew efforts to have Allegany county removed from the statewide measure and to seek enactment of a bill giving the county the authority it is entitled to over its mobile library system. At the same time, Mr. Whitworth told the County Commissioners he very much doubts that State Administration forces would agree to such a proposal.

There is no question but that a mobile library system would prove a most beneficial addition to the services already rendered by the county, but it is not of such tremendous importance that its start cannot be delayed pending the new attempt to have authority over it placed in the hands of the county. Failing in this, the County Commissioners need not retreat from the stand they have taken.

Barkley Succeeded In Reviving The Delegates

Senator Barkley's fiery keynote address to the Democratic National Convention succeeded in dispelling some of the gloom and apathy which had enveloped the political gathering from its beginning, but it will hardly succeed in electing the Democratic ticket next November. And Senator Barkley is politically wise enough to realize this for at no time during his more-than-an-hour-long address did even indicate that he believed this were possible.

It was a good political speech—the very kind the delegates were hoping for. His gibes at the Republican Congress, at the GOP platform and his all-out lambasting of the opposition had the result of bringing his listeners in Convention Hall to their feet in a cheering mass. At the end the delegates from his home state of Kentucky staged a demonstration of such proportions as to make him the logical nominee for vice president, if he would accept. That demonstration put President Truman on notice that he must accept the Kentucky senator as his running mate whether or not he wanted to. Taking cognizance of this, President Truman has, reluctantly, no doubt, said he would be very happy to have Sen. Barkley on the ticket with him.

Barkley did not spare the verbal whip in dealing with the 80th Congress and Governor Dewey, the Republican nominee for the presidency. He attempted to defend his Party's record over sixteen years and was very successful—from a partisan point of view, that is. He criticized Gov. Dewey's promise to clean out Communists when he takes over the reins of government. Senator Barkley went so far as to predict that a Republican victory would jeopardize efforts to curb Communism and preserve the peace. Of course that is plain nonsense. Wasn't it the Democratic regime which brought the Commies and their fellow travelers into the government? And wasn't it the leaders of that Party who made the bad deals at Yalta and Potsdam which have jeopardized the peace? It is going to take a President of the Dewey calibre to undo those things and bring order out of chaos.

The Democrats are still looking backward. The Republican nominees are looking forward.

Senator Barkley cited a record of 'unparalleled achievement." He pointed to economic recovery, banking reforms, reduction in mortgage foreclosures, TVA and electrification, reciprocal trade and the successful conclusion of World War II. He overlooked the fact that American free enterprise has been responsible for much of the progress we have seen.

In his successful endeavor to put the fire of enthusiasm under the delegates, he made one blunder that removed much of the confidence many might have placed in his summation and the record of his Party. He stated that the Republican convention was boss-ridden and that Senator Grundy had been the power behind the choice of Dewey as the nominee. If ever a national political convention was free of bossism, it was the Republican gathering. The battle for the nomination was a free and open battle. Gov. Dewey was the choice of the delegates in a free and open fight and he will carry that freedom of action into the White House.

Spare the Whip?

A New York judge was furious as he bound over for grand jury action a father who had whipped his 16-year-old daughter and raised great welts on her back. Most persons share the judge's feelings.

The father was smug about it. He said he had to keep his child "morally and mentally straight," didn't he?

There are better ways of doing that. No whip ever made a brain work better or raised an IQ by a single percentage point. Whips are applied to an altogether different part of the anatamy.

There is no evidence, either, that whips improve morality. Fear of punishment may sometimes affect outward behavior, but when fear is substituted for sound standards, delinquency is likely to result when the child grows up and the whip is laid away.

Brutal whippings, by arousing sullen resentment, are likely to nip in the bud the inner standards on which all real virtue is based. Here, as frequently happens, the scientific findings of psychology and psychiatry confirm man's inuitive dislike of brutality.

Federal tax collections are the highest on record, imposing a great burden on the Washington bureaus in trying to spend all of it.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Shaking Palsy

Many older persons develop shaking of the hands and head and, in some instances, the symptom is due to Parkinson's disease (paralysis agitans). This disorder is often a serious handicap especially in business, an ironical situation because the afflicted individual remains mentally alert and otherwise healthy. Medical science has never found a cure but can offer various measures to keep the malady under control.

Dr. Van Dellen

The onset is so insidious that few realize when it begins. As it progresses, the unhappy truth is ultimately recognized on the appearance of the three cardinal features: tremor, slowness of movement, and a set facial expression.

The fingers of one hand or the other are affected at first. The thumb and index finger seem to beat against each other, as if rolling a pellet. This characteristic maneuver is usually described as a "pill-rolling movement." It is generally worse on resting after a period of excitement. In time, however, trembling becomes more constant and may extend to the hands, wrists, ankles, and knees. When this occurs, there is difficulty in writing, eating, and dressing. While quiet and relaxed, shaking is more obvious but on moving about it is somewhat camouflaged by the other movements.

Meanwhile, the muscles become stiff, hindering freedom of action. The sufferer has trouble rising from a chair and although walking is possible, it is hard to get started. The muscles do not lose their strength but are less efficient because they are rigid. This is most noticeable in the face. Our expression depends upon the movements of certain muscles and when these structures are no longer able to contract, a masklike appearance ensues. Victims of Parkinson's seem to stare, and show no emotional response to conversation, joy, or sorrow.

Many do well in spite of the infirmity. Much depends upon the occupation and some have been known to work for 20 years after the diagnosis was made. It is much better to continue the occupation provided it is not too strenuous. Relaxation is difficult but a considerable degree can be obtained through massage and electrical treatment. The use of such drugs as hyoscine, stramonium, hyoscyamine, and atropine is helpful. These preparations are not perfect and sometimes have unpleasant side reactions but when prescribed properly, often control symptoms. An operation is available but is recommended only in severe cases.

Repeated studies have shown that most sufferers have a characteristic personality which manifests itself long before the disturbance is recognized. They have an urge toward action, making them extremely industrious; and a striving toward independence, authority, and success. According to Booth, if the Parkinsonian understands this, he need not be ashamed of his disease because it represents the results of heroic efforts to carry out his good intentions to the last degree. In this respect, it is as honorable as a wound received in action. When treatment leads to improvement, many make the mistake of returning to their ambitious programs instead of trying to live a less competitive existence.

Skin T.B. Test

E. S. writes: When a 16 year old child has a patch test for tuberculosis, and it comes out positive, does this mean that the youngster actually has tuberculosis?

Reply

Not necessarily; in the majority of instances, it indicates that the young person had a primary attack earlier in life. Healing of the lesion occurred and the positive reaction remains as telltale evidence. X-ray should be taken, however, because occasionally the disease remains and the youngster is cranky and active.

Pink Disease

E. A. writes: What is acrodynia?

Reply

An obscure disease of infants, characterized by redness of the hands and feet. Sweating is profuse upset. Several months or years may elapse before recovery occurs.

Good For You

M.D.W. writes: I am 61 years old, with a blood pressure of 108. Is this too low for health?

Reply

Not at all.

NO COMPARISON

Mrs. K. writes: A friend of mine recently had an electrocardiogram taken and the report was "a flickering heart." Does this indicate that the heart will soon go out like a flickering candle?

Reply

No. I am unfamiliar with the term which, to my knowledge, does not appear in any textbooks on electrocardiography. The terms "auricular fibrillation" or "flutter" are used but they are not comparable to a flickering candle. Your friend should ask the physician who interpreted the chart to explain just what this means.

APOPLEXY

Mrs. H. writes: My husband had a stroke several months ago. It was not very bad and he was not bedfast but he still has a lot of numbness. Can you offer any helpful advice?

Reply

Vitamin B may help as well as physiotherapy-heat, massage, and muscle training by one trained in this work. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on apoplexy.

THE RUSH FOR THE VICE PRESIDENCY

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

First Democratic Convention In 16 Years Without Roosevelt; No Other Man Worked Harder For Labor Than Sen. Pepper; CIO Apathetic Over Him

Says DREW PEARSON

PHILADELPHIA, July 14 — Thoughts on watching a Democratic Convention — The Exercycle girl in the store window on Chestnut Street is still pedaling her exercise machine up and down. She's been doing it ever since the Republican Convention and she doesn't get tired . . . Sam Rayburn, Senator Barkley et al are still extolling the virtues of Franklin Roosevelt. The Exercycle girl is mechanized, but Rayburn, Barkley et al aren't. However, they don't get tired either . . . Roosevelt is gone now. It's the first convention without him in sixteen years, but they keep talking about him . . . Talking but not necessarily doing . . . Truman talks about him; Van Heflin talks about him, Congressman Mike Kerwin talks about him. But the real fact is that, despite the talk, the Roosevelt family isn't in tune with Truman and never will be. Jimmy Roosevelt did his best for Eisenhower. So did Elliott, and, for a time, so did Franklin, Jr. Mrs. Roosevelt is sour on Truman, but has been too polite to say so . . . In brief, this is the end—the end of the Roosevelt era, the winning era for the Democrats. They still make speeches about him, and in their hearts they know they can't win without him.

Eisenhower's old mess sergeant, Marty Snyder, out in front of the Bellevue-Stratford yelling for his hero. His sound truck could be heard a block away. Sounded like the sound truck that kept parading the streets of Philadelphia for Bob Taft—right up to the last Republican ballot . . . Democratic Conventions are usually more fun than Republican. They shout more, thump you on the back harder, sing louder. You notice it then they sing The Star-Spangled Banner. The Republicans move their lips. The Democrats fill up their chests and put some oomph in it . . . Finally, the Dems fight more . . . In other words, they're individualists — hard-singing, hard-drinking, hard-fighting individualists. And it takes a big man, a tough man, to ride herd on them.

Contrasts between 1944 and 1948 —Most famous phrase of the 1944 campaign was "Clear it with Sidney," which made Jimmy Byrnes so boiling mad. The phrase came from Roosevelt's alleged remark when Jimmy wanted to be his vice-presidential running mate and Roosevelt is supposed to have advised him to clear it with Sidney Hillman, then head of the CIO-PAC . . . Byrnes didn't clear it, and was not nominated, which was a tragedy because the country would have been immeasurably better off . . . Today Jimmy is down in South Carolina, where he has a new farm with a lot of trees to clear away; Sidney Hillman is dead; and labor, which once played such a role at Democratic Conventions, doesn't seem to be around any more . . . Phil Murray is sitting it out at Pittsburgh, apparently waiting for divine guidance. Dan Tobin, who for years helped write Democratic platforms, this year refused to be a delegate. . . Long-range observers around the Convention lobbies will tell you that labor has a lot to learn—when it comes to politics. No man ever went down the line harder for labor than Sen. Claude Pepper of Florida, yet the CIO sat on the sidelines listlessly watching his campaign . . . Other Senators may remember that listlessness next time labor needs a friend on the Senate floor.

There's Chip Robert of Georgia over there in the lobby of the Warwick Hotel, just back from Singapore from where he air-expressed a snake to his wife Evie. Evie used to fancy herself a snake-charmer. Now she charms Democrats. By the time the snake arrived in Washington, however, and had a chance to be charmed by Evie it was almost dead. Air-sickness . . . Says Chip. "If you have any dangerous snakes around give 'em an airplane ride. It's the best way to kill them." . . . . Chip looks healthier now that he doesn't have to raise money for the Democrats. (He used to be Democratic treasurer.) So does George Killion, who succeeded him. George is now head of the American President Steamship Lines and says there's nothing like a trip across the Pacific for a summer's vacation . . . Money raising for the coming Truman campaign is going to be tough. Mrs. Perle Mesta, the Oklahoma oil heiress who throws those big parties for the Truman's, is counted on for a big slice of dough. So are Secretary of Defense Forrestal and Ambassador Averell Harriman. They're supposed to ante up half a million, and if they don't come through it'll be bad, for almost nobody else will.

Everybody loves Senator "Dear Alben" Barkley—except Harry Truman. And it's mutual. The White House let it be known it wasn't enthusiastic about a 70-year old man as running mate and, naturally, when this got back to Alben, he was miffed . . . By this time, however, the press already had his keynote speech praising Truman so he had to go through with it . . . Most vigorous opponents of able Senator Joe O'Mahoney to be Vice President were Ed Flynn and Howard McGrath, his co-religionists on the Democratic National Committee. If a Catholic runs and gets defeated, they argue, it will be difficult to get another Catholic nominated for years . . . No one really wanted to run with Truman . . . . . Clark Clifford and Tommy Corcoran got the blame for tipping off Mr. T. that Justice Douglas would take the V-P spot, which was why Mr. T. called Douglas direct—all to no avail.

The headlines from Berlin are nearly shoved off the first page by convention news . . . That mess sergeant of Ike's out in the street talking about the importance of leadership. He's so right. And the big crowds around him daily, listening. He's just a mess sergeant—with brass lungs. But he makes sense . . . Eisenhower urged Congress to pass the draft act—first peacetime draft in history—partly because of the psychological effect on Russia. The Russians respect force . . . Equally important is the psychological effect on Russia of strong leadership. Eisenhower is a strong leader. So says Ike's ex-mess sergeant . . . The folks in the street listen. Once a Democratic bigwig tried to chase him off, but Sergeant Snyder was too smart. He flashed a police permit.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

PHILADELPHIA, July 14 — You may believe it or you may not but the most unpopular citizen of the United States in the area within half a mile of the Bellevue-Stratford hotel is General-President Dwight Eisenhower, our otherwise No. 1 national hero.

At the risk of never getting an athletic scholarship to Columbia, and also at the risk of peeling potatoes throughout the first atomic war, I plan to take a small punch at Ike the very next time I see this wonderful man.

I hope I land the first one, and not because the Gen. is in good shape—as his recent pictures indicate. I just hope I land without going through the ordeal of any blood-letting because I have already suffered enough from him, by remote control.

All of this will come as something of a surprise to the good general, and let's hope he takes no offense. He has become the No. 1 menace in our set in Philadelphia because of his former mess sergeant, Marty Snyder, who runs a nice chop-house in New York and is convinced that this country will be no place to live in if he does not single - handedly put Eisenhower across.

Marty may be running out of conventions—in fact, he has been asked by the bulls to leave this one. He has only the Wallace show and the "let's-put-a-vegetarian-in-the-White-House-party" to go. But he is not running out of wind, nor are the loudspeakers which he has mounted on a reconverted jeep which constitutes Eisenhower headquarters.

In the durability league we must also look into the matter of Marty's phonograph record, entitled "We Want Eisenhower For President."

I don't know how long the lyrics or tune will last, but that platter is made of some stuff which should be brought to the attention of Secretary of Defense Forrestal. If we can get enough of it to erect around Fort Knox and the hearthsides of the good American people, no enemy on earth can ever bust through our barricades. Not even with M (for Moscow) bombs.

Sgt. Snyder was something of a novelty during the Republican convention. His man had never been mentioned much as a fellow on the G O P team, so the people gathered around and listened to the five million decibel voice and phonograph record of the former spam mangler and thought it was all very cute, as he obliquely heckled the Messrs. Dewey, Warren, Taft, Stassen, Martin, Barton, Fish, Vandenberg and MacArthur.

But now the war-time purveyor of powdered eggs and brussel sprouts has become a pest infinitely beyond description, and he has dragged his hero down to his own abysmal level. Stepping up his voltage near the end of his nuisance license, he shook the windows of tens of thousands of Philadelphians with his exhortations for Ike—undeterred by the fact that he was speaking mainly to a bunch of homeless bums and out of town gawpers who couldn't elect a dogcatcher. The delegates who stopped to hear him were long-since lined up for somebody else or had read the papers which printed the fact that Ike wouldn't touch the Democratic (or any other nomination) with a pair of insulated tongs—a flash which seems to have been overlooked by Marty.

Marty played "We Want Eisenhower For President" about 384,719 times, night and day, and in between he gave his "man who" speech. Inasmuch as he opened and closed his program with the record he delivered his "man who" speech only 384,717 times.

People who theretofore would have gladly yielded their lives, in any contest that involved theirs and Ike's, tried to change their hotel rooms just to get away from the sound of his name. The luckiest reporter at the convention was a guy who found a room in Germantown, just out of range of Marty's voice and record.

It is said that the employees of boiler factories and people who live near a busy railroad track become innured to the ear-splitting sound. I should know. I wasn't born on either the right or wrong side of the tracks in Wash, D. C. I was born on the tracks. But Marty's voice and record did not abide by those old wives' tales. You had to listen to them. They were as much a part of you as the shirt that was (and is) sticking to your body.

As an unflagging student of Marty and his man, I would like to report to the general—in the million to one chance that he was aware of this obscenity upon his name—that Marty began to run for office himself last Monday morning at 1:49 a. m. He then began to preface every sentence with the upright pronoun. He would say, "I have been here since nine ayem and I feel and I say that I will be here tomorrow and I am sure that I am on the right track, I'm sure." And I's to that effect, which came in to your room with a ruffling of the curtains and a loosening of the plaster.

I, to coin a pronoun, feel that he will be back for the remaining conventions. He's got it real bad. He no longer hears the reasoning people in his reluctant office calling for the cops or yelping at him, "Will you pipe down, you so and so." Marty got mike plague and no serum known to man will cure it.

Barkley's Principal Benefit To Ticket Is As A Campaigner

By DAVID LAWRENCE

PHILADELPHIA, July 14—Many of the delegates to the Democratic National Convention are wishing that somehow they could be voting for Senator Barkley for first instead of second place on the ticket.

Only when the Kentucky senator delivered his keynote speech did many of the delegates realize that there was a case that could be made before the American people in the debate between now and election day.

As majority leader, later minority leader of the Senate and the man who has really led the party in the legislative branch of the government for more than a decade, Senator Barkley is the logical choice for first place. But his age—71 years—and the fact that President Truman, aged 64, wants the nomination are barriers.

So this convention has already decided before the balloting begins that the ticket shall be Truman and Barkley. There is always the chance that at the last minute Mr. Barkley may decide not to run. As for White House acceptance of the Kentucky senator, this now has been cleared in a comment by Senator McGrath, Democratic national chairman.

Barkley Second Choice

Mr. Truman didn't want to be in the position of picking a vice-presidential nominee before he himself had been given the presidential nomination, so he kept discreetly silent. This led to reports that maybe he was still angling for someone else. It is an open secret however, that he personally pleaded with Justice Douglas to leave the bench and run for vice-president. So in a sense Mr. Barkley is second choice. This was no reflection on the Kentuckian, for it was natural for Mr. Truman to seek a younger man and someone identified with the young New Dealers.

Knows Legislation

Senator Barkley went down the line for President Roosevelt, accepting orders for legislation which often were not to his liking. The senator is popular on Capitol Hill with both parties and would make a good President if fate ever gives him the opportunity. He is fair-minded and experienced. Few men know national legislation as well as he does.

The principal benefit to the ticket in the immediate future is the senator's ability as a campaign speaker. He will be able to handle much of the debate and rebuttal that arise in a national campaign.

The keystone speech was, of course, partisan but the delegates wanted that kind of an address. Until they heard the Kentucky senator, they were listless and reflected a defeatism that did not argur well for the campaign. The Barkley speech stimulated the delegates as a sales manager arouses his salesmen. The importance of the speech was not so much what impression it made with listeners over the radio but the impression it made on the delegates. It gave them a ready-made textbook with chapter and verse that they could use in the campaign.

Interesting Error In Speech

There was one rather interesting error in the Barkley speech as the advance copies were given to the press.

It was corrected when the senator spoke to the convention, though many newspapers printed the advance text and did not learn about the correction. It related to the Taft - Hartley labor - management law. Mr. Barkley, in his advance text, said parts of the law already had been declared "null and void by the Supreme Court of the United States." This is not correct. The Supreme Court in the only case before it chose to dismiss a complaint as being without foundation under the law as written and chose not to pass at all on the constitutionality of the statute.

The Democrats may have been in a blue mood during the early days of the gathering here last week and this week but they are picking up on morale, and it looks as if the campaign will be hard fought after all. It certainly will not go by default so far as argument is concerned. The echoes of the Barkley speech will be heard throughout the campaign—for the very good reason that there are some good points in it on which the Republicans are plainly vulnerable.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Bloody Shirt

FOR much of its history, the Republican Party waved the "Bloody Shirt," as it was called. The Civil War was a campaign issue even as late as William McKinley and the ghost of Abaham Lincoln rode the hustlings even more recently.

Petty men were nominated for high office on the assumption that Lincoln would see them through and important issues were deluged by oratory unrelated to anything that was of recent occurrence.

The harm done to the United States is today fully calculable, for history is often slow in catching up with the stupidities of politicians. The Solid South is a Republican invention, for had the party not used the "Bloody Shirt" device to keep itself in power, the South would not have been forced to meet that challenge by reducing itself to a one party area. The intensification of racialism in both South and North and its application not only to Negroes but aliens of various types, even to the third and fourth generation, is a direct result of the desire and need for political expression of a people, who, having been defeated in war, found themselves powerless for half a century. The South came into its own with only Woodrow Wilson.

Now the Democrats are repeating this performance. They are raising the ghost of Franklin D. Roosevelt to run against Tom Dewey. They hope to bury Harry Truman in Rooseveltian ectoplasm, so that the voter will not know the present but believe in the past. In Chiina, I witnessed a similar spectacle after Sun Yat-sen died. Living he was forced to take refuge in a foreign concession; he was ridiculed and abused and his small following was without position.

But afer his death, he was elevated to the position of a god. A huge tomb was erected in his honor, before which men and women genuflected, and in every room of every school and office an many homes, a portrait of Sun was hung as though it were an ikon. The Russian did the same symbolic job on the dead Lenin.

Maybe it is good politics, but it is bad patriotism. Roosevelt remains a controversial personality, deeply adored by many; equally hated by others. His close colleagues, Harry Hopkins, Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Cordell Hull, Henry Stimson, Jim Farley have described him in their memoirs as a man capable of great untruths, of petty lying and joyful trickery. Some of his friends, who so describe him, do it with admiration, setting themselves up as protagonists of the lie as a weapon of party politics.

At any rate, if the ghost of Roosevelt is to be the candidate, we shall have to discuss closed issues with all the hatred they invoked at the time that they were living causes. We should have to discuss, for instance, in detail Teheran and Yalta as though something could be done about them and as though they were subjects for others than the historian and the moralist who are shocked by the deceptions of our President.

But what we need to do in this campaign is to go forward from where we are. The principal problem facing the American people is the conduct of our foreign policy which places upon the American taxpayer an unbearable burden; which is altering the character of our economy, keeping the government in the production and distribution of goods and placing undue limitations upon private entreprise; which forces us to maintain in peace-time our armed forces on a rising war-time basis; which places impediments in the path of American consumption of American products, while goods are more plentifully produced than ever.

Senator McGrath in a radio interview attributed the current housing shortage to the 80th Congress. That was an intellectually dishonest statement of which the Senator should be ashamed; it is not a matter of opinion but of fact.

The housing, as the automobile, the refrigerator and other shortages are due to the excessive export of essential commodities during and since the war, resulting in an out-of-price range and lacks in this country. That needs to be discussed, too. And we shall have such a debate if the ghosts of Lincoln and Roosevelt are permitted to remain quiescent.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

OUR BEGINNINGS

In youth we are a growing entity, shooting out roots of possibilities in all directions. We only dream of our objectives or destinations. We are in the "doth not appear" state. There is a liveliness to life, however, at that time.

In Amiel's Journal I came across this line: "A man only understands that of which he has already the beginnings in himself." In every one of us are these beginnings, and they are not confined to youth—but are the heritage of the years as well. Too many people seek to take hold on beginnings that are alien to them, while at the same time there are scores that are hidden within themselves, only awaiting an awakening.

Many a one remarks to himself or to others that he thinks that he is "through." No one is ever through so long as he has the will and the courage to realize that he has dozens of new beginnings to tap and develop. And, as Amiel has so well said, these beginnings are the only ones that a man understands.

It's like selecting the little group of friends that you wish to tie to for life. You may understand something about most of them, but there is usually one or two that you understand best, and so there is your selection. With so many beginnings wrapped within us, we can give many a one a trial, and tie to the one that promises to take us farthest, furnishing the richest experience to us and the most usefulness to others, or to the world in general.

Every beginning has its own hidden heart of interest and enthusiasm. It is wise to select the one that warms you most, giving to you the greatest zest and promise. We are happiest in what we do when we seem to have fulfilled our healthiest desires.

We ought to keep well acquainted with these beginnings of ours, looking them over, and perhaps putting a number of them in training! We never know when one of them might well be made to serve an emergency—or to lead us to an important triumph!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject:

County Commissioners And Mobile Library System

Refusal by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to approve a resolution authorizing the appointment of a board of trustees for the purpose of establishing, administering and governing the Allegany county mobile library service, until authority is vested in the county to name that board, will be generously supported by the people of the county.

Under the statewide legislative measure providing for the establishment of county mobile libraries, the county is divested of the right to name the trustees and of having any say as to how the $23,758 it is required to appropriate shall be spent. It is just another step toward centralization of government, a thing the people have long, long ago grown tired of.

Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., chairman of the Allegany county delegation to the Maryland General Assembly, who presented the resolution to the County Commissioners this week, told the county governing board that the Allegany county delegates had been unsuccessful in their efforts to have the county exempted from the measure giving the State Administration control over the promotion and operation of the libraries.

Mr. Whitworth has promised to renew efforts to have Allegany county removed from the statewide measure and to seek enactment of a bill giving the county the authority it is entitled to over its mobile library system. At the same time, Mr. Whitworth told the County Commissioners he very much doubts that State Administration forces would agree to such a proposal.

There is no question but that a mobile library system would prove a most beneficial addition to the services already rendered by the county, but it is not of such tremendous importance that its start cannot be delayed pending the new attempt to have authority over it placed in the hands of the county. Failing in this, the County Commissioners need not retreat from the stand they have taken.

Barkley Succeeded In Reviving The Delegates

Senator Barkley's fiery keynote address to the Democratic National Convention succeeded in dispelling some of the gloom and apathy which had enveloped the political gathering from its beginning, but it will hardly succeed in electing the Democratic ticket next November. And Senator Barkley is politically wise enough to realize this for at no time during his more-than-an-hour-long address did even indicate that he believed this were possible.

It was a good political speech—the very kind the delegates were hoping for. His gibes at the Republican Congress, at the GOP platform and his all-out lambasting of the opposition had the result of bringing his listeners in Convention Hall to their feet in a cheering mass. At the end the delegates from his home state of Kentucky staged a demonstration of such proportions as to make him the logical nominee for vice president, if he would accept. That demonstration put President Truman on notice that he must accept the Kentucky senator as his running mate whether or not he wanted to. Taking cognizance of this, President Truman has, reluctantly, no doubt, said he would be very happy to have Sen. Barkley on the ticket with him.

Barkley did not spare the verbal whip in dealing with the 80th Congress and Governor Dewey, the Republican nominee for the presidency. He attempted to defend his Party's record over sixteen years and was very successful—from a partisan point of view, that is. He criticized Gov. Dewey's promise to clean out Communists when he takes over the reins of government. Senator Barkley went so far as to predict that a Republican victory would jeopardize efforts to curb Communism and preserve the peace. Of course that is plain nonsense. Wasn't it the Democratic regime which brought the Commies and their fellow travelers into the government? And wasn't it the leaders of that Party who made the bad deals at Yalta and Potsdam which have jeopardized the peace? It is going to take a President of the Dewey calibre to undo those things and bring order out of chaos.

The Democrats are still looking backward. The Republican nominees are looking forward.

Senator Barkley cited a record of 'unparalleled achievement." He pointed to economic recovery, banking reforms, reduction in mortgage foreclosures, TVA and electrification, reciprocal trade and the successful conclusion of World War II. He overlooked the fact that American free enterprise has been responsible for much of the progress we have seen.

In his successful endeavor to put the fire of enthusiasm under the delegates, he made one blunder that removed much of the confidence many might have placed in his summation and the record of his Party. He stated that the Republican convention was boss-ridden and that Senator Grundy had been the power behind the choice of Dewey as the nominee. If ever a national political convention was free of bossism, it was the Republican gathering. The battle for the nomination was a free and open battle. Gov. Dewey was the choice of the delegates in a free and open fight and he will carry that freedom of action into the White House.

Spare the Whip?

A New York judge was furious as he bound over for grand jury action a father who had whipped his 16-year-old daughter and raised great welts on her back. Most persons share the judge's feelings.

The father was smug about it. He said he had to keep his child "morally and mentally straight," didn't he?

There are better ways of doing that. No whip ever made a brain work better or raised an IQ by a single percentage point. Whips are applied to an altogether different part of the anatamy.

There is no evidence, either, that whips improve morality. Fear of punishment may sometimes affect outward behavior, but when fear is substituted for sound standards, delinquency is likely to result when the child grows up and the whip is laid away.

Brutal whippings, by arousing sullen resentment, are likely to nip in the bud the inner standards on which all real virtue is based. Here, as frequently happens, the scientific findings of psychology and psychiatry confirm man's inuitive dislike of brutality.

Federal tax collections are the highest on record, imposing a great burden on the Washington bureaus in trying to spend all of it.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Shaking Palsy

Many older persons develop shaking of the hands and head and, in some instances, the symptom is due to Parkinson's disease (paralysis agitans). This disorder is often a serious handicap especially in business, an ironical situation because the afflicted individual remains mentally alert and otherwise healthy. Medical science has never found a cure but can offer various measures to keep the malady under control.

Dr. Van Dellen

The onset is so insidious that few realize when it begins. As it progresses, the unhappy truth is ultimately recognized on the appearance of the three cardinal features: tremor, slowness of movement, and a set facial expression.

The fingers of one hand or the other are affected at first. The thumb and index finger seem to beat against each other, as if rolling a pellet. This characteristic maneuver is usually described as a "pill-rolling movement." It is generally worse on resting after a period of excitement. In time, however, trembling becomes more constant and may extend to the hands, wrists, ankles, and knees. When this occurs, there is difficulty in writing, eating, and dressing. While quiet and relaxed, shaking is more obvious but on moving about it is somewhat camouflaged by the other movements.

Meanwhile, the muscles become stiff, hindering freedom of action. The sufferer has trouble rising from a chair and although walking is possible, it is hard to get started. The muscles do not lose their strength but are less efficient because they are rigid. This is most noticeable in the face. Our expression depends upon the movements of certain muscles and when these structures are no longer able to contract, a masklike appearance ensues. Victims of Parkinson's seem to stare, and show no emotional response to conversation, joy, or sorrow.

Many do well in spite of the infirmity. Much depends upon the occupation and some have been known to work for 20 years after the diagnosis was made. It is much better to continue the occupation provided it is not too strenuous. Relaxation is difficult but a considerable degree can be obtained through massage and electrical treatment. The use of such drugs as hyoscine, stramonium, hyoscyamine, and atropine is helpful. These preparations are not perfect and sometimes have unpleasant side reactions but when prescribed properly, often control symptoms. An operation is available but is recommended only in severe cases.

Repeated studies have shown that most sufferers have a characteristic personality which manifests itself long before the disturbance is recognized. They have an urge toward action, making them extremely industrious; and a striving toward independence, authority, and success. According to Booth, if the Parkinsonian understands this, he need not be ashamed of his disease because it represents the results of heroic efforts to carry out his good intentions to the last degree. In this respect, it is as honorable as a wound received in action. When treatment leads to improvement, many make the mistake of returning to their ambitious programs instead of trying to live a less competitive existence.

Skin T.B. Test

E. S. writes: When a 16 year old child has a patch test for tuberculosis, and it comes out positive, does this mean that the youngster actually has tuberculosis?

Reply

Not necessarily; in the majority of instances, it indicates that the young person had a primary attack earlier in life. Healing of the lesion occurred and the positive reaction remains as telltale evidence. X-ray should be taken, however, because occasionally the disease remains and the youngster is cranky and active.

Pink Disease

E. A. writes: What is acrodynia?

Reply

An obscure disease of infants, characterized by redness of the hands and feet. Sweating is profuse upset. Several months or years may elapse before recovery occurs.

Good For You

M.D.W. writes: I am 61 years old, with a blood pressure of 108. Is this too low for health?

Reply

Not at all.

NO COMPARISON

Mrs. K. writes: A friend of mine recently had an electrocardiogram taken and the report was "a flickering heart." Does this indicate that the heart will soon go out like a flickering candle?

Reply

No. I am unfamiliar with the term which, to my knowledge, does not appear in any textbooks on electrocardiography. The terms "auricular fibrillation" or "flutter" are used but they are not comparable to a flickering candle. Your friend should ask the physician who interpreted the chart to explain just what this means.

APOPLEXY

Mrs. H. writes: My husband had a stroke several months ago. It was not very bad and he was not bedfast but he still has a lot of numbness. Can you offer any helpful advice?

Reply

Vitamin B may help as well as physiotherapy-heat, massage, and muscle training by one trained in this work. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on apoplexy.

THE RUSH FOR THE VICE PRESIDENCY

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

First Democratic Convention In 16 Years Without Roosevelt; No Other Man Worked Harder For Labor Than Sen. Pepper; CIO Apathetic Over Him

Says DREW PEARSON

PHILADELPHIA, July 14 — Thoughts on watching a Democratic Convention — The Exercycle girl in the store window on Chestnut Street is still pedaling her exercise machine up and down. She's been doing it ever since the Republican Convention and she doesn't get tired . . . Sam Rayburn, Senator Barkley et al are still extolling the virtues of Franklin Roosevelt. The Exercycle girl is mechanized, but Rayburn, Barkley et al aren't. However, they don't get tired either . . . Roosevelt is gone now. It's the first convention without him in sixteen years, but they keep talking about him . . . Talking but not necessarily doing . . . Truman talks about him; Van Heflin talks about him, Congressman Mike Kerwin talks about him. But the real fact is that, despite the talk, the Roosevelt family isn't in tune with Truman and never will be. Jimmy Roosevelt did his best for Eisenhower. So did Elliott, and, for a time, so did Franklin, Jr. Mrs. Roosevelt is sour on Truman, but has been too polite to say so . . . In brief, this is the end—the end of the Roosevelt era, the winning era for the Democrats. They still make speeches about him, and in their hearts they know they can't win without him.

Eisenhower's old mess sergeant, Marty Snyder, out in front of the Bellevue-Stratford yelling for his hero. His sound truck could be heard a block away. Sounded like the sound truck that kept parading the streets of Philadelphia for Bob Taft—right up to the last Republican ballot . . . Democratic Conventions are usually more fun than Republican. They shout more, thump you on the back harder, sing louder. You notice it then they sing The Star-Spangled Banner. The Republicans move their lips. The Democrats fill up their chests and put some oomph in it . . . Finally, the Dems fight more . . . In other words, they're individualists — hard-singing, hard-drinking, hard-fighting individualists. And it takes a big man, a tough man, to ride herd on them.

Contrasts between 1944 and 1948 —Most famous phrase of the 1944 campaign was "Clear it with Sidney," which made Jimmy Byrnes so boiling mad. The phrase came from Roosevelt's alleged remark when Jimmy wanted to be his vice-presidential running mate and Roosevelt is supposed to have advised him to clear it with Sidney Hillman, then head of the CIO-PAC . . . Byrnes didn't clear it, and was not nominated, which was a tragedy because the country would have been immeasurably better off . . . Today Jimmy is down in South Carolina, where he has a new farm with a lot of trees to clear away; Sidney Hillman is dead; and labor, which once played such a role at Democratic Conventions, doesn't seem to be around any more . . . Phil Murray is sitting it out at Pittsburgh, apparently waiting for divine guidance. Dan Tobin, who for years helped write Democratic platforms, this year refused to be a delegate. . . Long-range observers around the Convention lobbies will tell you that labor has a lot to learn—when it comes to politics. No man ever went down the line harder for labor than Sen. Claude Pepper of Florida, yet the CIO sat on the sidelines listlessly watching his campaign . . . Other Senators may remember that listlessness next time labor needs a friend on the Senate floor.

There's Chip Robert of Georgia over there in the lobby of the Warwick Hotel, just back from Singapore from where he air-expressed a snake to his wife Evie. Evie used to fancy herself a snake-charmer. Now she charms Democrats. By the time the snake arrived in Washington, however, and had a chance to be charmed by Evie it was almost dead. Air-sickness . . . Says Chip. "If you have any dangerous snakes around give 'em an airplane ride. It's the best way to kill them." . . . Chip looks healthier now that he doesn't have to raise money for the Democrats. (He used to be Democratic treasurer.) So does George Killion, who succeeded him. George is now head of the American President Steamship Lines and says there's nothing like a trip across the Pacific for a summer's vacation . . . Money raising for the coming Truman campaign is going to be tough. Mrs. Perle Mesta, the Oklahoma oil heiress who throws those big parties for the Truman's, is counted on for a big slice of dough. So are Secretary of Defense Forrestal and Ambassador Averell Harriman. They're supposed to ante up half a million, and if they don't come through it'll be bad, for almost nobody else will.

Everybody loves Senator "Dear Alben" Barkley—except Harry Truman. And it's mutual. The White House let it be known it wasn't enthusiastic about a 70-year old man as running mate and, naturally, when this got back to Alben, he was miffed . . . By this time, however, the press already had his keynote speech praising Truman so he had to go through with it . . . Most vigorous opponents of able Senator Joe O'Mahoney to be Vice President were Ed Flynn and Howard McGrath, his co-religionists on the Democratic National Committee. If a Catholic runs and gets defeated, they argue, it will be difficult to get another Catholic nominated for years . . . No one really wanted to run with Truman . . . . . Clark Clifford and Tommy Corcoran got the blame for tipping off Mr. T. that Justice Douglas would take the V-P spot, which was why Mr. T. called Douglas direct—all to no avail.

The headlines from Berlin are nearly shoved off the first page by convention news . . . That mess sergeant of Ike's out in the street talking about the importance of leadership. He's so right. And the big crowds around him daily, listening. He's just a mess sergeant—with brass lungs. But he makes sense . . . Eisenhower urged Congress to pass the draft act—first peacetime draft in history—partly because of the psychological effect on Russia. The Russians respect force . . . Equally important is the psychological effect on Russia of strong leadership. Eisenhower is a strong leader. So says Ike's ex-mess sergeant . . . The folks in the street listen. Once a Democratic bigwig tried to chase him off, but Sergeant Snyder was too smart. He flashed a police permit.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

PHILADELPHIA, July 14 — You may believe it or you may not but the most unpopular citizen of the United States in the area within half a mile of the Bellevue-Stratford hotel is General-President Dwight Eisenhower, our otherwise No. 1 national hero.

At the risk of never getting an athletic scholarship to Columbia, and also at the risk of peeling potatoes throughout the first atomic war, I plan to take a small punch at Ike the very next time I see this wonderful man.

I hope I land the first one, and not because the Gen. is in good shape—as his recent pictures indicate. I just hope I land without going through the ordeal of any blood-letting because I have already suffered enough from him, by remote control.

All of this will come as something of a surprise to the good general, and let's hope he takes no offense. He has become the No. 1 menace in our set in Philadelphia because of his former mess sergeant, Marty Snyder, who runs a nice chop-house in New York and is convinced that this country will be no place to live in if he does not single - handedly put Eisenhower across.

Marty may be running out of conventions—in fact, he has been asked by the bulls to leave this one. He has only the Wallace show and the "let's-put-a-vegetarian-in-the-White-House-party" to go. But he is not running out of wind, nor are the loudspeakers which he has mounted on a reconverted jeep which constitutes Eisenhower headquarters.

In the durability league we must also look into the matter of Marty's phonograph record, entitled "We Want Eisenhower For President."

I don't know how long the lyrics or tune will last, but that platter is made of some stuff which should be brought to the attention of Secretary of Defense Forrestal. If we can get enough of it to erect around Fort Knox and the hearthsides of the good American people, no enemy on earth can ever bust through our barricades. Not even with M (for Moscow) bombs.

Sgt. Snyder was something of a novelty during the Republican convention. His man had never been mentioned much as a fellow on the G O P team, so the people gathered around and listened to the five million decibel voice and phonograph record of the former spam mangler and thought it was all very cute, as he obliquely heckled the Messrs. Dewey, Warren, Taft, Stassen, Martin, Barton, Fish, Vandenberg and MacArthur.

But now the war-time purveyor of powdered eggs and brussel sprouts has become a pest infinitely beyond description, and he has dragged his hero down to his own abysmal level. Stepping up his voltage near the end of his nuisance license, he shook the windows of tens of thousands of Philadelphians with his exhortations for Ike—undeterred by the fact that he was speaking mainly to a bunch of homeless bums and out of town gawpers who couldn't elect a dog-catcher. The delegates who stopped to hear him were long-since lined up for somebody else or had read the papers which printed the fact that Ike wouldn't touch the Democratic (or any other nomination) with a pair of insulated tongs—a flash which seems to have been overlooked by Marty.

Marty played "We Want Eisenhower For President" about 384,719 times, night and day, and in between he gave his "man who" speech. Inasmuch as he opened and closed his program with the record he delivered his "man who" speech only 384,717 times.

People who theretofore would have gladly yielded their lives, in any contest that involved theirs and Ike's, tried to change their hotel rooms just to get away from the sound of his name. The luckiest reporter at the convention was a guy who found a room in Germantown, just out of range of Marty's voice and record.

It is said that the employees of boiler factories and people who live near a busy railroad track become innured to the ear-splitting sound. I should know. I wasn't born on either the right or wrong side of the tracks in Wash, D. C. I was born on the tracks. But Marty's voice and record did not abide by those old wives' tales. You had to listen to them. They were as much a part of you as the shirt that was (and is) sticking to your body.

As an unflagging student of Marty and his man, I would like to report to the general—in the million to one chance that he was aware of this obscenity upon his name—that Marty began to run for office himself last Monday morning at 1:49 a. m. He then began to preface every sentence with the upright pronoun. He would say, "I have been here since nine ayem and I feel and I say that I will be here tomorrow and I am sure that I am on the right track, I'm sure." And I's to that effect, which came in to your room with a ruffling of the curtains and a loosening of the plaster.

I, to coin a pronoun, feel that he will be back for the remaining conventions. He's got it real bad. He no longer hears the reasoning people in his reluctant office calling for the cops or yelping at him, "Will you pipe down, you so and so." Marty got mike plague and no serum known to man will cure it.

Barkley's Principal Benefit To Ticket Is As A Campaigner

By DAVID LAWRENCE

PHILADELPHIA, July 14—Many of the delegates to the Democratic National Convention are wishing that somehow they could be voting for Senator Barkley for first instead of second place on the ticket.

Only when the Kentucky senator delivered his keynote speech did many of the delegates realize that there was a case that could be made before the American people in the debate between now and election day.

As majority leader, later minority leader of the Senate and the man who has really led the party in the legislative branch of the government for more than a decade, Senator Barkley is the logical choice for first place. But his age—71 years—and the fact that President Truman, aged 64, wants the nomination are barriers.

So this convention has already decided before the balloting begins that the ticket shall be Truman and Barkley. There is always the chance that at the last minute Mr. Barkley may decide not to run. As for White House acceptance of the Kentucky senator, this now has been cleared in a comment by Senator McGrath, Democratic national chairman.

Barkley Second Choice

Mr. Truman didn't want to be in the position of picking a vice-presidential nominee before he himself had been given the presidential nomination, so he kept discreetly silent. This led to reports that maybe he was still angling for someone else. It is an open secret however, that he personally pleaded with Justice Douglas to leave the bench and run for vice-president. So in a sense Mr. Barkley is second choice. This was no reflection on the Kentuckian, for it was natural for Mr. Truman to seek a younger man and someone identified with the young New Dealers.

Knows Legislation

Senator Barkley went down the line for President Roosevelt, accepting orders for legislation which often were not to his liking. The senator is popular on Capitol Hill with both parties and would make a good President if fate ever gives him the opportunity. He is fair-minded and experienced. Few men know national legislation as well as he does.

The principal benefit to the ticket in the immediate future is the senator's ability as a campaign speaker. He will be able to handle much of the debate and rebuttal that arise in a national campaign.

The keystone speech was, of course, partisan but the delegates wanted that kind of an address. Until they heard the Kentucky senator, they were listless and reflected a defeatism that did not argur well for the campaign. The Barkley speech stimulated the delegates as a sales manager arouses his salesmen. The importance of the speech was not so much what impression it made with listeners over the radio but the impression it made on the delegates. It gave them a ready-made textbook with chapter and verse that they could use in the campaign.

Interesting Error In Speech

There was one rather interesting error in the Barkley speech as the advance copies were given to the press.

It was corrected when the senator spoke to the convention, though many newspapers printed the advance text and did not learn about the correction. It related to the Taft-Hartley labor-management law. Mr. Barkley, in his advance text, said parts of the law already had been declared "null and void by the Supreme Court of the United States." This is not correct. The Supreme Court in the only case before it chose to dismiss a complaint as being without foundation under the law as written and chose not to pass at all on the constitutionality of the statute.

The Democrats may have been in a blue mood during the early days of the gathering here last week and this week but they are picking up on morale, and it looks as if the campaign will be hard fought after all. It certainly will not go by default so far as argument is concerned. The echoes of the Barkley speech will be heard throughout the campaign—for the very good reason that there are some good points in it on which the Republicans are plainly vulnerable.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Bloody Shirt

FOR much of its history, the Republican Party waved the "Bloody Shirt," as it was called. The Civil War was a campaign issue even as late as William McKinley and the ghost of Abaham Lincoln rode the hustlings even more recently.

Petty men were nominated for high office on the assumption that Lincoln would see them through and important issues were deluged by oratory unrelated to anything that was of recent occurrence.

The harm done to the United States is today fully calculable, for history is often slow in catching up with the stupidities of politicians. The Solid South is a Republican invention, for had the party not used the "Bloody Shirt" device to keep itself in power, the South would not have been forced to meet that challenge by reducing itself to a one party area. The intensification of racialism in both South and North and its application not only to Negroes but aliens of various types, even to the third and fourth generation, is a direct result of the desire and need for political expression of a people, who, having been defeated in war, found themselves powerless for half a century. The South came into its own with only Woodrow Wilson.

Now the Democrats are repeating this performance. They are raising the ghost of Franklin D. Roosevelt to run against Tom Dewey. They hope to bury Harry Truman in Rooseveltian ectoplasm, so that the voter will not know the present but believe in the past. In China, I witnessed a similar spectacle after Sun Yat-sen died. Living he was forced to take refuge in a foreign concession; he was ridiculed and abused and his small following was without position.

But afer his death, he was elevated to the position of a god. A huge tomb was erected in his honor, before which men and women genuflected, and in every room of every school and office an many homes, a portrait of Sun was hung as though it were an ikon. The Russian did the same symbolic job on the dead Lenin.

Maybe it is good politics, but it is bad patriotism. Roosevelt remains a controversial personality, deeply adored by many; equally hated by others. His close colleagues, Harry Hopkins, Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Cordell Hull, Henry Stimson, Jim Farley have described him in their memoirs as a man capable of great untruths, of petty lying and joyful trickery. Some of his friends, who so describe him, do it with admiration, setting themselves up as protagonists of the lie as a weapon of party politics.

At any rate, if the ghost of Roosevelt is to be the candidate, we shall have to discuss closed issues with all the hatred they invoked at the time that they were living causes. We should have to discuss, for instance, in detail Teheran and Yalta as though something could be done about them and as though they were subjects for others than the historian and the moralist who are shocked by the deceptions of our President.

But what we need to do in this campaign is to go forward from where we are. The principal problem facing the American people is the conduct of our foreign policy which places upon the American taxpayer an unbearable burden; which is altering the character of our economy, keeping the government in the production and distribution of goods and placing undue limitations upon private entreprise; which forces us to maintain in peace-time our armed forces on a rising war-time basis; which places impediments in the path of American consumption of American products, while goods are more plentifully produced than ever.

Senator McGrath in a radio interview attributed the current housing shortage to the 80th Congress. That was an intellectually dishonest statement of which the Senator should be ashamed; it is not a matter of opinion but of fact.

The housing, as the automobile, the refrigerator and other shortages are due to the excessive export of essential commodities during and since the war, resulting in an out-of-price range and lacks in this country. That needs to be discussed, too. And we shall have such a debate if the ghosts of Lincoln and Roosevelt are permitted to remain quiescent.

Today's Talk

OUR BEGINNINGS

In youth we are a growing entity, shooting out roots of possibilities in all directions. We only dream of our objectives or destinations. We are in the "doth not appear" state. There is a liveliness to life, however, at that time.

In Amiel's Journal I came across this line: "A man only understands that of which he has already the beginnings in himself." In every one of us are these beginnings, and they are not confined to youth—but are the heritage of the years as well. Too many people seek to take hold on beginnings that are alien to them, while at the same time there are scores that are hidden within themselves, only awaiting an awakening.

Many a one remarks to himself or to others that he thinks that he is "through." No one is ever through so long as he has the will and the courage to realize that he has dozens of new beginnings to tap and develop. And, as Amiel has so well said, these beginnings are the only ones that a man understands.

It's like selecting the little group of friends that you wish to tie to for life. You may understand something about most of them, but there is usually one or two that you understand best, and so there is your selection. With so many beginnings wrapped within us, we can give many a one a trial, and tie to the one that promises to take us farthest, furnishing the richest experience to us and the most usefulness to others, or to the world in general.

Every beginning has its own hidden heart of interest and enthusiasm. It is wise to select the one that warms you most, giving to you the greatest zest and promise. We are happiest in what we do when we seem to have fulfilled our healthiest desires.

We ought to keep well acquainted with these beginnings of ours, looking them over, and perhaps putting a number of them in training! We never know when one of them might well be made to serve an emergency—or to lead us to an important triumph!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject:

Nancy Berriman Is Bride Of Ensign Mark H. German

Step-Son Of Former Resident Wed In Fla.

Before a candlelighted altar banked with palms and decorated with arrangements of white gladioli, asters and roses, Miss Nancy Lee Berriman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Berriman, Tampa, Fla., became the bride of Ensign Mark Harrington German, USN, son of Mrs. James Bradley, Williams, Tampa, and Mark Haven German, New York City.

Rev. Harold B. Hoag officiated at the ceremony July 9 in St. Andrews' Episcopal Church. Mrs. Robert F. Nunez, Jr., played a program of organ music preceding and during the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a simply styled original gown of lustrous white satin. The fitted bodice, closing at the back with a row of covered buttons, was designed with moulded bodice, sweetheart neckline and long sleeves shirred at the shoulderline. The sweeping skirt, paneled to fall in straight lines in the front, terminated in a cathedral train. Her full length veil of French illusion was draped from a Juliet cap, encrusted with orange blossoms and she carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias.

Miss Katherine Berriman, sister of the bride, was her maid of honor and wore a period gown of filmy pale peach net. The fitted basque was designed with an off-shoulder effect outlined with a net bertha edged with Alencon lace and the voluminous skirt was worn over a petticoat of crinoline. She wore a bandeau of gardenias in her hair, matching her small cluster bouquet of gardenias interspersed with small blue blossoms.

Miss Lucy Ann Forgy and Miss Ann Washington, bridesmaids, wore similarly cut gowns of pompadour taffeta in pink and blue respectively. The basques were maid with high neckline and turn-over collars and the full skirts angled out from a folded peplum. They wore matching taffeta gloves and had headdress and bouquets of gardenias.

Gardner Glos served as his cousin's best man, and the party included six groomsmen.

The bridegroom, a graduate of the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, is the step-son of James Bradley Williams, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James B. Williams, this city.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Yacht Club, where the bridal motif was carried out in the decorations and tiered cake.

Gephart Carnival Planned Tonight

Gephart School's second annual carnival will be held tonight, Friday and Saturday at the Gephart School playground, 930 Frederick Street. Proceeds will be used to purchase playground equipment and skating rink.

A free show on the new stage will feature the entertainment. Samuel McNulty will serve as master of ceremonies. The program includes Rose Marie Mathews, tiny tap dancing star of many local shows; Miss Juanita Lookabaugh, Miss Cumberland; James Hager, vocalist; the Apple Sisters, hilarious blackface act; the Smith triplets and their accordians, The Harmonizers; St. Luke's Male Quartet, Delores Ferrone, singing "Manana;" the Cresaptown Ladies Quartet; Paul Marriot, pianist; and Fred Beck and Robert Barnard in a novelty act.

There also will be various games, pony rides, contests, stunts and refreshments.

Nancy Berriman Is Bride Of Ensign Mark H. German

Step-Son Of Former Resident Wed In Fla.

Before a candlelighted altar banked with palms and decorated with arrangements of white gladioli, asters and roses, Miss Nancy Lee Berriman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Berriman, Tampa, Fla., became the bride of Ensign Mark Harrington German, USN, son of Mrs. James Bradley, Williams, Tampa, and Mark Haven German, New York City.

Rev. Harold B. Hoag officiated at the ceremony July 9 in St. Andrews' Episcopal Church. Mrs. Robert F. Nunez, Jr., played a program of organ music preceding and during the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a simply styled original gown of lustrous white satin. The fitted bodice, closing at the back with a row of covered buttons, was designed with moulded bodice, sweetheart neckline and long sleeves shirred at the shoulderline. The sweeping skirt, paneled to fall in straight lines in the front, terminated in a cathedral train. Her full length veil of French illusion was draped from a Juliet cap, encrusted with orange blossoms and she carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias.

Miss Katherine Berriman, sister of the bride, was her maid of honor and wore a period gown of filmy pale peach net. The fitted basque was designed with an off-shoulder effect outlined with a net bertha edged with Alencon lace and the voluminous skirt was worn over a petticoat of crinoline. She wore a bandeau of gardenias in her hair, matching her small cluster bouquet of gardenias interspersed with small blue blossoms.

Miss Lucy Ann Forgy and Miss Ann Washington, bridesmaids, wore similarly cut gowns of pompadour taffeta in pink and blue respectively. The basques were maid with high neckline and turn-over collars and the full skirts angled out from a folded peplum. They wore matching taffeta gloves and had headdress and bouquets of gardenias.

Gardner Glos served as his cousin's best man, and the party included six groomsmen.

The bridegroom, a graduate of the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, is the step-son of James Bradley Williams, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James B. Williams, this city.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Yacht Club, where the bridal motif was carried out in the decorations and tiered cake.

Gephart Carnival Planned Tonight

Gephart School's second annual carnival will be held tonight, Friday and Saturday at the Gephart School playground, 930 Frederick Street. Proceeds will be used to purchase playground equipment and skating rink.

A free show on the new stage will feature the entertainment. Samuel McNulty will serve as master of ceremonies. The program includes Rose Marie Mathews, tiny tap dancing star of many local shows; Miss Juanita Lookabaugh, Miss Cumberland; James Hager, vocalist; the Apple Sisters, hilarious blackface act; the Smith triplets and their accordians, The Harmonizers; St. Luke's Male Quartet, Delores Ferrone, singing "Manana;" the Cresaptown Ladies Quartet; Paul Marriot, pianist; and Fred Beck and Robert Barnard in a novelty act.

There also will be various games, pony rides, contests, stunts and refreshments.

Circle 5 To Hold Lawn Picnic Aug. 13

Members of Circle 5, Women's Society of Christian Service, held their regular meeting and entertained their husbands and families at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Fletcher, Martin's Mountain, Monday night.

During the business session plans were formulated for a lawn picnic which will be held August 13 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brook Heavner, McMullen Highway.

Mrs. Virgil Ice is leader of the group and Mrs. Nina Barnett led the devotionals. For the opening service the group sang "I Am Thine O Lord" and "What A Friend We Have in Jesus." Mrs. Russell Ice read the Scripture and gave an explanation of it. Mrs. Barnett talked of the people of war devastated Europe. Mrs. Howard Perrin gave the third in the series of lessons on the "Tabernacle." In concluding the group sang "Close To Thee."

A social hour concluded the evening and refreshments were served.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Brown, Mrs. Maybelle Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dumar, Mr. and Mrs. Brook Heavner, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Judy, Mrs. Nora Fletcher, Mrs. Myrtle Lurant, Mrs. Rose Steen, Howard Perrin, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Welsh, Twilla, James and Marshall Fletcher, Jr., Lane, Juanita and Dale Heavner and James Judy.

Victor Layton Weds Miss Margaret Comer

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Margaret Comer, daughter of Mrs. Lolya Comer, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thorpe, 311 Laing Avenue, to Victor E. Layton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer J. Layton, Wiley Ford. The ceremony was performed July 10 in St. Mark's Evanbelical and Reformed Church with Rev. Carl H. Clapp officiating. Miss Mary Zimmerman and Charles Hull were the attendants.

The bride wore a white net gown with matching fingertip length veil and her attendant wore pink net.

The bride attended St. Mary's School and the bridegroom is a graduate of Ridgeley High School and is employed by the Western Union Telegraph Company.

Mrs. Like Honored

A stork shower honoring Mrs. Edward Like, city, was given by Mrs. Lester Zimmers, Ridgeley, recently. A pink and blue color scheme was carried out in the decorations and a buffet luncheon was served.

Approximately 19 guests attended.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

A Hollywood shirt maker now reveals that some stars even wear padding in their shirts to give them that masculine look. I was really shocked by that disclosure. In fact, I was so shocked that was the last time I gave that shirt maker my business.

But I really don't need padding in my shirts because I've got it . . . My solid muscle shows right through at all times . . . No matter how badly I need a hair cut.

But I'm not going to knock those glamour boys because they're good guys. In fact I know of one star who is so generous he gave me the quilt off his back. Of course Sinatra has everything padded . . . Shirt, jacket, top coat and even underwear. In fact he has to use a bookmark to find out where he begins.

The Hollywood laundries have already adjusted themselves to those new padded shirts. I saw a sign on one laundry that said "no extra charge for starching or fluffing."

The stars have their arms and shoulders padded so they'll look well for those rugged he-man rolls but that's not all . . . I know of one gent who was cast for a sophisticated intellectual part and he had his toupee padded so he would have a higher forehead.

But I know of one actor who is probably the hammiest guy alive. He admires himself so much before he goes to bed at night he puts on padded pajama tops.

Censor Board Reviews Of Telecasts Are Asked

BALTIMORE, July 14 (AP) — Attorney General Hall Hammond has been asked to decide whether television programs should be reviewed by the Maryland Board of Motion Picture Censors.

The point was raised by the Theater Owners' Association. They complained that telecasts compete for their business and many television programs are made up of movie films.

Maryland law requires that the Board of Censors review "all motion picture films or views to be sold, loaned, leased or exhibited" in the state.

Film companies are charged $2 a thousand feet for the reviewing and the fee brought $72,000 in revenue during the past year.

Police Discount Report Of Drowning In Quarry

TOWSON, Md., July 14. (AP)—Baltimore County police concluded today there was nothing to the story that 13-year-old Leroy Kilby drowned in a stone quarry near Cockeysville.

Lt. Carroll Simmons said Leroy had "a long record of disappearing from home" and there were reports he had been seen in a North Baltimore neighborhood last night.

Leroy's 15-year-old sister, Florence, told investigators yesterday that two youths in a car picked them up on a Baltimore street Sunday evening and drove to the quarry north of the city.

She said she went swimming in the quarry and her brother was gone when she got out of the water.

when Alabama was called in the roll to nominate a presidential candidate.

Sen. Lister Hill was one of the Alabamans who stayed.

He announced Alabama was yielding its alphabet-top place in the roll call to Georgia so that state could nominate Sen. Richard B. Russell to oppose Truman.

Wright Leads Mississippi

Charles J. Block, Macon, Ga., put up Russell's name.

He said Georgia delegates intended to stay in the convention until it adjourned, but would never back anyone who favors the civil rights program that President Truman advocates.

Block told the convention that when southerners demanded "states' rights" they were only asking what was guaranteed to them in the Constitution. That document, he noted, reserves to the states all powers not expressly granted to the federal government.

Gov. Fielding Wright and Sen. James O. Eastland, of Mississippi, led their delegation out of the hall. At the head of the Alabama bolters were Ellis and Eugene Conner, Birmingham police commissioner.

"Good riddance," shouted a delegate from Wisconsin to the departing delegation. "We'll win in November without you."

"The hell you will," shouted Ellis. "Harry Truman won't get $5.50 from the white people in Georgia to help his campaign."

When the bolters reached the front door of the hall some one grabbed the Mississippi banner and tore it from the pole.

It was raining outside, but that made no difference to the southerners.

"Captive" Miners

The United States Steel Corporation, which had been losing 4,000 tons of steel daily, announced its Pennsylvania mines were re-opening and normal steel production is expectable by Sunday.

W. Va. Pits Reopening

Captive pits also started re-opening in other states—West Virginia, Alabama, Kentucky, and Utah. Some shifts delayed returning until union local meetings were held.

The developments also signaled the return of commercial miners who walked out in sympathy. The dispute had idled about 80,000, of whom 54,700 were captive miners and 25,250 were commercials. The output of commercial pits is used by householders and industry in general.

Cops' Indictment Asked

BALTIMORE, July 14 (AP)—Attorney I. Duke Avnet said today he had formally requested a grand jury indictment of police who arrested 17 players in an inter-racial tennis tourney last Sunday. Avnet, defense counsel for the group, said he had asked J. Bernard Wells, state's attorney, to appear before the jury in connection with the case.

DEATHS

ARNOLD S. BENNETT

Arnold S. Bennett, 54, of 428 Walnut Street, carpenter foreman of the Wright Richardson Company, died yesterday morning in Allegany Hospital, shortly after he was admitted.

Born at Chaneysville, Pa., Mr. Bennett had resided here 20 years. His parents were the late Joseph H. and Sarah (Robinette) Bennett. He was a member of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, F. O. Eagles; Carpenter Local No. 1024, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, and Mt. Hope Christian Church.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Frances F. (Perdew) Bennett; two daughters, Mrs. Bertha Krystofiak and Mrs. Elesta Collins, Baltimore; a son, Joseph Bennett, at home; two brothers, Walter Bennett, Chaneysville, and Samuel Bennett, this city; three sisters, Mrs. David Cooper and Mrs. Spencer Riley, both of Chaneysville, and Mrs. Grayson Northcraft, Artemas, Pa., and five grandchildren. He also leaves a cousin, Miss Bertha Fetters, Pittsburgh.

Bible Class To Meet

The Dr. Kester Bible Class of LaVale Methodist Church will meet Friday at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse M. Kave, Allegany Grove.

The meeting will be held out of doors, weather permitting. Officials said important business will be transacted.

Mother's Club Has First Summer Outing

An outing and picnic supper was held by the Mother's Club as the first of its summer informal meetings. It was at the Celanese pool with husbands as guests. Tentative plans for a corn roast next month were discussed.

A fall and winter schedule will be resumed in September. Nineteen attended.

also was halted. To sustain the 2,000,000 Germans in the western sectors of Berlin, Britain and the United States began flying food, fuel and other supplies into Berlin June 26. Despite the handicaps of flying in all supplies, a United States official said this week that thanks to the air lift, Western Berlin now has food stocks on hand for four weeks.

Western Statements Challenged

The Russian note, in refusing to lift the blockade except under its own conditions, said "if necessary, the Soviet government will not object to ensuring sufficient supplies for the whole of greater Berlin by its own means."

It added that Prime Minister Stalin's government is "striving for the speediest elimination of the difficulties" that led to the blockade.

The Soviets denied any responsibility for the conditions which, they said, compelled them to begin the blockade. They said the blame rests squarely with the United States, Britain and France for violating "agreed decisions adopted by the four powers in relation to Germany and Berlin."

Maryland Votes "Nay"

PHILADELPHIA, July 14 (AP) — Maryland voted "nay" today on the two convention roll-call ballots on minority reports which proposed to spell out President Truman's civil rights program and strengthen states' rights.

The Maryland delegation received a cheer when its 20 votes were cast in the negative on the Texas states' rights issue.

The delegation, prior to the afternoon convention session, voted to support Sen. Barkley for the vice presidential nomination under its unit rule. It previously was pledged to President Truman for presidential candidate.

A strong appeal for delegates was made to cast the vote for Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., for Vice President on the first ballot, as a compliment to his leadership.

Gov. Lane, however, told the delegation he appreciated their feelings, but reiterated his previous stand on the vice presidency—that he had a duty to the state.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

A Hollywood shirt maker now reveals that some stars even wear padding in their shirts to give them that masculine look. I was really shocked by that disclosure. In fact, I was so shocked that was the last time I gave that shirt maker my business.

But I really don't need padding in my shirts because I've got it . . . My solid muscle shows right through at all times . . . No matter how badly I need a hair cut.

But I'm not going to knock those glamour boys because they're good guys. In fact I know of one star who is so generous he gave me the quilt off his back. Of course Sinatra has everything padded . . . Shirt, jacket, top coat and even underwear. In fact he has to use a bookmark to find out where he begins.

The Hollywood laundries have already adjusted themselves to those new padded shirts. I saw a sign on one laundry that said "no extra charge for starching or fluffing."

The stars have their arms and shoulders padded so they'll look well for those rugged he-man rolls but that's not all . . . I know of one gent who was cast for a sophisticated intellectual part and he had his toupee padded so he would have a higher forehead.

But I know of one actor who is probably the hammiest guy alive. He admires himself so much before he goes to bed at night he puts on padded pajama tops.

BEGINS NOVITIATE-- William Lee Edmond, the first member of his race to enter the Order of Friars Minor Capuchin in the United States, is seen studying in SS. Peter and Paul Monastery here. A native of Pittsburgh, he selected Peter Claver as his name in religion when he was invested Tuesday with the habit of the order founded centuries ago by St. Francis of Assisi. Frater Peter Claver is one of the class of 10 novices who will undergo their first year of religious training here. After leaving here, the novices will spend two years at Victoria, Kan., and four years in Washington before being ordained.

Censor Board Reviews Of Telecasts Are Asked

BALTIMORE, July 14 (AP) — Attorney General Hall Hammond has been asked to decide whether television programs should be reviewed by the Maryland Board of Motion Picture Censors.

The point was raised by the Theater Owners' Association. They complained that telecasts compete for their business and many television programs are made up of movie films.

Maryland law requires that the Board of Censors review "all motion picture films or views to be sold, loaned, leased or exhibited" in the state.

Film companies are charged $2 a thousand feet for the reviewing and the fee brought $72,000 in revenue during the past year.

Police Discount Report Of Drowning In Quarry

TOWSON, Md., July 14. (AP)—Baltimore County police concluded today there was nothing to the story that 13-year-old Leroy Kilby drowned in a stone quarry near Cockeysville.

Lt. Carroll Simmons said Leroy had "a long record of disappearing from home" and there were reports he had been seen in a North Baltimore neighborhood last night.

Leroy's 15-year-old sister, Florence, told investigators yesterday that two youths in a car picked them up on a Baltimore street Sunday evening and drove to the quarry north of the city.

She said she went swimming in the quarry and her brother was gone when she got out of the water.

when Alabama was called in the roll to nominate a presidential candidate.

Sen. Lister Hill was one of the Alabamans who stayed.

He announced Alabama was yielding its alphabet-top place in the roll call to Georgia so that state could nominate Sen. Richard B. Russell to oppose Truman.

Wright Leads Mississippi

Charles J. Block, Macon, Ga., put up Russell's name.

He said Georgia delegates intended to stay in the convention until it adjourned, but would never back anyone who favors the civil rights program that President Truman advocates.

Block told the convention that when southerners demanded "states' rights" they were only asking what was guaranteed to them in the Constitution. That document, he noted, reserves to the states all powers not expressly granted to the federal government.

Gov. Fielding Wright and Sen. James O. Eastland, of Mississippi, led their delegation out of the hall. At the head of the Alabama bolters were Ellis and Eugene Conner, Birmingham police commissioner.

"Good riddance," shouted a delegate from Wisconsin to the departing delegation. "We'll win in November without you."

"The hell you will," shouted Ellis. "Harry Truman won't get $5.50 from the white people in Georgia to help his campaign."

When the bolters reached the front door of the hall some one grabbed the Mississippi banner and tore it from the pole.

It was raining outside, but that made no difference to the southerners.

"Captive" Miners

The United States Steel Corporation, which had been losing 4,000 tons of steel daily, announced its Pennsylvania mines were re-opening and normal steel production is expectable by Sunday.

W. Va. Pits Reopening

Captive pits also started re-opening in other states—West Virginia, Alabama, Kentucky, and Utah. Some shifts delayed returning until union local meetings were held.

The developments also signaled the return of commercial miners who walked out in sympathy. The dispute had idled about 80,000, of whom 54,700 were captive miners and 25,250 were commercials. The output of commercial pits is used by householders and industry in general.

Cops' Indictment Asked

BALTIMORE, July 14 (AP)—Attorney I. Duke Avnet said today he had formally requested a grand jury indictment of police who arrested 17 players in an inter-racial tennis tourney last Sunday. Avnet, defense counsel for the group, said he had asked J. Bernard Wells, state's attorney, to appear before the jury in connection with the case.

DEATHS

ARNOLD S. BENNETT

Arnold S. Bennett, 54, of 428 Walnut Street, carpenter foreman of the Wright Richardson Company, died yesterday morning in Allegany Hospital, shortly after he was admitted.

Born at Chaneysville, Pa., Mr. Bennett had resided here 20 years. His parents were the late Joseph H. and Sarah (Robinette) Bennett. He was a member of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, F. O. Eagles; Carpenter Local No. 1024, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, and Mt. Hope Christian Church.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Frances F. (Perdew) Bennett; two daughters, Mrs. Bertha Krystofiak and Mrs. Elesta Collins, Baltimore; a son, Joseph Bennett, at home; two brothers, Walter Bennett, Chaneysville, and Samuel Bennett, this city; three sisters, Mrs. David Cooper and Mrs. Spencer Riley, both of Chaneysville, and Mrs. Grayson Northcraft, Artemas, Pa., and five grandchildren. He also leaves a cousin, Miss Bertha Fetters, Pittsburgh.

Bible Class To Meet

The Dr. Kester Bible Class of LaVale Methodist Church will meet Friday at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse M. Kave, Allegany Grove.

The meeting will be held out of doors, weather permitting. Officials said important business will be transacted.

Mother's Club Has First Summer Outing

An outing and picnic supper was held by the Mother's Club as the first of its summer informal meetings. It was at the Celanese pool with husbands as guests. Tentative plans for a corn roast next month were discussed.

A fall and winter schedule will be resumed in September. Nineteen attended.

also was halted. To sustain the 2,000,000 Germans in the western sectors of Berlin, Britain and the United States began flying food, fuel and other supplies into Berlin June 26. Despite the handicaps of flying in all supplies, a United States official said this week that thanks to the air lift, Western Berlin now has food stocks on hand for four weeks.

Western Statements Challenged

The Russian note, in refusing to lift the blockade except under its own conditions, said "if necessary, the Soviet government will not object to ensuring sufficient supplies for the whole of greater Berlin by its own means."

It added that Prime Minister Stalin's government is "striving for the speediest elimination of the difficulties" that led to the blockade.

The Soviets denied any responsibility for the conditions which, they said, compelled them to begin the blockade. They said the blame rests squarely with the United States, Britain and France for violating "agreed decisions adopted by the four powers in relation to Germany and Berlin."

This directly challenged statements in the three powers' protest notes that "Berlin is not a part of the Soviet zone, but is an international zone of occupation."

"We highly commend President Harry Truman for his courageous stand on the issue of civil rights.

"We call upon the Congress to support our President in guaranteeing these basic and fundamental American principles—the right to full and equal political participation; the right to equal opportunity of employment; the right of security of person, and the right of equal treatment in the service and defense of our nation."

Maryland Votes "Nay"

PHILADELPHIA, July 14 (AP) — Maryland voted "nay" today on the two convention roll-call ballots on minority reports which proposed to spell out President Truman's civil rights program and strengthen states' rights.

The Maryland delegation received a cheer when its 20 votes were cast in the negative on the Texas states' rights issue.

The delegation, prior to the afternoon convention session, voted to support Sen. Barkley for the vice presidential nomination under its unit rule. It previously was pledged to President Truman for presidential candidate.

A strong appeal for delegates was made to cast the vote for Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., for Vice President on the first ballot, as a compliment to his leadership.

Gov. Lane, however, told the delegation he appreciated their feelings, but reiterated his previous stand on the vice presidency—that he had a duty to the state.

7 Killed In '47 Vacation Months, Records Disclose

Allegany County's accident figures for July, August and September of last year resulted in seven persons being killed and 44 injured in 71 mishaps, a Maryland Press Association bulletin shows.

In Garrett county during the same period last year there were 13 injured and two killed in 20 accidents. Washington county had 44 injured and five killed in 102 accidents.

Official Backing

The organization of the state newspapers is sponsoring a safety campaign as a public service at the request of the National Highway Safety Council, and it has received the official endorsement of state authorities, Governor William Preston Lane having issued a proclamation calling on the people generally to more carefully observe safety precautions and fixing the dates for the campaign from July 1 to September 15.

William H. Bishop, Jr., is the official state representative on a committee which has been named to handle publicity for the campaign, with G. A. McDaniel, publisher of the Federalsburg Times, representing the newspapers on the state committee.

The study of automobile accidents for the three months of 1947 was made in order that comparable figures could be prepared from reports of accidents this year to determine the effectiveness of the effort being made by the newspapers of Maryland to reduce highway fatalities and property damage. The study will show the effectiveness of the campaign by cities and counties.

Determined Effort Needed

There were 2,173 accidents in Maryland outside of Baltimore city during July, August and September of last year, compared with 2,451 accidents in the city, but Prince Georges county alone had more fatalities than were recorded in the city for the same period. In Prince Georges county five people were killed last July, 11 in August and five in September, while in the city of Baltimore 16 deaths were reported for the same three months.

STATE POLICE HEADS-- Col. Beverly Ober (center), superintendent of Maryland State Police, yesterday visited Cumberland to conduct the annual inspection of the LaVale Barracks which is commanded by First Sgt. W. E. O'Hara (right). Lt. Charles W. Magaha, commander of Troop B, of which the LaVale barracks is part, accompanied Col. Ober here for the inspection.

Street To Be Cleared For Soap Box Derby

Greene Street will be cleared of all vehicles except business trucks at 9 a. m. Saturday for the Cumberland Soapbox Derby, scheduled at 1 p. m., according to Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn.

According to Chief Flynn, no cars will be allowed to enter Water, Greene and Smallwood Streets until after the event ends about 4 p. m. Greene Street will be roped off for spectators.

Officers will be stationed on Paca Street at the Ridgeley bridge, on Paca at Smallwood Street, Washington at Smallwood and on Washington at Greene Street to close off traffic, he said. No parking will be permitted in the area.

Chief Flynn told officers to clear traffic on Water Street from the Ridgeley bridge to Riverside Park.

Desk sergeants will assign patrolmen to streets and officers handling Greene Street will direct the crowd. All officers of the force will be on duty Saturday with Main Stem traffic operators remaining at their posts.

Lt. Raymond R. Johnston, head of the Traffic Bureau of the department, will be in charge.

Cumberland's first official Derby, sponsored by the Eller Chevrolet Company, Inc., in conjunction with the Times-News and Junior Association of Commerce, will be held on Greene Street between Smallwood and Johnson Streets.

Food Prices Hit Record High Here

Figures furnished by the Chamber of Commerce show an all time high in food prices for the city was reached the last week in June when the cost of a market basket of 15 items reached $9.31. Unofficial tabulation shows the items cost several cents more last week.

The $9.31 figures is 191 per cent higher than in 1939 when a basket of the same items cost $3.19.

Police Investigate Theft Of Wallet

City Police are still investigating a theft at the home of Harold F. Daniels, 6 Altamont Terrace, where they were called at 1:15 a. m. yesterday after a unidentified white man opened a window screen and stole a wallet from Daniels' trousers.

Daniels said the burgler, described as between 20 and 24 years old, used a long stick to lift his trousers from the back of a chair to the window sill. After removing the wallet, which contained Daniels' credentials and papers but no money, the intruder left the pants and fled.

Maryland Alumni To Hold Dinner Tomorrow

When the Allegany County Chapter of the University of Maryland Alumni Association is organized tomorrow it will mark the formation of the first such group since the alumni council was set up, according to Arthur I. Bell, Baltimore, general president.

Dr. J. Russell Cook, chairman for the local dinner meeting tomorrow at 6:30 p. m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, said a large number of reservations have been received and that nearly all schools are represented. Alumni from Frostburg, Lonaconing and Westernport as well as Cumberland plan to attend the affair.

Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent, is secretary and will receive reservations until tomorrow night.

David L. Brigham, general alumni secretary, will be here to help organize the local group. Dr. H. C. Byrd, university president, is also scheduled to attend.

District 16 Fire Company Installs

H. G. Walters, vice president of the Allegany-Garret County Volunteer Firemen's Association, installed newly elected officers of District 16, Oldtown Road Fire Company Monday night.

New officers include R. C. Brown, president; D. J. Johns, vice president; D. C. Gainor, recording secretary; Joseph A. Spooler, treasurer; William Sowers, chief; Van Malone, assistant chief; Joseph McDonald, captain; Woodrow Stafford, first lieutenant; Noah Carder, sergeant at arms, and J. O. Brehm, trustee for three years.

The executive committee includes A. J. Grabenstein, and F. E. Squires. Other officers are Grabenstein, chief engineer; "Tody" Nixon, door man; and J. C. Newcomb, chaplain.

After the meeting a supper was served by Mrs. Pauline Sowers, Mrs. Van Malone and Mrs. Noah Carder.

Car Hits Pole

A truck reportedly driven by William F. Giles, 330 Reservoir Avenue, crashed against a street light pole near the Beneman Furniture Store, 41 North Mechanic Street, yesterday morning ,according to City Police.

Tech. Sgt. John H. Newhouse, who investigated, said no charges have been preferred pending completion of an investigation.

Beer License Approved

A beer and wine license for Ronald E. Simmons and Effie E. Simmons, 120 South Mechanic Street, was approved yesterday by the Allegany County Liquor Control Board.

Stansberry Held On Disorderly Charge

Charles M. Stansberry, Jr., this city, was arrested at 11:30 a. m. yesterday and lodged in City Jail on a charge of drunk and disorderly conduct. Tech. Sgt. John H. Newhouse and Officer Joseph Stitcher made the arrest. Wayman Stansberry was listed as a witness.

Arrested on a drunk charge at 4:10 p. m. Tuesday, a man identified as Palmer Howsare, Bean's Cove, Pa., was picked up again on the same count at 5:20 a. m. yesterday.

Howsare appeared in Police Court yesterday before Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., and was fined $5 as the result of his first arrest. He received a suspended sentence on the other charge.

Two persons booked as Barbara Watts, this city, and J. B. Cooper, Washington, forfeited $10 bond each on disorderly conduct charges. They were apprehended at 3:20 a. m. yesterday.

Allen Anderson, 626 Baltimore Avenue ,and Louis Nemeth, RFD 1, Granger, Ind., are being held in City Jail for investigation.

7 Killed In '47 Vacation Months, Records Disclose

Allegany County's accident figures for July, August and September of last year resulted in seven persons being killed and 44 injured in 71 mishaps, a Maryland Press Association bulletin shows.

In Garrett county during the same period last year there were 13 injured and two killed in 20 accidents. Washington county had 44 injured and five killed in 102 accidents.

Official Backing

The organization of the state newspapers is sponsoring a safety campaign as a public service at the request of the National Highway Safety Council, and it has received the official endorsement of state authorities, Governor William Preston Lane having issued a proclamation calling on the people generally to more carefully observe safety precautions and fixing the dates for the campaign from July 1 to September 15.

William H. Bishop, Jr., is the official state representative on a committee which has been named to handle publicity for the campaign, with G. A. McDaniel, publisher of the Federalsburg Times, representing the newspapers on the state committee.

The study of automobile accidents for the three months of 1947 was made in order that comparable figures could be prepared from reports of accidents this year to determine the effectiveness of the effort being made by the newspapers of Maryland to reduce highway fatalities and property damage. The study will show the effectiveness of the campaign by cities and counties.

Determined Effort Needed

There were 2,173 accidents in Maryland outside of Baltimore city during July, August and September of last year, compared with 2,451 accidents in the city, but Prince Georges county alone had more fatalities than were recorded in the city for the same period. In Prince Georges county five people were killed last July, 11 in August and five in September, while in the city of Baltimore 16 deaths were reported for the same three months.

STATE POLICE HEADS--Col. Beverly Ober (center), superintendent of Maryland State Police, yesterday visited Cumberland to conduct the annual inspection of the LaVale Barracks which is commanded by First Sgt. W. E. O'Hara (right). Lt. Charles W. Magaha, commander of Troop B, of which the LaVale barracks is part, accompanied Col. Ober here for the inspection.

Street To Be Cleared For Soap Box Derby

Greene Street will be cleared of all vehicles except business trucks at 9 a. m. Saturday for the Cumberland Soapbox Derby, scheduled at 1 p. m., according to Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn.

According to Chief Flynn, no cars will be allowed to enter Water, Greene and Smallwood Streets until after the event ends about 4 p. m. Greene Street will be roped off for spectators.

Officers will be stationed on Paca Street at the Ridgeley bridge, on Paca at Smallwood Street, Washington at Smallwood and on Washington at Greene Street to close off traffic, he said. No parking will be permitted in the area.

Chief Flynn told officers to clear traffic on Water Street from the Ridgeley bridge to Riverside Park.

Desk sergeants will assign patrolmen to streets and officers handling Greene Street will direct the crowd. All officers of the force will be on duty Saturday with Main Stem traffic operators remaining at their posts.

Lt. Raymond R. Johnston, head of the Traffic Bureau of the department, will be in charge.

Cumberland's first official Derby, sponsored by the Eller Chevrolet Company, Inc., in conjunction with the Times-News and Junior Association of Commerce, will be held on Greene Street between Smallwood and Johnson Streets.

Food Prices Hit Record High Here

Figures furnished by the Chamber of Commerce show an all time high in food prices for the city was reached the last week in June when the cost of a market basket of 15 items reached $9.31. Unofficial tabulation shows the items cost several cents more last week.

The $9.31 figures is 191 per cent higher than in 1939 when a basket of the same items cost $3.19.

Marriage Licenses

Police Investigate Theft Of Wallet

City Police are still investigating a theft at the home of Harold F. Daniels, 6 Altamont Terrace, where they were called at 1:15 a. m. yesterday after a unidentified white man opened a window screen and stole a wallet from Daniels' trousers.

Daniels said the burgler, described as between 20 and 24 years old, used a long stick to lift his trousers from the back of a chair to the window sill. After removing the wallet, which contained Daniels' credentials and papers but no money, the intruder left the pants and fled.

Maryland Alumni To Hold Dinner Tomorrow

When the Allegany County Chapter of the University of Maryland Alumni Association is organized tomorrow it will mark the formation of the first such group since the alumni council was set up, according to Arthur I. Bell, Baltimore, general president.

Dr. J. Russell Cook, chairman for the local dinner meeting tomorrow at 6:30 p. m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, said a large number of reservations have been received and that nearly all schools are represented. Alumni from Frostburg, Lonaconing and Westernport as well as Cumberland plan to attend the affair.

Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent, is secretary and will receive reservations until tomorrow night.

David L. Brigham, general alumni secretary, will be here to help organize the local group. Dr. H. C. Byrd, university president, is also scheduled to attend.

District 16 Fire Company Installs

H. G. Walters, vice president of the Allegany-Garret County Volunteer Firemen's Association, installed newly elected officers of District 16, Oldtown Road Fire Company Monday night.

New officers include R. C. Brown, president; D. J. Johns, vice president; D. C. Gainor, recording secretary; Joseph A. Spooler, treasurer; William Sowers, chief; Van Malone, assistant chief; Joseph McDonald, captain; Woodrow Stafford, first lieutenant; Noah Carder, sergeant at arms, and J. O. Brehm, trustee for three years.

The executive committee includes A. J. Grabenstein, and F. E. Squires. Other officers are Grabenstein, chief engineer; "Tody" Nixon, door man; and J. C. Newcomb, chaplain.

After the meeting a supper was served by Mrs. Pauline Sowers, Mrs. Van Malone and Mrs. Noah Carder.

Car Hits Pole

A truck reportedly driven by William F. Giles, 330 Reservoir Avenue, crashed against a street light pole near the Beneman Furniture Store, 41 North Mechanic Street, yesterday morning ,according to City Police.

Tech. Sgt. John H. Newhouse, who investigated, said no charges have been preferred pending completion of an investigation.

Beer License Approved

A beer and wine license for Ronald E. Simmons and Effie E. Simmons, 120 South Mechanic Street, was approved yesterday by the Allegany County Liquor Control Board.

Stansberry Held On Disorderly Charge

Charles M. Stansberry, Jr., this city, was arrested at 11:30 a. m. yesterday and lodged in City Jail on a charge of drunk and disorderly conduct. Tech. Sgt. John H. Newhouse and Officer Joseph Stitcher made the arrest. Wayman Stansberry was listed as a witness.

Arrested on a drunk charge at 4 10 p. m. Tuesday, a man identified as Palmer Howsare, Bean's Cove, Pa., was picked up again on the same count at 5:20 a. m. yesterday.

Howsare appeared in Police Court yesterday before Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., and was fined $5 as the result of his first arrest. He received a suspended sentence on the other charge.

Two persons booked as Barbara Watts, this city, and J. B. Cooper, Washington, forfeited $10 bond each on disorderly conduct charges. They were apprehended at 3:20 a. m. yesterday.

Allen Anderson, 626 Baltimore Avenue ,and Louis Nemeth, RFD 1, Granger, Ind., are being held in City Jail for investigation.

Advice To The Lovelorn

This Whole Thing Sounds Like Some Sort Of "Pickup" By Mail

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 17 and have been corresponding with a boy 20 since January. He has an apartment in a large city and lives by himself. A month ago he asked me to come down to his city and said he would find a room for me in a hotel and pay all the expenses. My own judgment tells me that for a girl to go see a boy this way wouldn't be a proper thing to do, especially one she knows so little about. I wrote and told him this, and later he wrote me that he would come down to visit me during his vacation. I hardly know how to answer him because I have never met him before, nor has my family. If he comes, where shall he stay?

"PUZZLED"

Dear "Puzzled":

How does it happen that you are corresponding with a boy neither you nor your family have ever met and about whom you know absolutely nothing except whatever he may have happened to tell you in his letters? If you started this correspondence because this boy knew some friend of yours or something of that sort, it may be perfectly all right. But it sounds to me as though the whole thing was some sort of a "pick up" by mail which is something very different.

I think you had better talk this whole thing over with your parents and see how they feel about this friendship of yours. You would be very foolish to continue it without approval from them. If they feel it is a good idea for him to come and see you, they will know what arrangements for his visit would be suitable.

Many Things Wrong

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am married, but have been separated from my husband for some time. Recently I met a very nice fellow and went with him for three weeks. I learned to like him very much, and he said he felt the same, but we broke up one night after he took me home. After that I heard that he was spreading nasty rumors about me. Later we made up, and when I asked him about those rumors, he said he hadn't said anything like that, but friends of mine told me they heard him.

Now he says if I will do what he tells me, we could go together again, and I like him enough to change my way of living and do the things he would appreciate and respect in a girl. But now that I have changed, he doesn't seem to be interested.

What would you suggest I do to win back his friendship? He is 21 and I am 20. "BLONDE"

Dear "Blonde":

In the first place, if you have to change your way of living in order to win anyone's respect, then there must have been something wrong with it. Could it be possible that there might have been some basis of truth in the rumors you say this boy spread about you?

In the second place, if you are still married, why are you running around with other men so freely? This is a very poor idea indeed, no matter whether you are separated or not, and you can very easily get into all kinds of trouble doing such a thing.

And in the third place, if this chap doesn't want anything more to do with you after you have promised to behave better, I doubt if his interest was the kind that a decent man would have in a decent woman. As for winning back his friendship, I think you had far better have nothing more to do with him and, in addition, clear up your matrimonial status before going around as though you were an unmarried girl.

Now Is Time To Redecorate Child's Room

This is the ideal season to re-do your youngster's bedroom. Warm summer weather usually means outdoor play from dawn to dusk. Junior won't be using his room for anything but sleep for awhile and you'll have clear sailing in redecorating.

If his room has never adequately doubled for a playroom, you'll want to fix it so it does, now that furnishings and equipment are available again. If he has graduated from the little boy stage to a young man of 8 or 10, there'll be changes you'll want to make in the general set-up of the room.

It's always best to start with the bed. A firm, level mattress and spring, and a good pillow of just the right thickness is of first importance. Beyond that, give him the style of bed that can be placed against the wall and can double for a lounge by day. A spring and mattress on legs, durably slipcovered to take much wear and tear, serves the purpose beautifully. Or you may decide on bunk beds, which seem to have a special appeal for youngsters.

Select a wallpaper that reflects one of Junior's particular interests—a ship, plane or drum design, for example. And choose the bed slipcover and draperies of sturdy material in one of the predominant colors in the paper. If you have plain, painted walls, depend on draperies and slipcover for motif.

If you have good hardwood floors, cover them wall to wall with a durable floor covering that's designed to take a beating.

Give him a desk or worktable and as much cabinet and shelf space as possible. He'll prefer his own room to the dining room table for his model airplane factory if it's equipped properly—and life will be easier for you. Make sure the lighting's good so that the strength of his young eyes will be preserved.

A couple of extra straight-backed chairs will come in handy when his pals come in to help, advise or interfere with his latest project, and a good time will be had by all.

If possible, every child should have his own bailiwick for his own special activities. It's good for his development and his sense of responsibility. Most homes these days are not equipped with an extra room for the purpose, but there's no reason why a properly furnished bedroom can't fill the bill.

Now Is Time To Redecorate Child's Room

This is the ideal season to re-do your youngster's bedroom. Warm summer weather usually means outdoor play from dawn to dusk. Junior won't be using his room for anything but sleep for awhile and you'll have clear sailing in redecorating.

If his room has never adequately doubled for a playroom, you'll want to fix it so it does, now that furnishings and equipment are available again. If he has graduated from the little boy stage to a young man of 8 or 10, there'll be changes you'll want to make in the general set-up of the room.

It's always best to start with the bed. A firm, level mattress and spring, and a good pillow of just the right thickness is of first importance. Beyond that, give him the style of bed that can be placed against the wall and can double for a lounge by day. A spring and mattress on legs, durably slipcovered to take much wear and tear, serves the purpose beautifully. Or you may decide on bunk beds, which seem to have a special appeal for youngsters.

Select a wallpaper that reflects one of Junior's particular interests —a ship, plane or drum design, for example. And choose the bed slipcover and draperies of sturdy material in one of the predominant colors in the paper. If you have plain, painted walls, depend on draperies and slipcover for motif.

If you have good hardwood floors, cover them wall to wall with a durable floor covering that's designed to take a beating.

Give him a desk or worktable and as much cabinet and shelf space as possible. He'll prefer his own room to the dining room table for his model airplane factory if it's equipped properly—and life will be easier for you. Make sure the lighting's good so that the strength of his young eyes will be preserved.

A couple of extra straight-backed chairs will come in handy when his pals come in to help, advise or interfere with his latest project, and a good time will be had by all.

If possible, every child should have his own bailiwick for his own special activities. It's good for his development and his sense of responsibility. Most homes these days are not equipped with an extra room for the purpose, but there's no reason why a properly furnished bedroom can't fill the bill.

Good Bedding Helps Speed Convalescence

Lots of time and nothing to do but relax and sleep sounds delightful to busy people rushing around, but not to a convalescing patient. A pleasant convalescence, however, can materially aid a patient's recovery and the following suggestions will help to make him happier and more comfortable.

The bed itself must be as comfortable as possible. Most important is a good quality mattress and bedspring. Day after day spent in bed makes every little valley and lump in a wornout mattress doubly uncomfortable, but correct support for the body means more comfort and relaxation for the patient and, consequently, a faster recovery.

Sheets should be kept fresh and spotless. Bedclothes quickly become wrinkled and twisted and the patient is much refreshed if they are smoothed out and the pillows fluffed up and readjusted.

A clean and attractive room helps the patient's morale immensely. Because so much time is spent in Just looking around the room every little thing is of interest. Plants growing in attractive pottery on the window sill, flowers artistically arranged, favorite pictures or photographs hung in groups on the wall facing the bed, all help to break the monotony. If the bed can be placed near a window, watching the outside world often is absorbing.

Meals are big events in the day and attractive trays and tempting food will make them more so. A flower in a small vase, some favorite or unusual food or a novel way of serving the food are all welcome changes. Fruit juice, a dish of ice cream, or other light refreshments are equally welcome in the long stretches of the morning and afternoon or during the evening.

Entertainment can really help recovery. Radio programs provide enjoyment and amusement without exertion and new magazines, books and games also help to while away the hours. Friends should be encouraged to visit the patient, if permitted by the doctor, but the number of visitors and the length of their stay should be limited so the patient doesn't become overtired.

The doctor's orders should be followed exactly. It is most important that the patient eats what he should, takes whatever medication has been prescribed and abides by any restrictions set by the doctor. Allowing him to do otherwise is false kindness and laxity will only delay and prolong recovery.

Above all, those caring for a convalescent should be cheerful and calm. Unhappy or worrisome topics should be avoided and every attempt made to keep the patient encouraged about his recovery. A convalescence is a real chance to care for and cater to a patient so that he will always have pleasant recollections of what could have been a boring, wearisome time.

Fashion Expert Urges Basic Rules For Dress

"The best dressed women are the most economical buyers," according to Phyllis Bell, fashion expert. Miss Bell points out that well dressed women wear "pure" clothes. Pure clothes compliment the wearer rather than the clothes. They form the background, not a frame for the well dressed woman.

There are certain basic rules that all well dressed women know and practice. "Before you can realize the possession of a well-rounded wardrobe" Miss Bell explains, "You must have developed a sharp mind-picture of your definite mode of living. You must acquire an objective view of your wardrobe. Be conscious of the styles, colors, fabrics and lines most becoming to you.

"This season's taffeta and plaid fads are not for the larger woman. Dull, muted, or solid colors are more slenderizing than the figured fabric. Small two-tone prints camouflage a large figure. Bright and pastel colors are excellent for the slender woman. Checks and splashy prints, make the figure appear fuller and shorter."

A comprehensive pamphlet for all women, "Key to a Perfect Wardrobe," embodies the fundamental principles of dress and a ten-point program to indicate the lines and colors best for you, the types of costumes suitable for your mode of living, and the secrets of economical wardrobe planning.

Type Casting Charts for daytime, afternoon and evening clothes, as well as Occupation Charts, make it easy to grade a wardrobe concisely and demonstrate where additions and deletions were necessary.

White Shoes

If white shoes become grass-stained, brush or wash off the old polish, then brush with a solution of sodium perborate or peroxide, rinse and polish. Work rapidly in order not to wet the shoes any more than necessary, advises the Department of Agriculture.

Good Bedding Helps Speed Convalescence

Lots of time and nothing to do but relax and sleep sounds delightful to busy people rushing around, but not to a convalescing patient. A pleasant convalescence, however, can materially aid a patient's recovery and the following suggestions will help to make him happier and more comfortable.

The bed itself must be as comfortable as possible. Most important is a good quality mattress and bedspring. Day after day spent in bed makes every little valley and lump in a wornout mattress doubly uncomfortable, but correct support for the body means more comfort and relaxation for the patient and, consequently, a faster recovery.

Sheets should be kept fresh and spotless. Bedclothes quickly become wrinkled and twisted and the patient is much refreshed if they are smoothed out and the pillows fluffed up and readjusted.

A clean and attractive room helps the patient's morale immensely. Because so much time is spent in Just looking around the room every little thing is of interest. Plants growing in attractive pottery on the window sill, flowers artistically arranged, favorite pictures or photographs hung in groups on the wall facing the bed, all help to break the monotony. If the bed can be placed near a window, watching the outside world often is absorbing.

Meals are big events in the day and attractive trays and tempting food will make them more so. A flower in a small vase, some favorite or unusual food or a novel way of serving the food are all welcome changes. Fruit juice, a dish of ice cream, or other light refreshments are equally welcome in the long stretches of the morning and afternoon or during the evening.

Entertainment can really help recovery. Radio programs provide enjoyment and amusement without exertion and new magazines, books and games also help to while away the hours. Friends should be encouraged to visit the patient, if permitted by the doctor, but the number of visitors and the length of their stay should be limited so the patient doesn't become overtired.

The doctor's orders should be followed exactly. It is most important that the patient eats what he should, takes whatever medication has been prescribed and abides by any restrictions set by the doctor. Allowing him to do otherwise is false kindness and laxity will only delay and prolong recovery.

Above all, those caring for a convalescent should be cheerful and calm. Unhappy or worrisome topics should be avoided and every attempt made to keep the patient encouraged about his recovery. A convalescence is a real chance to care for and cater to a patient so that he will always have pleasant recollections of what could have been a boring, wearisome time.

Fashion Expert Urges Basic Rules For Dress

"The best dressed women are the most economical buyers," according to Phyllis Bell, fashion expert. Miss Bell points out that well dressed women wear "pure" clothes. Pure clothes compliment the wearer rather than the clothes. They form the background, not a frame for the well dressed woman.

There are certain basic rules that all well dressed women know and practice. "Before you can realize the possession of a well-rounded wardrobe" Miss Bell explains, "You must have developed a sharp mind-picture of your definite mode of living. You must acquire an objective view of your wardrobe. Be conscious of the styles, colors, fabrics and lines most becoming to you.

"This season's taffeta and plaid fads are not for the larger woman. Dull, muted, or solid colors are more slenderizing than the figured fabric. Small two-tone prints camouflage a large figure. Bright and pastel colors are excellent for the slender woman. Checks and splashy prints, make the figure appear fuller and shorter."

A comprehensive pamphlet for all women, "Key to a Perfect Wardrobe," embodies the fundamental principles of dress and a ten-point program to indicate the lines and colors best for you, the types of costumes suitable for your mode of living, and the secrets of economical wardrobe planning.

Type Casting Charts for daytime, afternoon and evening clothes, as well as Occupation Charts, make it easy to grade a wardrobe concisely and demonstrate where additions and deletions were necessary.

White Shoes

If white shoes become grass-stained, brush or wash off the old polish, then brush with a solution of sodium perborate or peroxide, rinse and polish. Work rapidly in order not to wet the shoes any more than necessary, advises the Department of Agriculture.

BROADWAY

By DANTON WALKER

Inside Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, July 14 — The difference between the Democratic convention and the Republican convention is the difference between Memorial Day and the Fourth of July. The way the crepe hangers are acting you would think they had come to bury the Democratic Party, not revive it. . . . The best way to gather news at a political convention, George Dixon tells me, is just to keep walking and after a while somebody tells you something. As soon as I hit the Warwick, I started walking and had walked no farther than the Bellevue before I bumped into Mac Kriendler of "21," boldly wearing a Truman button; Bernard Relin, the fabulous press agent who flew a junket of newsmen to Venezuela and landed them in the middle of a revolution; the Senate sergeant-at-arms, the Honorable Leslie Biffle, as he is billed; Jim Farley, a bit puzzled that anyone should express surprise at finding him here; and a lot of other people. . . . Political conventions make for odd table companions. Yesterday after breakfasting with Alicia Patterson, publisher of the Hempstead, L. I., Newsday, I lunched with the Ted Thackreys, publishers of the N. Y. Post and columnist Frank Conniff of Hearst's Journal-American. Leon Henderson, who was also present, claims he is the only politician who has had two dark horses shot from under him in one campaign.

Across from Truman's headquarters was a huge poster reading "Claude Pepper, the People's Choice for President," so I asked what peoples and was told this is just Claude's way of getting back into the Democratic fold. He would have better stayed with Wallace. This, I heard, and a lot of other things, some of which you won't like. I heard that if Eisenhower had accepted the nomination, there would have been a knockdown and drag out smear campaign with Dewey accused of being a war slacker, but Ike accused of worse because, acting on Roosevelt's orders, he aided and abetted the Russians in getting their present strategic hold on Germany. I heard that Eisenhower refused to be drafted as a Presidential candidate because he expects to be drafted as Chief of Staff to help chase the Russians out of Berlin, a last minute coup that might keep Truman in the White House. I heard that Truman's biggest mistakes have been listening to Machiavellian advisers who drafted a political platform calculated to split the South from the North, further balling up the complex Palestine situation and trying to please everybody, which results in pleasing nobody.

•—•—•

I heard that Henry Wallace's advisers now admit the third party was a mistake and that Hank would have better stayed a Democrat and rallied the "liberals" around Truman, who was going to get the nomination anyway. . . . That ex-Senator Mead of New York, a Roosevelt favorite, is going to be offered a Cabinet post to lure New Yorkers back to the Democratic banner. . . . That Stassen would be willing to accept a high ranking post from the GOP provided his hands wouldn't be tied. . . . That Vandenberg is mapping a European "vacation" that will take him behind the Iron Curtain where he will tell the Commissars just what to expect if the Republicans get in. Dewey will then make him Secretary of State, giving John Foster Dulles an advisory job. . . . That Earl Warren's "active status" will begin with a trip below the Mason-Dixon line to tackle the Solid South, should the current convention come off as expected. Dewey's efforts will be preserved for other hoped-for conquests later. Whether the Californian's daughters will support the invasion has not as yet been determined. . . . I heard, too, that Mrs. Dewey is on a diet for the campaign. She wants to gain a few pounds.

•—•—•

Dewey's off-the-record talks with labor leaders have them almost agreeing to hold off on big wage increases until he has six months to battle the inflation spiral to a standstill. . . . Supreme Court Justice Douglas, who successively punctured Presidential and V. P. booms for himself, has a literary effort scheduled for publication this Fall, titled, "Being an American." . . . In a strategic move designed to garner November votes for Truman, Gael Sullvan is staging a "Model Boy and Girl of America" contest, with winners to receive a tour of the White House personally escorted by the present tenant. . . . For the Turn About is Fair Play Dept.: There will be a new television set on the market with a built-in bar.

Ice Your Beauty

During the summer months it is wise and cooling to keep beauty lotions, astringents and creams in the ice box. It is a wonderful treat on a hot day to pat your face with icy witch hazel or astringent.

Poland Irked By U. S. Bulletins

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The United States Information Service in Warsaw still is distributing American news bulletins to Poles despite sharp criticism by the Polish government. The government has told foreign correspondents that Poles who accept bulletins containing items deemed "anti-Polish or anti-Soviet" are placing themselves in jeopardy.

Many Poles visiting the USIS offices have been detained and questioned by the security police. They also have been advised to stay away from USIS. As far as is known, no Pole yet has actually been arrested. But the government spokesmen say they could be punished for "possessing illegal literature" when they accept USIS bulletins.

Walter K. Schwinn, first secretary in charge of USIS, says about 500 magazines are being given out to Poles daily. He also issues about 4,000 news bulletins weekly in Polish. Additionally, some Poles get a daily news bulletin. Schwinn and the State Department say they'll go on giving out bulletins and magazines to any Pole who wants them.

France Sets Strength

PARIS (AP) — French minister of the armed forces, Pierre-Henri Teitgen, says France's forces will be fixed at 660,000 men, including 465,000 in the army, 77,000 for the airforce, 58,000 for the navy, 60,000 for the gendarmerie, which is a police force under the army's control.

Royal Ghost Is Giant

BANGKOK, Siam — (AP)—Siam's equivalent of the Loch Ness sea monster—a giant crocodile—has reappeared. A river boat coming from Singhaburi to Bangkok along the Menam Ghao Phya river reported it was delayed for an hour by a crocodile "stretching all the way across the river." Siamese legend has it that the giant crocodile, whose appearance is reported several times a year, is the spirit of a dead King of Siam.

Marriage Plus A Career Means Two Full Time Jobs

No longer is it a hypothetical question of whether married women should or should not work—they just do! Today one out of every four married women works outside her own home. Current statistics show that the present number of working women is over 17,000,000 and two in every five are married.

Contrary to common belief, the majority of these married women work because they must. Their reasons are many—increased cost of living, illnesses, husbands starting new careers, support of parents and other family responsibilities too great to be carried on the husband's salary alone.

As recently in history as 1890, only one in twenty married women worked outside their own homes. In those days, moreover, when the wife and mother had to leave home to work, there was usually some relative to step in and take care of the housework and children.

Such is not the case today. The married working woman has two full-time jobs which she must try to carry on simultaneously and far too frequently without any outside help in her home. All too often, it isn't working out, as grim divorce figures and falling birthrates indicate. Even when there isn't a divorce, there is often emotional strain and tenseness which prevents the fullest possible happiness and enjoyment of the home.

Possibly as a result of the war, which took so many women from their homes and into industry, attention is now being focused on this situation. Modern home designers are becoming aware that homes and apartments must be planned for the needs of these working wives and mothers and for thier families. Society is beginning to realize that cooperative nurseries and recreational centers must be provided to care for the children, and ways must be found to ease the routine duties of the home.

Most of all, the modern working wife and mother is herself coming to understand that she must plan her time carefully and especially to provide adequately for rest and restoration of her energies, if she is to continue with two large jobs. Only by consistently securing plenty of restful sleep each night on bedding which provides perfect support for the body can she meet the constant demands of two jobs.

It is plain that under present economic and social conditions the working wife and mother is here to stay. Therefore, it becomes necessary for all the agencies involved, industry, society and the family itself, to provide conditions which will make it possible for women to carry on two jobs without robbing either their homes or their work of the best they have to offer.

Houses For Leopoldville

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo—(AP)—Belgium is planning to modernize this African city and give it a new airport. The government has earmarked about eight million dollars for new housing.

Cat Stops Press

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—A stray cat from an adjoining alley stopped the presses at "The State," morning newspaper here, for 30 minutes recently. The cat wandered into the press room, jumped on the web of newsprint stretched through the press. The paper broke under the weight, sending the cat sprawling into a pit beneath the press. A half hour later pressmen had the press restrung with paper and had hauled a dirty, grease-soaked cat out of the pit.

"Blackout Baby" Results In Divorce

SINGAPORE—(AP)—Taxed with infidelity by her husband, a Singapore woman said her child had a dusky complexion because it was born during a blackout.

This story was told in a Singapore court by the husband, who denied he was the child's father and asked a divorce after 16 years of marriage. He charged his wife committed adultery with an Indian Army officer before the child was born and just before the fall of Singapore. The wife admitted adultery and the judge granted the divorce.

Dumping Verdict Conviction Reversed

A Trial Magistrates Court verdict convicting two men of dumping refuse in Wills Creek was reversed yesterday in Circuit Court when Chief Judge William A. Huster found the men not guilty and set aside fines of $100 imposed on each.

The two men, E. J. Thompson and K. T. Hager, both of the Narrows, were arrested by City Police on charges that they dumped refuse into the creek behind their places of business. They appealed the case after they were convicted and fined in Trial Magistrates Court.

Estel C. Kelley, attorney for the defendants, said the case involved a constitutional question. He added that the men were dumping the refuse on the banks of the creek and not into the stream.

Injunction Sought In Wage-Hour Case

Ernest N. Votaw, regional attorney of the Department of Labor, announced yesterday that action had been filed in U. S. District Court at Baltimore to enjoin Norman C. Baker, sole owner of the N. C. Baker Lumber Company at Easton, to stop alleged violations of the overtime, record keeping and interstate commerce shipment provisions of the Federal Wage and Hour Law.

The action was instituted in behalf of William R. McComb, administrator of the Wage and Hour and Public Contract divisions of the Department of Labor, as the result of alleged violations revealed in an inspection of the defendant's books and records by an inspector of the staff of the Philadelphia regional director.

Agar-Agar From Seaweed

MOSCOW (AP)—Seaweed is being used in the Soviet Far East to manufacture agar-agar. This valuable product which is used by 20 different branches of industry including the knit-goods industry, the perfume industry, and the confectionery industry is produced in two factories in the Maritime Provinces, including one in Vladivostok itself.

"What's all this? I thought Hallowe'en was in the fall!"

Be Bop Irks Reds

MOSCOW—(AP)—The newspaper "Literary Gazette" has given an editorial thumbs down to American Bes-Bop music. "In America," said a story headed "Sur-realist jazz", "there has appeared a new kind of jazz—a sur-realist jazz called be-bop. Be-bop is so atonal that ordinary jazz in comparison sounds classical." Some music critics assert, says the "Literary Gazette," that this new kind of jazz "has the same relation to music as tonsilitis has to music."

Paye, City Officials Hold Conference

Albert S. Paye, recommended by Commissioner William H. Buchholtz as liaison agent for the Cumberland flood control project, conferred with the Mayor and Council about the work yesterday.

The proposal that Paye be named to the $6,00 a year post was tabled Monday so that council members could study the program. Paye heads the Small-Paye Engineering Company and in addition to his salary would receive traveling expenses. The contract would be for one year.

Paye told the Council he probably would need no help the first year and that he estimated he would have to spend 40 hours a week on the project.

The Council directed the city auditor to issue checks to city employees covering the payroll for the first two weeks in this month.

Payment of $195 to Mathews and Shaffer was approved for painting, cleaning, and patching the office of the smoke abatement engineer and the men and ladies rest rooms. The money will be charged to the City Hall account.

Pipe That Roof: It Solves Problems

BERLIN — (AP) — Shortages of building materials caused by the war have forced the Germans to use all sorts of substitutes in an effort to provide homes for millions of bombed out families. The latest innovation is in roof construction. Joists being difficult to obtain, salvaged steel pipes are welded together as a frame to support tile roofing.

Statement Corrected

The Cumberland News erroneously reported yesterday that Lester Long, 727 Shawnee Avenue, made insulting remarks about the late father of Officer C. E. Cubbage, when he was arrested Saturday as the result of a fight. The remarks should have been attributed to James Niland, this city, who was arrested at the same time.

Both were fined $5 for disorderly conduct Tuesday in Police Court.

Employment Picture "Dark" In This Area

Allegany County's employment picture is not a "bright one," even with new projects underway, according to Patrick J. Carroll, manager of the State Employment Division office here.

Almost the only persons needed by employers in this area, Carroll said, are replacement workers. Positions are filled even before they are open, the manager said, because when employes learn there is going to be a vacancy they appeal for unemployed relatives.

Carroll said there is a total of 17 positions open at present while June 20 figures show there are 2,389 unemployed persons in the county.

You Need One Day A Month For Good Rest

The story of Lady Anne, an English dowager, strikes envy in the hearts of many women, for even at 84 she had the vitality and charm of a much younger woman. The secret of her energy was the one day a week she spent resting in bed in a darkened room.

Few career girls can follow the example of Lady Anne, but many can take a one-day vacation at least once a month. Although week-ends are busy days for most career girls, it is sometimes possible to plan housecleaning, laundry and other weekly duties so that a Saturday or Sunday can be spent in complete relaxation and luxurious laziness.

It's essential that the career girl on a one-day vacation close her mind to any chores she thinks should be done. She should simply set the day aside for rest because no task is more important to her. She should sleep until she awakens rested, with none of the tension of the work-a-day week hanging on. To derive the most pleasure and benefit from this long sleep, she needs, of course, good quality, comfortable bedding which perfectly supports every part of her body and makes a beauty treatment of every minute spent in bed.

When she finally awakens, it's time for a lazy, appetizing brunch. To really pamper herself, she left breakfast preparations all ready—including some special treat—and set the table prettily the night before. Instead of the usual "gulp and run" procedure, she can leisurely read the morning paper or latest magazine as she eats and drinks her second cup of coffee.

Next on the rest-day schedule is a sun bath up on the roof or out on the lawn. She should, of course, be careful not to stay in the sun too long. After the sunning comes a long, luxurious bath. Filling the tub with warm, fragrant water, she can stretch out and soak in solid comfort. What better, when she emerges all drowsy and relaxed, than to stretch out on that comfortable bed and take a nap before it's time for the evening date?

After her lazy day routine she feels like a new person indeed. She's ready for her date — she feels as glamorous and lovely as she looks —and could, no duobt, give Lady Anne some competition.

You Need One Day A Month For Good Rest

The story of Lady Anne, an English dowager, strikes envy in the hearts of many women, for even at 84 she had the vitality and charm of a much younger woman. The secret of her energy was the one day a week she spent resting in bed in a darkened room.

Few career girls can follow the example of Lady Anne, but many can take a one-day vacation at least once a month. Although week-ends are busy days for most career girls, it is sometimes possible to plan housecleaning, laundry and other weekly duties so that a Saturday or Sunday can be spent in complete relaxation and luxurious laziness.

It's essential that the career girl on a one-day vacation close her mind to any chores she thinks should be done. She should simply set the day aside for rest because no task is more important to her. She should sleep until she awakens rested, with none of the tension of the work-a-day week hanging on. To derive the most pleasure and benefit from this long sleep, she needs, of course, good quality, comfortable bedding which perfectly supports every part of her body and makes a beauty treatment of every minute spent in bed.

When she finally awakens, it's time for a lazy, appetizing brunch. To really pamper herself, she left breakfast preparations all ready—including some special treat—and set the table prettily the night before. Instead of the usual "gulp and run" procedure, she can leisurely read the morning paper or latest magazine as she eats and drinks her second cup of coffee.

Next on the rest-day schedule is a sun bath up on the roof or out on the lawn. She should, of course, be careful not to stay in the sun too long. After the sunning comes a long, luxurious bath. Filling the tub with warm, fragrant water, she can stretch out and soak in solid comfort. What better, when she emerges all drowsy and relaxed, than to stretch out on that comfortable bed and take a nap before it's time for the evening date?

After her lazy day routine she feels like a new person indeed. She's ready for her date — she feels as glamorous and lovely as she looks —and could, no duobt, give Lady Anne some competition.

Make Bedrooms Double For Child's Playroom

Given a home without a playroom and an active child, and what have you? Bedlam, usually. Paper dolls, jigsaw puzzles, games and toys of all descriptions are scattered here and there on the floor, and walking from one end of the house to the other—or just through one room—becomes a major problem.

However, the difficulty can be solved quite easily by fixing up the youngster's bedroom to double as a playroom. There he can strew things around to his heart's content without getting in his busy mother's way. He will more quickly acquire a sense of responsibility for his possessions, and with a place for everything, will no doubt develop into a reasonably orderly child.

In furnishing the room, the bed is of primary importance, of course. Either a youth bed or a headboard bed is an attractive, sensible replacement for the crib. If a headboard bed is decided upon, it is wise to select one with leatherette upholstery for easy cleaning. The main thing, however, is to be sure the mattress, spring and pillow are well constructed of good materials and firm enough to give proper support to growing bones. Seersucker bedspreads and draperies in youthful prints are advisable because they're so easily washed and don't need to be ironed.

An adequate drawer chest for clothing storage comes next and is best placed near the closet. Plenty of low shelf space for toys is a "must," and the child should be trained to put things back in place when he is through with them. A small table with a couple of chairs, a juvenile desk, and perhaps a bulletin board to display his latest drawings make the playroom quite complete—a perfect place to have a wonderful time without getting under mother's feet.

Manners Are Must If You Want To Be Invited To Return

By NANCY MOTTRAM

First, there were all those graduation announcements to be sent out. And now there are a lot of mysterious packages arriving at your address. But there's more to the transaction than ripping off the wrapping paper to see what you've acquired from Aunt Bess.

Nancy Mottram

You've piled up the presents, but now isn't the time to consider everything well done, and forget all about it. Those same people who ran out and shopped to make your graduation day memorable deserve more than a mental thanks. It's your turn to dust off your writing paper and pen a note to each and every one—relative and friend.

You don't have to dread it, or rack your brain over the phrasing—just a few simple words to the effect that you appreciate their thoughtfulness will do it. It's a gesture that won't take much time, but will do wonders for your public relations with everybody concerned.

It's just another part of what makes a reputation for good manners, and with summer coming on, you'll have plenty of chances to show you deserve one. Every bit of your leisure time won't be spent in your back yard, or at an all day picnic at the lake or beach—you'll be doing some visiting, too.

Whether you're planning to pass some of the vacation at the cottage of a close pal, or have decided to visit friends or relatives in the city, the same rules apply. Your own foibles and fancies should be left behind. You'll be living in someone else's household, and you'll have to adapt yourself to their rules and customs.

You'll need a sense of humor if you've been counting on sleeping 'till 11, and the rest rise at 9. It's up to you to do the same, make your own bed to boot, and unless you run into all kinds of complications, and have to phone, be on tap when it's time for meals. Even though you're a guest, your consideration for your hosts ought to show by being willing to help, and offering to do some of the extra chores that your prescence makes necessary.

You have a choice of expressing your gratitude for their hospitality, too. You could do a little gift-shopping before you start and present it to your hostess when you arrive, or wait until you've made your departure, and send it at the same time as your thank-you-letter. In either case, after you've gone, write a note telling them what a wonderful time you've had.

A couple of weeks or so away from home in July and August can be a welcome change. And those renewed invitations depend a lot on your attitude while you're there. Neatness and tact and adaptability, (you know, when in Rome, do as the Romans do) will raise you in their favor, and it's a certain thing that you'll be asked for a return visit.

Miss Mottram wants to help with your problems. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Sketch of a Possible WHITE HOUSE HOSTESS

Frances Hutt Dewey

THERE'LL BE MUSIC—good, vocal music—in the White House if New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey wins through to the presidency. . . . His pleasing baritone voice is more than matched by Mrs. Dewey's even better mezzo-soprano. . . . They love to sing together. . . . In fact, that's how they first met. . . . However, good voice or no—unlike Margaret Truman, the present president's daughter—there'll be no concert tour for shy, self-effacing Frances Hutt Dewey. . . . She has no personal ambitions. . . . The social whirl has few attractions for this handsome woman who does not look her 45 years. . . . To date she has held her entertaining to a minimum. . . . Her job, as she sees it, is to be the capable wife of her famous husband and the business of rearing her two sons—Tom, Jr., 15, and John, 12—whose activities she rigidly supervises. . . . Today, no one would guess this quiet home-maker once appeared in George White's Scandals, a Broadway musical revue. . . . Her stage name: Eileen Hoyt. . . . However, she also sang often in church choirs. . . . Daughter of a railroad brakeman, Frances Hutt of Sapulpa, Okla., won a high school singing contest that brought her a University of Oklahoma scholarship. . . . However, she preferred music and loyal Sapulpans raised funds to send her to New York to further her study of that art. . . . After her brief stage career she worked as secretary to a Chicago voice teacher, Percy Rector Stephens, in exchange for voice lessons. . . . It was then she met young Tom Dewey, a University of Michigan student, who had won a Michigan first prize and a national third prize by his singing, plus a scholarship under Stephens. . . . Their courtship lasted five years. . . . They were married June 16, 1928. . . . The Deweys set up housekeeping in a $75-a-month apartment. . . . Born in Sherman, Texas, in 1903, Frances Hutt Dewey already lists a president among her relatives. . . . She is a great-great grand niece of Jefferson Davis, who was the first and only president of the Confederate States of America.

Mrs. Thomas E. Dewey

Manners Are Must If You Want To Be Invited To Return

By NANCY MOTTRAM

Nancy Mottram

First, there were all those graduation announcements to be sent out. And now there are a lot of mysterious packages arriving at your address. But there's more to the transaction than ripping off the wrapping paper to see what you've acquired from Aunt Bess.

You've piled up the presents, but now isn't the time to consider everything well done, and forget all about it. Those same people who ran out and shopped to make your graduation day memorable deserve more than a mental thanks. It's your turn to dust off your writing paper and pen a note to each and every one—relative and friend.

You don't have to dread it, or rack your brain over the phrasing—just a few simple words to the effect that you appreciate their thoughtfulness will do it. It's a gesture that won't take much time, but will do wonders for your public relations with everybody concerned.

It's just another part of what makes a reputation for good manners, and with summer coming on, you'll have plenty of chances to show you deserve one. Every bit of your leisure time won't be spent in your back yard, or at an all day picnic at the lake or beach—you'll be doing some visiting, too.

Whether you're planning to pass some of the vacation at the cottage of a close pal, or have decided to visit friends or relatives in the city, the same rules apply. Your own foibles and fancies should be left behind. You'll be living in someone else's household, and you'll have to adapt yourself to their rules and customs.

You'll need a sense of humor if you've been counting on sleeping 'till 11, and the rest rise at 9. It's up to you to do the same, make your own bed to boot, and unless you run into all kinds of complications, and have to phone, be on tap when it's time for meals. Even though you're a guest, your consideration for your hosts ought to show by being willing to help, and offering to do some of the extra chores that your prescence makes necessary.

You have a choice of expressing your gratitude for their hospitality, too. You could do a little gift-shopping before you start and present it to your hostess when you arrive, or wait until you've made your departure, and send it at the same time as your thank-you-letter. In either case, after you've gone, write a note telling them what a wonderful time you've had.

A couple of weeks or so away from home in July and August can be a welcome change. And those renewed invitations depend a lot on your attitude while you're there. Neatness and tact and adaptability, (you know, when in Rome, do as the Romans do) will raise you in their favor, and it's a certain thing that you'll be asked for a return visit.

Miss Mottram wants to help with your problems. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Frances Hutt Dewey

THERE'LL BE MUSIC—good, vocal music—in the White House if New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey wins through to the presidency. . . . His pleasing baritone voice is more than matched by Mrs. Dewey's even better mezzo-soprano. . . . They love to sing together. . . . In fact, that's how they first met. . . . However, good voice or no—unlike Margaret Truman, the present president's daughter—there'll be no concert tour for shy, self-effacing Frances Hutt Dewey. . . . She has no personal ambitions. . . . The social whirl has few attractions for this handsome woman who does not look her 45 years. . . . To date she has held her entertaining to a minimum. . . . Her job, as she sees it, is to be the capable wife of her famous husband and the business of rearing her two sons—Tom, Jr., 15, and John, 12—whose activities she rigidly supervises. . . . Today, no one would guess this quiet home-maker once appeared in George White's Scandals, a Broadway musical revue. . . . Her stage name: Eileen Hoyt. . . . However, she also sang often in church choirs. . . . Daughter of a railroad brakeman, Frances Hutt of Sapulpa, Okla., won a high school singing contest that brought her a University of Oklahoma scholarship. . . . However, she preferred music and loyal Sapulpans raised funds to send her to New York to further her study of that art. . . . After her brief stage career she worked as secretary to a Chicago voice teacher, Percy Rector Stephens, in exchange for voice lessons. . . . It was then she met young Tom Dewey, a University of Michigan student, who had won a Michigan first prize and a national third prize by his singing, plus a scholarship under Stephens. . . . Their courtship lasted five years. . . . They were married June 26, 1928. . . . The Deweys set up housekeeping in a $75-a-month apartment. . . . Born in Sherman, Texas, in 1903, Frances Hutt Dewey already lists a president among her relatives. . . . She is a great-great grand niece of Jefferson Davis, who was the first and only president of the Confederate States of America.

Mrs. Thomas E. Dewey

Movie Of Nazi "Trial"

NURENBERG (AP) — The judge shouts down the witnesses and screams at the defendant, who stands before the court holding up his pants with his hands because they have taken away his belt. This is the picture of a Nazi "trial" which thousands of Germans are being shown this summer in a U.S. sponsored movie.

The obvious purpose is to show the contrast between Hitler's courts and the U.S. war crimes courts which are trying Nazis in Nuernberg. The films — complete with sound track—were made by the Nazis and seized by American troops. They show the "people's court" trials in Berlin of the group which tried to kill Hitler with a bomb in July, 1944.

Many of the Germans seeing the films have just come from the American war crimes courts, where the well-dressed, well-fed defendants sit comfortably while their lawyers and witnesses get respectful hearings from judges who never shout.

"The trial proceedings shown on the film are shocking even to one who has heard days of court room testimony about Hitler's notorious 'people's court'", says George Martin Public Information Officer of the war crimes staff.

A dentice is a kind of sea fish having a deep, compressed body and perchlike form. It has large canine teeth.

Cold War Gets Hot Over Telephones

BERLIN (AP) — Within the big cold war here between Russia and the western powers there are also several "little cold wars" between German communist and anti-communist political leaders and trade unionists. One of these is known as the "little cold war of the telephone."

First several Socialist politicians living in the Russian sector complained publicly that telephone services in their homes and offices had been cut off on orders of the Russian authorities and their German Communist underlings. The socialists said the action was a reprisal for their anti-communist leanings. The Communists never denied these charges, but they began raising a howl of their own.

Now rarely a day passes but the Russian-controlled press carries an allegation—or two or three—that the western powers are cutting off telephone service in the homes of Communists who live in the Western sectors of Berlin.

Maternal Mortality Cut

LONDON (AP)—Britain's maternal mortality rate is less than one third of prewar averages, the Ministry of Health says.

Aga Khan Endows School

NAIROBI, East Africa—(AP)—The Aga Khan has given $400,000 toward a million-dollar project to establish a Moslem Educational Institute at Mombasa to promote the teaching of Moslem religion and culture combined with modern technical education among the backward East Coast Arabs. The British and Kenya governments will contribute the balance.

Boy Banished After Fire

TOKYO—(AP)—Aomori Prefecture police are investigating the "purge" of a seven-year-old boy who was banished from his village for 10 years for starting a fire which destroyed 41 houses, the "Nippon Keizaie" reports. The paper said the village council met and decided the seven-year-old boy started the blaze while playing. The council voted unanimously to banish him for 10 years, the paper reported. It said the boy and his parents left the village weeping.

Central Europe Helped

SZCZECIN, Poland (AP)—Poland is throwing open this big Oder river port leading to the Baltic sea for shipments to and from land locked countries of Central Europe. Czechoslovakia was the first country to get a slice of the Szczecin harbor as a duty-free zone. New Hungary and nations of the Danube basin are getting similar privileges.

Port authorities have outlined extensive improvements for Szczecin port to be carried out during 1949. Poland feels that it is highly beneficial to her to let landlocked countries have an outlet to the Baltic Sea. She naturally gets more business and that means more revenue. Behind all of this is a desire to beat other European ports to the punch. Landlocked countries before the war extensively used the German port of Hamburg and Antwerp. Now Poland is handling that traffic.

Central Europe Helped

SZCZECIN, Poland (AP)—Poland is throwing open this big Oder river port leading to the Baltic sea for shipments to and from land locked countries of Central Europe. Czechoslovakia was the first country to get a slice of the Szczecin harbor as a duty-free zone. New Hungary and nations of the Danube basin are getting similar privileges.

Port authorities have outlined extensive improvements for Szczecin port to be carried out during 1949. Poland feels that it is highly beneficial to her to let landlocked countries have an outlet to the Baltic Sea. She naturally gets more business and that means more revenue. Behind all of this is a desire to beat other European ports to the punch. Landlocked countries before the war extensively used the German port of Hamburg and Antwerp. Now Poland is handling that traffic.

First Professional Nurse Pioneered In Psychiatric Care

That America's first trained nurse, Linda Richards, also pioneered in psychiatric nursing, establishing methods of training followed by the 47,000 nurses now practicing in mental hospitals, was pointed out today by the American Nurses' Association. This year is being observed by the ANA as the 75th anniversary of Miss Richards' graduation from the nurse training school at the New England Hospital Boston, Massachusetts, in 1873.

"Perhaps no other single aspect of Linda Richards' career reflects her amazing foresight and character as much as her work in the field of psychiatric nursing," the ANA declares, quoting one of her early pupils, who said: "She entered . . . (mental institutions) . . . with the spirit of a philanthropist, giving of her vast experience for the alleviation of the condition of this most pitiful class of people."

Her first responsible position in this field was obtained soon after her return from Japan, where she established that country's initial school of nursing. She became Matron at Kirkbride Hospital for the Insane, Philadelphia, late in 1891. There she planned to establish a nurses' training school and to act as its superintendent in addition to discharging her duties at Matron. She found, however, that conditions there were "not ripe for the radical changes in administration that such an organization required," as she put it in her Reminiscences. For in those days nursing schools had just gained something like general acceptance, but the idea of reorganizing one and placing a woman at its head was "radical."

Not until nine years later, after revitalizing several hospital schools of general duty nursing, was she able to resume her work with the mentally ill as Superintendent of Nurses at the Taunton Hospital for the Insane, Taunton, Massachusetts. Her work over this period was largely responsible for demonstrating the value of specially trained nurses in such institutions. She aroused both private and public hospitals for the mentally ill to the need for better care of their patients. Capable superintendents were secured, and nurses began to receive more extensive training.

It is estimated that there are now some 47,000 positions for nurses in this country's mental institutions, as well as a need for 5,000 head nurses, administrators, supervisors and instructors. The Veterans' Administration alone has designated 48,912 beds in its 32 hospitals for neuropsychiatric treatment, with 5,864 beds to be added after the completion of five new hospitals.

Linda Richards' philosophy with regard to work in this field the ANA believes, is just as pertinent now as it was nearly fifty years ago. It is perhaps best summed up by Agnes B. Joynes in "Linda Richards As I Knew Her": "She seems to believe that the mission of the insane hospital training school is not to the insane alone. It has a wider scope. If we can learn to soothe nerves tortured as these are tortured here, we can hope to do much better work outside. If we can develop tact enough to allay the ever present and terrified fears of these patients, we can surely restore courage to people only physically ill. If the aches and pains here can be comforted, we need not be afraid to attempt any future case."

Firecrackers Forbidden

SEREMBAN, Federation of Malaya (AP)—Police were slow to come to the aid recently of a detective involved in a gun duel with four Chinese gunmen. They said they thought the shots were firecrackers. Authorities then put firecrackers on the forbidden list.

Price Lines Tangled In Market With Mixture Of Gains, Losses

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—Price lines were thoroughly tangled in today's stock market and final prices showed a close mixture of gains and losses.

Trading remained open only six minutes. Not until the final bell rang did the stock sell again when a deal of 35,000 shares was arranged at 10⅜, a net gain of 2¼ points and a new high for the year. During the day 146,000 shares changed hands.

Strong spots in the oil section included Skelly, up 2½ at 155, and Richfield, three ahead at 44⅞. Skelly, however, appeared on the tape only once early in the day.

Also higher were Santa Fe 117½ (up 2½), Illinois Central 41¾, United States Steel 83¾, Bethlehem 37½, Jones and Laughlin 37⅝, Curtis Publishing 13 (up 1⅛), Atlantic Coast Line 62, Schenley 32⅝, Radio Corporation 14, and Chrysler 64¾.

On the losing side were Missouri-Kansas-Texas preferred, Nickel Plate, Mission Corporation, Westinghouse Electric, Anaconda Copper, Sears Roebuck, and Douglas Aircraft.

Railroad loans were irregular in the bond market as news was awaited on an Interstate Commerce Commission decision on freight rate increases.

Central Railroad of New Jersey bonds ranged unchanged to fractionally lower as the Federal Court at Newark okayed the road's request to submit a capital modification plan to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The court approval automatically suspended reorganization plans before the federal bench.

A total of 181 New Haven Railroad income 4½s changed hands and the issue went ahead a point to 51 while 133 of the 4s of 2007 sold and that issue advanced 1¼ to 75⅛.

United States government bonds were unchanged to up 1-32 in over-the-counter dealings. Norway 4½s went ahead 1⅝ to 82½ on the foreign dollar list and Brazilian loans dropped as much as 2⅛.

The volume was $3,360,000, somewhat under yesterday's $4,390,000.

Baltimore Livestock

BALTIMORE, July 14 (AP)—(USDA)—

CATTLE—300—steers largely held for Thursday's market: trading very active on slaughter cows with prices strong to 50 cents and in spots more higher than Monday; good cows largely 23.25-25.50 with few head on heifer order at 26.00-28.00; common and medium cows largely 20.00-23.00; canners and cutters ranging 14.50-19.00, mostly shelly canners under 16.00; bulls also strong to 50 cents higher: most common and medium sausage bulls 20.00-24.50, odd head low good 24.50.

CALVES—125—all grades steady with yesterday's strong close; good and choice 150-250 lb. offerings mainly 28.00-31.00, top 31.00; few heavier weights around 29.00 down; all weights, common and medium grades 19.00-27.00; odd culls down to 12.00; fairly broad demand for good and choice grades, but others clearing slowly.

HOGS—700—slow, all weights and grades steady with yesterday, but demand very narrow on garbage fed hog and over 250 lb. weights and early indications point to a probable incomplete clearance: bulk good and choice 180-225 lb. barrows and gilts 30.00-50, early top 30.50; 225-250 lbs. 29.50-30.00; 250-275 lbs. 28.00-50; 275-300 lbs. 26.50-27.00; 300-350 lbs. 25.25-75; 350-400 lbs. 24.25-75; few over 400 lbs. 23.25-75; 120-140 lbs. 26.50-27.00; 140-160 lbs. 27.75-28.25; 160-180 lbs. 29.50-30.00; sows 450 lbs. and lighter 23.25-75; 400-450 lbs. 22.00-50; 450 lbs. and heavier down to 21.50 and below: odd stags 21.75 down.

SHEEP—50—all classes nominally unchanged, but not enough in early to establish a market; good and choice spring lambs quoted to 30.00; choice shorn ewes 10.00.

Carloads Decrease

Carloads handled on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad during last week showed a marked decrease under the number handled the same week of last year, and under the total for the preceding week.

Last week's total was 58,826, consisting of 41,142 loaded on line and 17,684 received from connections. The total for the same week of last year was 62,449, and for the previous week, 61,888.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, July 14—(INS)—Next Hollywood studio battle looms between Abbott and Costello and Universal-International. Coming on the heels of David Selznick pulling Valli, Louis Jourdan, and Bob Mitchum out of Bill Bacher's picture, it looks like July 4 came too early.

Billie Burke

First volley fired between the comics and the studio came when executives cancelled preparation on Bud and Lou's next comedy — "Abbott and Costello and the Invisible Man." Writers Hugh Wedlock and Howard Snyder were ordered to cease typing.

There was a preliminary skirmish before "Mexican Hayride" started and the two comedians are now saying loudly that they are just waiting for the current picture to be finished before the battle starts, in earnest.

What it all amounts to is that Bud and Lou want more money spent on their pictures, and U-I, along with other studios, is on an economy drive.

• — • — •

Billie Burke is back after two years agay from the screen and Judy Garland and Fred Astaire get her for "The Barkleys of Broadway."

Once again, Billie plays one of her vague but charming wispy-poos after saying, at one time, that she was tired of them. But these flutter-brains have been her forte all during her screen career. Who says "typing" kills off an actress?

During her two years vacation, Miss Burke has been doing radio and commercial pictures. But she says it is nice to be back on the MGM lot where her last appearance was with Ann Sothern in "Dulcy."

• — • — •

It is a good thing the illustrious Norman Bel Geddes has a sense of humor.

When the great theater artist announced that he was coming to the Coast to visit his attractive daughter, a local columnist itemed it, "Father of Barbara Bel Geddes on way here to visit movie sets." Visit movie sets—my eye!

Bel Geddes was designing great stage sets and completely revolutionizing theater technique before Barbara was born.

• — • — •

Round-ups: Look for an elopement between Nancy Walker, star of "Look Ma, I'm Dancin'," and John Battles, of the "Allegro" troupe in New York.

Buff Cobb (the ex-Mrs. Bill Eythe) isn't coming back to Hollywood. She will make her permanent home in Chicago.

Lucille Ball denies the printed rumor that she and Desi Arnaz are "expecting" anything—except a vacation next month.

Taciturn Gary Cooper delivers the longest single spiel of dialogue he has ever made on the screen in "The Fountainhead." Silent "Coop" utters 942 words in his own defense in the trial scene.

Robert Stack, the skeet shooter champ, spent $12 knocking down clay pigeons at the beach last night.

• — • — •

Chatter in Hollywood: Robert Walker's two sons are in military school in Carlsbad while he is honeymooning with Barbara Ford. The newlyweds were at Angelo's Silver Room the other evening—alone, as usual.

To friends who have known the John Fords a long time, there was a heart-tug about their absence from the wedding and the wedding pictures of their only daughter. John has the reputation of being a "man's" man, but he was a softie about his pretty daughter. Everyone believes he would have given her anything in the world but his consent to her marriage to a boy who has been divorced.

• — • — •

Hollywood in shorts: Horace Schmidlapp dining quietly at Ocean House with Carole's closest friends, the Lou Wassons. When the place began to fill, the Schmidlapp group left.

Same place—same night, Nancy Valentine with her fractured arm in a splint. But she kept it glamorous with a diamond pinned on the sling.

Rhonda Fleming was with Otto Preminger again. Mariano Soyer, the artist, whose paintings have attracted so much attention lately, was in the party. He is young and very good looking.

The host of the party was Edgar Auchnick, former aide-de-camp to King Carol of Romania, who seems to have thrown a party every night he has been in Hollywood.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Networks Prepare For Dem Meetings Or Other Program

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, July 14—Broadcasts in connection with the expected conclusion of the Democratic national convention in Philadelphia are due Thursday.

Among them is a governors' roundtable planned by CBS for 6:15 p. m. Otherwise, all networks have made full provision to carry additional sessions of the convention in accordance with the times it is sitting. Regular programs will be put aside if need be, although they will be on a standby basis to go in on short notice.

Provided the convention is not in session at night, NBC has arranged to carry the premiere of Ray Noble's orchestra show for the Jack Carson comedy spot. He will have the singing help of Ilene Woods. Otherwise, this show will go over till next week.

Beatrice Lillie will return as guest to the NBC Armed Services Revue as run at 8 o'clock at Burgess Meredith. Roy Shield also is on hand for a 28-piece orchestra.

Ida Lupino is on the ABC schedule to do a guest appearance in the second of the revived Suspense series at 9. She will talk the lines for a script titled "Summer Night."

Stooges and Superstition

A stooge, according to Webster's International Dictionary, is "a foil." Webster's in this case is giving us the run-around, keeping the franchise without being very helpful. Anyway, I chased over to "foil" and found a number of interesting but not very enlightening definitions. The only one that seemed at all probable was something that "enhances or sets off by contrast."

John Crosby

That isn't a bad description of a stooge though it's by no means exhaustive. The reason I undertook all this research—all of a minute or so—was to find some hint as to why stooges when divorced from their comedians do so badly. The definition goes a long way toward explaining it. A stooge is ornamental, a bit of fancy ironwork around the balcony but not the main support. After all, a man can't very well enhance or provide contrast to himself.

• — • — •

All of which is a long-winded introduction to Arnold Stang's new show "It's Always Albert" (C.B.S. 8:30 p. m. E.D.T. Fridays). Stang, Henry Morgan's man in the regular season, is a rather different stooge whose special qualities resist the printed word. His grunts and ejaculations—eh, yeah, neyah—are a sort of inarticulate east side New York commentary on this and that.

"How do you like Hollywood?" Morgan asked him once.

"Eh!" said Stang, summing it all up briefly and bitterly. I like it but I realize a lot of people find Mr. Stang's language a little too close to that of the gibbon for comfort.

However, I can't say I'm at all happy with Stang as a featured comedian. In this vehicle, he plays a harebrained and impoverished composer, a characterization I find wholly incredible. He is called upon to be stupid, inept, and recalcitrant—all qualities which I think miss the essence of the Stang character by about a mile. As a composer he is harassed by his brother and sister-in-law, who bounce insults off his head from all angles, into selling his music and raising a little dough for the family. This fails into the familiar dull routines of trying to interest millionaires or movie producers and then upsetting the soup over them.

The jokes are long, painful and so carefully telegraphed that you find yourself wincing, waiting for the blow to fall. The brother is played with demonic energy by Jan Murray, a former nightclub entertainer, and the sister-in-law is Pert Kelton, who isn't bad though her material isn't of much help. Also, I'm afraid Stang's stylized mannerisms get awfully wearisome in half an hour. I'm sorry about the whole thing.

The original idea of "Superstition," a new A.B.C. show (9:30 p. m. E.D.T. Sundays), was to analyze "the effects of popular superstitions in every day life," I read in a press release. That isn't a bad idea but the program misses it entirely.

One program is enough, I think, to give you the idea. A convict, who got caught on Friday the 13th, got sprung from jail on the same day. This worried him a good deal, though as far as I could see it had nothing to do with his subsequent efforts to go straight or his waverings from this excellent intention. The voice of Superstition, speaking through a filter, goaded him from time to time about Friday the 13th but didn't seem to get anywhere. I don't know what any of this has to do with superstition which would be a nice little subject to tackle some time and which is still a wide open field.

U. S. Cars Banned

SINGAPORE. (AP)—Malaya's markets have been almost completely closed to all foreign cars except those manufactured in the United Kingdom. The governments of Singapore and the Federation of Malaya have banned the import of all cars of 20 horsepower and over except those from the U. K. An export-import official said only one make of car now could come in from the United States and Canada, which last year split the auto market with U. K. Manufacturers. The official said the British Empire's dollar shortage was the reason for the ban.

Networks Prepare For Dem Meetings Or Other Program

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, July 14—Broadcasts in connection with the expected conclusion of the Democratic national convention in Philadelphia are due Thursday.

Among them is a governors' roundtable planned by CBS for 6:15 p. m. Otherwise, all networks have made full provision to carry additional sessions of the convention in accordance with the times it is sitting. Regular programs will be put aside if need be, although they will be on a standby basis to go in on short notice.

Provided the convention is not in session at night, NBC has arranged to carry the premiere of Ray Noble's orchestra show for the Jack Carson comedy spot. He will have the singing help of Ilene Woods. Otherwise, this show will go over till next week.

Beatrice Lillie will return as guest to the NBC Armed Services Revue as run at 8 o'clock at Burgess Meredith. Roy Shield also is on hand for a 28-piece orchestra.

Ida Lupino is on the ABC schedule to do a guest appearance in the second of the revived Suspense series at 9. She will talk the lines for a script titled "Summer Night."

Knowing Types Of Woods Aids Todays Buyers

Although there is wood in over ninety per cent of all household furnishings, the majority of homemakers have little knowledge of the various types and their qualities.

Woods of various kinds are mixed liberally (but not indiscriminately) in the same room by leading interior decorators. Finishes of different hues often blend harmoniously and there is no hard and fast rule.

A brief explanation of the most widely used furniture woods can be a valuable aid to anyone who is planning to buy home furnishings.

Maple

The need of the colonial settlers was for simple, substantial furniture, which could be made from lumber located close at hand. Maple was readily available and was widely used. The designs our forefathers evolved were simpler, less ornate and less sophisticated than the prevalent styles of London and Paris.

Today, maple, with its rich coloring, is considered one of the most choice furniture woods, and Early American reproductions made from it are most attractive.

Birch

Birch is rated one of the strongest American cabinet woods and was used by early craftsmen as it is today by the creators of good furniture. It posseses an attractively figured grain which is enhanced by the modern stain finishes to which this wood is especially adapted. Because of its sturdy, hardy qualities, birch is used where great strength is needed, particularly frames for upholstered furniture. Other uses are for drawer slides, partitions and backing for veneer.

Walnut

Much of the furniture made today is of walnut or of walnut veneers. Walnut combines moderate weight with maximum strength. It seasons well, works well, holds up durably under usage and has beautiful grain and color.

Red Gum And Sap Gum

Although red gum traces its lineage back thousands of years, it is comparatively new in furniture manufacture. Formerly it showed a distinct tendency to twist and warp during seasoning, so it was left standing in the forest. Methods of properly seasoning it have been found during recent years, and its use has tripled.

It has a pleasing grain and color and takes finish very well, being adapted to high lighting and two-tone antique effects. In solid wood it is used for legs, posts, stretchers, frames, and supports.

Because of its adaptability to stain similar to that of other woods, it is frequently finished in imitation of them. This procedure is practical and satisfactory.

It is also used to a large extent in combination with other woods; the posts and rails are often made of red gum, with the veneered panels of a more expensive wood.

Beech

Beech lacks pronounced grain or figure; it is strong and offers excellent wearing properties. It is much used in unexposed parts—in frames and interior work, in the under sides of chairs, bureaus, and chiffoniers; and in rockers, chair rungs, drawer slides, and slides for extension tables.

Softwoods

Within recent years, many western softwoods have been used in furniture manufacture. They have proved serviceable for many uses.

The outstanding property of these woods is the ease with which they may be worked. The species are: Douglas fir, Sitka spruce, west coast hemlock, Western red cedar, pondosa pine, California white pine, Idaho white pine, sugar pine, and redwood.

Mahogany

Of the imported woods, mahogany is the best known. Mahogany does not warp easily and takes stain well. It must not be misused, for its beauty may be marred by abuse. It comes from the West Indies and Central and South America.

Red Silk Booms

MOSCOW — (AP) — The newspaper "Socialist Agriculture" says more than 3000 collective farms in the Ukraine are engaged in silkworm breeding. Last year, it states, they gave to the state a bigger production than in the best prewar years.

Knowing Types Of Woods Aids Todays Buyers

Although there is wood in over ninety per cent of all household furnishings, the majority of homemakers have little knowledge of the various types and their qualities.

Woods of various kinds are mixed liberally (but not indiscriminately) in the same room by leading interior decorators. Finishes of different hues often blend harmoniously and there is no hard and fast rule.

A brief explanation of the most widely used furniture woods can be a valuable aid to anyone who is planning to buy home furnishings.

Maple

The need of the colonial settlers was for simple, substantial furniture, which could be made from lumber located close at hand. Maple was readily available and was widely used. The designs our forefathers evolved were simpler, less ornate and less sophisticated than the prevalent styles of London and Paris.

Today, maple, with its rich coloring, is considered one of the most choice furniture woods, and Early American reproductions made from it are most attractive.

Birch

Birch is rated one of the strongest American cabinet woods and was used by early craftsmen as it is today by the creators of good furniture. It posseses an attractively figured grain which is enhanced by the modern stain finishes to which this wood is especially adapted. Because of its sturdy, hardy qualities, birch is used where great strength is needed, particularly frames for upholstered furniture. Other uses are for drawer slides, partitions and backing for veneer.

Walnut

Much of the furniture made today is of walnut or of walnut veneers. Walnut combines moderate weight with maximum strength. It seasons well, works well, holds up durably under usage and has beautiful grain and color.

Red Gum And Sap Gum

Although red gum traces its lineage back thousands of years, it is comparatively new in furniture manufacture. Formerly it showed a distinct tendency to twist and warp during seasoning, so it was left standing in the forest. Methods of properly seasoning it have been found during recent years, and its use has tripled.

It has a pleasing grain and color and takes finish very well, being adapted to high lighting and two-tone antique effects. In solid wood it is used for legs, posts, stretchers, frames, and supports.

Because of its adaptability to stain similar to that of other woods, it is frequently finished in imitation of them. This procedure is practical and satisfactory.

It is also used to a large extent in combination with other woods; the posts and rails are often made of red gum, with the veneered panels of a more expensive wood.

Beech

Beech lacks pronounced grain or figure; it is strong and offers excellent wearing properties. It is much used in unexposed parts—in frames and interior work, in the under sides of chairs, bureaus, and chiffoniers; and in rockers, chair rungs, drawer slides, and slides for extension tables.

Softwoods

Within recent years, many western softwoods have been used in furniture manufacture. They have proved serviceable for many uses.

The outstanding property of these woods is the ease with which they may be worked. The species are: Douglas fir, Sitka spruce, west coast hemlock, Western red cedar, pondosa pine, California white pine, Idaho white pine, sugar pine, and redwood.

Mahogany

Of the imported woods, mahogany is the best known. Mahogany does not warp easily and takes stain well. It must not be misused, for its beauty may be marred by abuse. It comes from the West Indies and Central and South America.

Red Silk Booms

MOSCOW — (AP) — The newspaper "Socialist Agriculture" says more than 3000 collective farms in the Ukraine are engaged in silkworm breeding. Last year, it states, they gave to the state a bigger production than in the best prewar years.

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

By JACK HEWINS
(For Whitney Martin)

SEATTLE, July 14 (AP) — Those confounded salmon are cluttering up the water again.

It's gotten so bad in Puget Sound (that's our front yard) that a fisherman with a hook and a line and luck is liable to land one almost any time he goes fishing. A whopper you wouldn't believe if he didn't pack it in ice and express it to you.

It's gotten so bad that commercial fishing boats are making money hand over fin.

Even down on the Columbia River, where the federal government had built 40 dams by 1942—and is still at it—the big old battling chinook is rallying in the little bit of water they've left him. Milo Moore, state director of fisheries, has a map about it in his office down at the Smith tower. The area lost to the salmon or partially lost is shaded—and there isn't enough white space left to bait your hook.

Elaborate fishways — everything from ladders to elevators—help a large number of salmon get by Bonneville Dam. "Yet it is known," said the Oregon and Washington fisheries chiefs in a joint statement, "that there is a substantial fish loss in both upstream and downstream migrants."

Fish that get past Bonneville, some 120 airline miles from the sea, ram their heads into impassable grand Coulee Dam or run into problems like the Yakima Irrigation Project. Stretches of the Yakima River go bone dry in the summer. Hundreds of miles where the salmon swam 50 years ago are now kaput.

Down below Bonneville, almost every tributary on the Washington side now has its own fish hatchery. Oregon, on its side of the river, is following suit. Some of these streams were barren from neglect or pollution only a few years ago.

Last year, said Moore, one of these short rivers entertained more returning salmon than it had for 20 years. To restock, the fisheries experts brought in salmon eggs from other streams, raised the young fish until they were large enough to fend for themselves, and released them in the fishless river. When they returned from their three-to-five year jaunt to some unknown salmon paradise in the pacific, they headed back up their adopted stream to spawn.

The west still has a salmon river which can come close to matching the Columbia in gallos and mileage. It's the Fraser, running north from Vancouver, British Columbia, and fanning its fingery tributaries a thousand miles north and east into Canada.

Canadian and U. S. fishing boats swarm in Puget Sound when the fish are running, but they can't stop 'em all. Moore has a picture of spawning salmon in a shallow stream far up in the Fraser watershed, and it looks like you could walk across on their backs without wetting your shoes.

Yet the Fraser nearly died like the Columbia. The dumping of rock from construction work and a later slide formed a cataract some 35 years ago the salmon could not pass. Finally Canada and the United States got together on the problem and, in 1945, completed a fishway around the barrier, known as "Hell's Gate." Back home came the salmon.

The sportsmen and commercial fishermen got a new ally when cities on the sound decided to salvage what was once a major industry. Dozens of abandoned canneries dotted the Puget Sound shores. Today many of these are back in operation. Whatcom County, in northwest Washington, has set itself up as a model in the fight against pollution and other enemies of salmon.

The northwest is doing something about the big one that almost got away.

Majors Have Full Schedule After All-Star Layoff

Cleveland-Athletic Twin-Bill Features

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—Major league baseball teams go back to work tomorrow after a three-day vacation for the all-star game. And the schedules show they're trying to make up for the lost time in a hurry.

Twelve games are on tap, including the season's first twilight-night doubleheader and the first afternoon and night twin bill.

Cleveland's American League leading Indians and the second place Athletics tangle in the twilight-night affair in Philadelphia. As has been the case every other time the A's and Indians have met this season, first place is at stake in the series.

The New York Yankees, who trail Cleveland by only 2½ games, will be at home tomorrow night to the seventh-place St. Louis Browns. Detroit and the Red Sox will play an afternoon game and a night game in Boston while Chicago and the Senators are billed for a single night game in Washington.

The National League will see what can be done about the Boston Braves. Billy Southworth's club opened a 5½ game gap over the second place Pittsburgh Pirates before the All-star layoff.

It's the first time the leading club has been that far ahead all year in the senior circuit. The Braves open a western tour with a daylight doubleheader in Chicago. The Cubs, stranded in last place, finished up their pre-vacation business with three straight decisions over the Pirates.

Third place St. Louis will be at home against Philadelphia in a night game. Brooklyn plays an after-dark contest in Cincinnati and New York visits Pittsburgh for an afternoon doubleheader.

Three Interstate Games Listed For Saturday

Two postponed games in the Interstate Baseball League have been rescheduled for Saturday, Bob Whip, secretary, announced last night.

The Centerville Reds will play the Loyal Order of Moose at Stitcher Field and the Moorefield American Legion will invade Barrelville. Both contests will get under way at 4 p. m., E.D.T.

In a regular scheduled game Saturday the Hyndman V.F.W. will play the Cumberland F.O. Eagles at Community Park at 4 p. m.

Umpires Named For Bi-State League

Umpire assignments for the weekend for the Bi-State League were announced last night. They are as follows:

SATURDAY—Barton at Lonaconing, Johnson and Layman; Amvets at Keyser, Davis and Lowrey; Frostburg at Westvaco, Kelly and Atkinson; Queen City at Mt. Savage, Middleton and G. Warnick; Hyndman at Midland, Thompson and Chappel.

SUNDAY—Mt. Savage at Lonaconing, C. Warnick and Atkinson; Westvaco at Midland, Middleton and Kelly; Amvets at Queen City (Stitcher Field), Davis and Thompson; Barton at Hyndman, Johnson and Lowrey; Keyser at Frostburg, DiUbaldo and Layman.

Americans Lose

NOORDWICJ - ON - THE - SEA, Holland, July 14 (AP)—Henri Cochet and Roger Dubucq of France, toyed with Bob Falkenburg and William Robertson, both of California, while defeating them today in the doubles play of an international tennis tournament. The score was 6-0, 6-4.

Amvets Continue Unbeaten Streak

Defeat North End Tossers, 8 to 0

The undefeated Cumberland Amvets kept their record unblemished yesterday by stopping the runner-up North End tossers 8-0 in a City Softball League tilt at Stitcher Field.

The league-leaders chalked up their seventh straight victory in the second half of the race. It was the second defeat in seven starts for the North Enders.

In other tilts Mower's won their first game of the campaign by defeating Ballard's 8 to 5 at Campobello, while Reed's Electricians took Joe's Crusaders into camp by a 12-9 count at East Side. The Lacy-Astor Cab tilt at Taylor Field was postponed because of wet grounds.

George, Summers, P. Mertens and Sheetz each collected two hits for the league-leaders while Brown, Anan and Welch shared the three bingles given up by Sheetz.

Larkin, Cramblitt and Goss each banged out two safeties for Mower's Bakery and Cage blasted a homer with one on in the fourth inning for the winners. Fuller, Bopp and Spier had Ballard's three hits.

Elliott and Smith each smashed out a homerun and a double to pace Reed's nine-hit attack against the Crusaders. Cleggett and Banks had two bingles for the losers. The scores:

AT STITCHER FIELD

AMVETS	003 103 1—8	12	3
NORTH END	000 000 0—0	3	4

Cumberland Golfers Top Bedford For Fourth Win

Defeat Pennsylvania Team 23 1-2 To 6 1-2

The Cumberland Country Club golf team copped its fourth inter-club match yesterday by easily turning back the Bedford Country Club golfers by a 23½ to 6½ score.

Cumberland has lost only two matches to date, dropping meetings with Hagerstown and Somerset and will play a return match with Bedford at a later date not yet decided.

The locals blanked their foes in six of the 10 foursomes, split one, copped two 2-1 decisions and lost only one foursome. J. Waugh and A. Widner dropped the only match to B. Geinger and J. M. Reed of Bedford.

Widner, who went around the Somerset course the wrong way several weeks ago, was again off his game and doomed his team to their only matchplay loss.

C. S. "Bill" Catherman proved decidedly on in his game as he hammered the par 71 Cumberland course for a neat 67, going around the back nine in just 30 strokes, five under par for that distance. He putted only nine times on the nine holes, two-putting on one hole but chipping in on another to make up the difference.

Carroll Boggs, club pro, stated after the match that the entire Cumberland team played exceptionally fine golf, bettering any play of the season heretofore. The scores:

Carroll Boggs and C. S. Catherman, Cumberland, defeated Ralph Leasure and Gordon Stroup, 3 and 0.

Clifton Van Roby and Ed Mattingly, Cumberland, defeated Fred Davidson and Cal Heckerman, 3 and 0.

R. Lacy and L. Helmer, Cumberland, defeated M. Esper and Robert Brooks, 2 and 1.

J. Beacham and Jack Manley, Cumberland, defeated W. Waugh and Paul Koontz, 3 and 0.

Dr. J. K. Rozum and B. Wright, Cumberland, defeated J. Smokey and N. Leader, 2 and 1.

D. Sigel and J. McClure, Cumberland, defeated Jack Blackburn and Joe Lund, 3 and 0.

George Garlitz and F. Blaul, Cumberland, defeated L. Cohen and E. Studebaker, 3 and 0.

B. Geinger and J. M. Reed, Bedford, defeated J. Waugh and A. Widner, 3 and 0.

John Mosner and John Kelly, Cumberland, defeated M. Cohen and W. D. Blair, 3 and 0.

F. McCagh and P. Fletcher, Cumberland, tied John Hull and T. Garner, 1½ and 1½.

Ridgeley Legion Tops Brokers, 9-8

The Ridgeley Legion tossers, first half winners of the Ridgeley Softball League copped their first game in the second half yesterday at Ridgeley by downing the Brokers, 9-8, after spotting the losers seven runs in the first inning.

Lindsay collected three hits for the winners including a homer while Phillips also hit a four-bagger for Ridgeley. Clites and Day had two hits apiece for the Brokers.

Dixie will meet the Independents today at Ridgeley and tomorrow Western Maryland plays Morgan's School in games scheduled the remainder of the week.

A league meeting will be held in the American Legion home in Ridgeley Monday, July 19 at 8 p. m. The score:

BROKERS	700 000 1—8	11	7
RIDGELEY	205 020 x—9	7	1

Rhodes and Malamphy. Thompson and Wilson.

Potomac Valley Cubs Defeat Corriganville

Collecting eight runs in the last two innings the Potomac Valley Cubs routed Corriganville today in a County Softball League game by the score of 11-1.

Sherman paced the attack with three hits including two doubles while Thompson hit two four-baggers for the winners. The score:

POTOMAC VALLEY	111 002 6—11	14	0
CORRIGANVILLE	010 000 0— 1	3	2

J. Armstrong and Sherman. D. Vetters and Clauson.

SEMI-PRO TOURNEY GAMES POSTPONED BECAUSE OF RAIN

WESTERNPORT, July 14 — The scheduled games between the Cumberland Amvets and the Fort Belvoir teams and Westvaco and Damascus, Pa., tossers today at Westernport in the semi-pro baseball tournament were postponed because of rain and wet grounds.

Tourney officials announced that the tourney would continue tomorrow at Memorial Park with three games slated and two games would be played Friday.

Games tomorrow will find Westvaco and Damascus playing at 12:30; Barton meeting Klondike at 3:00 p. m.; and Lonaconing colliding with the Cumberland American Legion tossers at 5:30.

Friday the Amvets will play their game with Fort Belvoir at 5 o'clock and Damascus will meet a team yet to be drawn at 2:30 p. m.

Century Tossers Edge Peck's, 2-1

Cop 19th Victory In Frostburg Loop

FROSTBURG, July 14—The Century A. C. tossers, leading the Frostburg City Softball League, came within one game of clinching first place by scoring their 19th victory of the season over the Peck's team yesterday by a 2-1 score.

In the only other tussle played in the loop yesterday Stoops won an extra-inning tilt from Twigg's Restaurant, 7-4.

Century tallied the winning run in the fifth inning of their game scoring on three straight singles by Meagher, Hughes and Jackson. Hughes topped the winners' 12-hit attack with three bingles and Meagher and Jackson had two hits apiece. Coleman lead the losers with two bingles.

Lefty Bruce was the batting star for Stoops collecting a homer and double as his teammates pounded over four runs in the eighth frame to break a 3-3 tie. Skidmore had three hits for Twigg's. The scores:

AT BALL PARK

Grace Baptist Rally Wins Sunday School Softball Championship

A two-run rally in the bottom half of the final inning enabled the Grace Baptist tossers to win the YMCA Sunday School Softball League championship at Fort Hill yesterday as they defeated Grace Methodist by a score of 6 to 5. The victory gave the winners the series, two games to one.

John Moulton's double with Dick Widdows on second scored the winning run in the sveenth after Widdows had tied the score with a single scoring Ronnie Chapman.

Paul and George McGregor had three hits apiece to lead the Grace Baptist attack while George Stevenson and Eddie Haines each had two bingles for the losers. The score:

HE'S WORTHOWNING-- Yes, that's the name of one of the many thoroughbreds now quartered at Fairgo awaiting the opening of the Cumberland Fair Association's 10-day meeting next Tuesday. Worthowning is a 13-year-old gelding, perhaps the oldest horse stabled at the local half mile oval. He's started in 317 races, finished "in the money" 185 times and has won $40,705. J. Louis Garthright, shown in the above photo, is the owner and trainer of the veteran campaigner. He obtained Worthowning in a claiming race eight years ago.

Luck—And The Pennant

Some time back we were discussing the affairs of baseball's state with Connie Mack. The part that luck plays came up for some chatter.

"In my opinion luck plays a small part, a very small part," Mr. Mack said, "with 154 games to play. There is only one spot that luck can figure rather heavily. This could be in some injury or illness striking at a key player, one who can't be replaced. This is about the worst luck you can get," he said.

So the Braves can be charged with the worst luck of the season in losing Eddie Stanky for practically the remainder of the season. For in spite of what Messrs. Branch Rickey and Leo Durocher thought about it, Stanky has been the most valuable, the most useful second baseman in the National League. His absence from Brooklyn has accounted in large part for most of the Dodgers' doldrums earlier in the race. It has accounted for a loss of 100,000 in attendance, due to so many games lost that Stanky's presence could have won.

When the Stanky blow fell, Billy Southworth had just organized his cast into the most formidable team in the league. It had good catching and certainly one of the soundest pitching staffs in Johnny Sain, Warren Spahn, Bill Voiselle and Vernon Bickford.

The Braves had a good hitting outfield on hand. But above all in Eddie Stanky and Alvin Dark, the Braves had the strongest second-base combination in the circuit. And it might be added that Stanky was largely responsible for young Dark's fine play and his marked improvement.

On the day Stanky was hurt, both Dark and Eddie were hitting .320. Both were among the first five among the league's best hitters. As a defensive combination they had no superior pair to face. Just how Stanky's substitute will work out has yet to be shown over a long stretch.

But it is too much to expect he will be another spark plug who wasn't good enough for the Dodgers, but was good enough to help carry a rival team far beyond the Dodgers' ranking at the time he was hurt.

This could easily be the wrecking bad luck that Connie Mack was talking about. The Braves may win the pennant without Stanky. With the pepper box around they were the best team in the league, the team one had to pick as the probable pennant winner. You know what would happen to the Cardinals if they lost Stan Musial or where the Indians would be without Lou Boudreau.

Mr. Mack And His Athletics

The fact that a majority of the experts, prophets, soothsayers, etc., are still waiting for the Athletics to crack hasn't annoyed Connie too greatly. Still he hasn't liked it too much. The records show that he has the soundest and most consistent pitching staff in the league.

"And the facts show," Mr. Mack tells you, "that we have just about as good a ball club as the Yankees, Indians or Red Sox in other departments. It isn't as fast as it might be but it can hit and field and I certainly know of no other club that has more spirit. No club that has been up around the front for three playing months can be considered

Buffalo Names Coach

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 14. (AP)—Appointment of Frank Clair, Purdue University end coach, as head football coach at the University of Buffalo was announced today.

Clair, former Ohio State star who played professional football with the Washington Redskins, will succeed Jim Peelle, who continues as director of athletics.

FROSTBURG TO PLAY MT. SAVAGE 1ST TIME IN BI-STATE TODAY

The halfway mark has been passed in the Bi-State Baseball League but believe it, or not, Frostburg and Mt. Savage expect to clash for the first time this season when they play off the postponed game of May 16 at 5:30 o'clock today in Mt. Savage.

Rain washed out their initial meeting.

Today's game will be the 20th of the season for Frostburg and the 21st for Mt. Savage.

Frostburg has won 13 out of 19 and Mt. Savage has won nine and lost 11.

Cubs Defeat Naval Reserve Team 11-9

A three-run rally in the sixth inning enabled the Casino Cubs to edge the Naval Reserve 11-9 in a City Junior Softball League battle.

Dehaven, B. Raygor and Emerick had two hits apiece for the winners with the latter getting a triple. Villegas collected three bingles for the Naval Reserve. The score:

Lloyd Mangrum Favorite To Cop Dapper Dan Show

May Lead Hogan As Top Money Winner

PITTSBURGH, July 14—(AP)—The effort of lean Lloyd Mangrum to supplant Ben Hogan as top 1948 money winner adds zing to the $16,500 Dapper Dan invitational golf tournament opening tomorrow.

The tournament spreads 72 holes of firing over four days at rolling Alcoma Country Club, lengthened to 6,850 yards for this test.

George Schneiter, PGA tournament manager, said Hogan probably will not be a starter because of "tournamentitis," a generally run-down condition resulting from a long stretch of competition which led him to both PGA and Open titles.

The grind also put Belting Ben in front of the money-making field with $20,197.50 in 1948 earnings. But Mangrum, a former Open champ, is pressing him closely with $19,146.90.

Mangrum can pass Hogan by finishing from first to fourth in a field which has been further levelled off by th absence of Bobby Locke and Sammy Snead, as well as Hogan.

First money for the visiting pros is $2,600; second $1,900; third $1,350, and fourth $1,200. Other places range downward to $100 for 25th.

Additionally district pros will divide $1,000 for the top order of their finish.

Mangrum, a Californian now playing out of Niles, Ill., by no means is a lop-sided favorite. Favored roles are divided among at least nine others including Skip Alexander, Lexington, N. C., fourth in tournament earnings; colorful Jimmy Demaret, Ojai, Calif., fifth; Dutch Harrison, Alberquerque, New Mexico, seventh, and Dr. Cary Middlecoff, golfing Memphis, Tenn., dentist, who is eighth in earnings.

Office Is Established

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—Presidency of the American Football League became a full-time job today with the establishment of an office here for Joe Rosentover of Clifton, N. J. Rosentover has been president for many years but previously handled the circuit's business in his spare time.

Worthowning Is Racing 12th Year, In Money 185 Times In 317 Races

One of the most remarkable thoroughbreds stabled at Fairgo for the 10-day race meeting of the Cumberland Fair Association, which opens one week from today, is Worthowning, the 13-year-old gelding owned by J. L. Garthright.

In 12 years of racing, the aging bangtail has been in the money 185 times in 317 starts and has won purses totaling $40,705.

During the recent meet at Charles Town, W. Va., the Garthright ace won two races and his record for the year is five times in the money in eight starts.

And during his long racing career Worthowning has established records on several tracks.

There are not many horses now racing in America that have started over 300 races and can still down the winner's share of the purse. But Worthowning can claim both honors.

Here's Worthowning's record to date:

Are Confident As They Leave; Get Big Sendoff

$10,000 Is Added To Expense Fund

By DAVIS J. WALSH
N. S. Sports Writer

ABOARD THE S S AMERICA, At Sea, July 14. (INS)—A confident, happy United States olympic aggregation of some 300 super-performers is London-bound tonight in search of the glory that lies in the ancient olive wreath talisman of olympic games victory.

Promptly at 4 p. m. (EDT) this trim, flag-bedecked queen of the American merchant marine left her New York dock with a sendoff of music and speech-making that—enthusiastic though it was—was no more than fitting for such a galaxy of American athletic champions.

Olympics Begin July 29

The American olympians now riding the waves on this beautiful ship constitute the bulk of the United States contestants who will compete for their country in the olympic games beginning in England July 29th.

But more stars soon will be on their way. Others will follow tomorrow on the Queen Elizabeth, and a few will fly the ocean to complete Uncle Sam's olympic complement of 432 entrants.

There was an historic feeling about today's sailing — a feeling deeply significant over and beyond the fact that this is the first voyage of its kind in twelve years.

A war has rocked the world since that last trip aboard the old liner Manhattan, enroute to Berlin.

But then, as now, the Americans sailed in high fettle.

Confidence ran high as athletes and officials settled down to the first night at sea after the gala leave-taking this afternoon.

Even Avery Brundage, oft - embattled president of the United States Olympic Committee, for once —if only temporarily—is not in disagreement with anybody. He thinks we will won, too.

In fact, he regards this as the greatest team ever assembled under the Stars and Stripes.

Track Team Confident

While there may be ample room for argument on that point, the fact remains that we have the team which the rest of the world will be out to beat, and with certainty of success in some individual events.

One of our major objectives—of many such objectives — is shared jointly by the 65-man track and field team aboard this ship.

To it is delegated the task of maintaining American supremacy which goes all the way back to first of the modern olympics in 1896.

The spike-shoe brigade is as confident as all the other athletes, despite such notable absentees as Gil Dodds, our best miler who was deprived by injury of getting into the tryouts, and Chuck Fonville, our best shot putter.

The latter made the tryouts all right, but failed to make the olympic squad.

Other than the absence of Dodds and Fonville, the American contingent is the best that can be had and bears an unmistakable stamp of all-around class.

Besides the horde of athletes who take up most of the room on the American, the liner also is weighted with equipment lashed to decks and secured in the holds, plus vast stores of food stuffs.

The food will be augmented from time to time by plane to keep the foraging in depleted England from becoming a major problem.

$10,000 Added To Fund

As we steam toward our objective —or obsession—tonight, the athletes and the officials all are in high spirits and notably pleased with the farewell ceremonies which attended departure.

Last minute announcement by the New York Athletic Club that it had voted to contribute $10,000 to help off-set an olympic fund deficit did not appreciably sadden our brass hats.

This news was brought to the festivities soon after speech-making had come to a close between the strains suppled by the New York Department of Sanitation band, which closed with "God Bless America."

Fire-fighting tugs shot streams of water into the air and ships docked in the Hudson joined in whistling a rousing sendoff, as the America's lines were castoff and the journey started.

Vincent R. Impellitteri, president of the New York City Council and acting mayor, made the principal address wishing the team godspeed, and replies were made by Brundage and Dan Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the AAU.

K. Of C. Play Eagles In League's Top Game

Fighting to gain a berth in the first division and a spot in the Shaughnessy playoffs, the Knights of Columbus will do battle with the Eagles, leaders of the Rocking Chair Softball League, in the circuit's top game today on the Rolling Mill diamond.

Away to a bad start, the Knights have rallied in the past several weeks and are now only two games out of the first division, holding 6th place with six wins and 10 losses.

Other games today find the Moose playing the Amvets at Campobello, Potomac Edison facing the B.P.O. Elks at Fort Hill and the Outdoor Club tangling with Celanese at East Side Field.

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

By JACK HEWINS
(For Whitney Martin)

SEATTLE, July 14 (AP) — Those confounded salmon are cluttering up the water again.

It's gotten so bad in Puget Sound (that's our front yard) that a fisherman with a hook and a line and luck is liable to land one almost any time he goes fishing. A whopper you wouldn't believe if he didn't pack it in ice and express it to you.

It's gotten so bad that commercial fishing boats are making money hand over fin.

Even down on the Columbia River, where the federal government had built 40 dams by 1942—and is still at it—the big old battling chinook is rallying in the little bit of water they've left him. Milo Moore, state director of fisheries, has a map about it in his office down at the Smith tower. The area lost to the salmon or partially lost is shaded—and there isn't enough white space left to bait your hook.

Elaborate fishways — everything from ladders to elevators—help a large number of salmon get by Bonneville Dam. "Yet it is known," said the Oregon and Washington fisheries chiefs in a joint statement, "that there is a substantial fish loss in both upstream and downstream migrants."

Fish that get past Bonneville, some 120 airline miles from the sea, ram their heads into impassable grand Coulee Dam or run into problems like the Yakima Irrigation Project. Stretches of the Yakima River go bone dry in the summer. Hundreds of miles where the salmon swam 50 years ago are now kaput.

Down below Bonneville, almost every tributary on the Washington side now has its own fish hatchery. Oregon, on its side of the river, is following suit. Some of these streams were barren from neglect or pollution only a few years ago.

Last year, said Moore, one of these short rivers entertained more returning salmon than it had for 20 years. To restock, the fisheries experts brought in salmon eggs from other streams, raised the young fish until they were large enough to fend for themselves, and released them in the fishless river. When they returned from their three-to-five year jaunt to some unknown salmon paradise in the pacific, they headed back up their adopted stream to spawn.

The west still has a salmon river which can come close to matching the Columbia in gallos and mileage. It's the Fraser, running north from Vancouver, British Columbia, and fanning its fingery tributaries a thousand miles north and east into Canada.

Canadian and U. S. fishing boats swarm in Puget Sound when the fish are running, but they can't stop 'em all. Moore has a picture of spawning salmon in a shallow stream far up in the Fraser watershed, and it looks like you could walk across on their backs without wetting your shoes.

Yet the Fraser nearly died like the Columbia. The dumping of rock from construction work and a later slide formed a cataract some 35 years ago the salmon could not pass. Finally Canada and the United States got together on the problem and, in 1945, completed a fishway around the barrier, known as "Hell's Gate." Back home came the salmon.

The sportsmen and commercial fishermen got a new ally when cities on the sound decided to salvage what was once a major industry. Dozens of abandoned canneries dotted the Puget Sound shores. Today many of these are back in operation. Whatcom County, in northwest Washington, has set itself up as a model in the fight against pollution and other enemies of salmon.

The northwest is doing something about the big one that almost got away.

Amvets Continue Unbeaten Streak

Defeat North End Tossers, 8 to 0

The undefeated Cumberland Amvets kept their record unblemished yesterday by stopping the runner-up North End tossers 8-0 in a City Softball League tilt at Stitcher Field.

The league-leaders chalked up their seventh straight victory in the second half of the race. It was the second defeat in seven starts for the North Enders.

In other tilts Mower's won their first game of the campaign by defeating Ballard's 8 to 5 at Campobello, while Reed's Electricians took Joe's Crusaders into camp by a 12-9 count at East Side. The Lacy-Astor Cab tilt at Taylor Field was postponed because of wet grounds.

George, Summers, P. Mertens and Sheetz each collected two hits for the league-leaders while Brown, Anan and Welch shared the three bingles given up by Sheetz.

Larkin, Cramblitt and Goss each banged out two safeties for Mower's Bakery and Cage blasted a homer with one on in the fourth inning for the winners. Fuller, Bopp and Spier had Ballard's three hits.

Elliott and Smith each smashed out a homerun and a double to pace Reed's nine-hit attack against the Crusaders. Cleggett and Banks had two bingles for the losers. The scores:

Majors Have Full Schedule After All-Star Layoff

Cleveland-Athletic Twin-Bill Features

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—Major league baseball teams go back to work tomorrow after a three-day vacation for the all-star game. And the schedules show they're trying to make up for the lost time in a hurry.

Twelve games are on tap, including the season's first twilight-night doubleheader and the first afternoon and night twin bill.

Cleveland's American League leading Indians and the second place Athletics tangle in the twilight-night affair in Philadelphia. As has been the case every other time the A's and Indians have met this season, first place is at stake in the series.

The New York Yankees, who trail Cleveland by only 2½ games, will be at home tomorrow night to the seventh-place St. Louis Browns. Detroit and the Red Sox will play an afternoon game and a night game in Boston while Chicago and the Senators are billed for a single night game in Washington.

The National League will see what can be done about the Boston Braves. Billy Southworth's club opened a 5½ game gap over the second place Pittsburgh Pirates before the All-star layoff.

It's the first time the leading club has been that far ahead all year in the senior circuit. The Braves open a western tour with a daylight doubleheader in Chicago. The Cubs, stranded in last place, finished up their pre-vacation business with three straight decisions over the Pirates.

Third place St. Louis will be at home against Philadelphia in a night game. Brooklyn plays an after-dark contest in Cincinnati and New York visits Pittsburgh for an afternoon doubleheader.

Three Interstate Games Listed For Saturday

Two postponed games in the Interstate Baseball League have been rescheduled for Saturday, Bob Whip, secretary, announced last night.

The Centerville Reds will play the Loyal Order of Moose at Stitcher Field and the Moorefield American Legion will invade Barrelville. Both contests will get under way at 4 p. m., E.D.T.

In a regular scheduled game Saturday the Hyndman V.F.W. will play the Cumberland F.O. Eagles at Community Park at 4 p. m.

Umpires Named For Bi-State League

Umpire assignments for the weekend for the Bi-State League were announced last night. They are as follows:

SATURDAY—Barton at Lonaconing, Johnson and Layman; Amvets at Keyser, Davis and Lowrey; Frostburg at Westvaco, Kelly and Atkinson; Queen City at Mt. Savage, Middleton and G. Warnick; Hyndman at Midland, Thompson and Chappel.

SUNDAY—Mt. Savage at Lonaconing, C. Warnick and Atkinson; Westvaco at Midland, Middleton and Kelly; Amvets at Queen City (Stitcher Field), Davis and Thompson; Barton at Hyndman, Johnson and Lowrey; Keyser at Frostburg, DiUbaldo and Layman.

Americans Lose

NOORDWICJ - ON - THE - SEA, Holland, July 14 (AP)—Henri Cochet and Roger Dubucq of France, toyed with Bob Falkenburg and William Robertson, both of California, while defeating them today in the doubles play of an international tennis tournament. The score was 6-0, 6-4.

Cumberland Golfers Top Bedford For Fourth Win

Defeat Pennsylvania Team 23 1-2 To 6 1-2

The Cumberland Country Club golf team copped its fourth inter-club match yesterday by easily turning back the Bedford Country Club golfers by a 23½ to 6½ score.

Cumberland has lost only two matches to date, dropping meetings with Hagerstown and Somerset and will play a return match with Bedford at a later date not yet decided.

The locals blanked their foes in six of the 10 foursomes, split one, copped two 2-1 decisions and lost only one foursome. J. Waugh and A. Widner dropped the only match to B. Geinger and J. M. Reed of Bedford.

Widner, who went around the Somerset course the wrong way several weeks ago, was again off his game and doomed his team to their only matchplay loss.

C. S. "Bill" Catherman proved decidedly on in his game as he hammered the par 71 Cumberland course for a neat 67, going around the back nine in just 30 strokes, five under par for that distance. He putted only nine times on the nine holes, two-putting on one hole but chipping in on another to make up the difference.

Carroll Boggs, club pro, stated after the match that the entire Cumberland team played exceptionally fine golf, bettering any play of the season heretofore. The scores:

Carroll Boggs and C. S. Catherman, Cumberland, defeated Ralph Leasure and Gordon Stroup, 3 and 0.

Clifton Van Roby and Ed Mattingly, Cumberland, defeated Fred Davidson and Cal Heckerman, 3 and 0.

R. Lacy and L. Helmer, Cumberland, defeated M. Esper and Robert Brooks, 2 and 1.

J. Beacham and Jack Manley, Cumberland, defeated W. Waugh and Paul Koontz, 3 and 0.

Dr. J. K. Rozum and B. Wright, Cumberland, defeated J. Smokey and N. Leader, 2 and 1.

D. Sigel and J. McClure, Cumberland, defeated Jack Blackburn and Joe Lund, 3 and 0.

George Garlitz and F. Blaul, Cumberland, defeated L. Cohen and E. Studebaker, 3 and 0.

B. Geinger and J. M. Reed, Bedford, defeated J. Waugh and A. Widner, 3 and 0.

John Mosner and John Kelly, Cumberland, defeated M. Cohen and W. D. Blair, 3 and 0.

F. McCagh and P. Fletcher, Cumberland, tied John Hull and T. Garner, 1½ and 1½.

Ridgeley Legion Tops Brokers, 9-8

The Ridgeley Legion tossers, first half winners of the Ridgeley Softball League copped their first game in the second half yesterday at Ridgeley by downing the Brokers, 9-8, after spotting the losers seven runs in the first inning.

Lindsay collected three hits for the winners including a homer while Phillips also hit a four-bagger for Ridgeley. Clites and Day had two hits apiece for the Brokers.

Dixie will meet the Independents today at Ridgeley and tomorrow Western Maryland plays Morgan's School in games scheduled the remainder of the week.

A league meeting will be held in the American Legion home in Ridgeley Monday, July 19 at 8 p. m. The score:

BROKERS	700 000 1—8	11	7
RIDGELEY	205 020 x—9	7	1

Rhodes and Malamphy. Thompson and Wilson.

Potomac Valley Cubs Defeat Corriganville

Collecting eight runs in the last two innings the Potomac Valley Cubs routed Corriganville today in a County Softball League game by the score of 11-1.

Sherman paced the attack with three hits including two doubles while Thompson hit two four-baggers for the winners. The score:

POTOMAC VALLEY ..	111 002 6—11	14	0
CORRIGANVILLE	010 000 0— 1	3	2

J. Armstrong and Sherman. D. Vetters and Clauson.

SEMI-PRO TOURNEY GAMES POSTPONED BECAUSE OF RAIN

WESTERNPORT, July 14 — The scheduled games between the Cumberland Amvets and the Fort Belvoir teams and Westvaco and Damascus, Pa., tossers today at Westernport in the semi-pro baseball tournament were postponed because of rain and wet grounds.

Tourney officials announced that the tourney would continue tomorrow at Memorial Park with three games slated and two games would be played Friday.

Games tomorrow will find Westvaco and Damascus playing at 12:30; Barton meeting Klondike at 3:00 p. m.; and Lonaconing colliding with the Cumberland American Legion tossers at 5:30.

Friday the Amvets will play their game with Fort Belvoir at 5 o'clock and Damascus will meet a team yet to be drawn at 2:30 p. m.

Century Tossers Edge Peck's, 2-1

Cop 19th Victory In Frostburg Loop

FROSTBURG, July 14—The Century A. C. tossers, leading the Frostburg City Softball League, came within one game of clinching first place by scoring their 19th victory of the season over the Peck's team yesterday by a 2-1 score.

In the only other tussle played in the loop yesterday Stoops won an extra-inning tilt from Twigg's Restaurant, 7-4.

Century tallied the winning run in the fifth inning of their game scoring on three straight singles by Meagher, Hughes and Jackson. Hughes topped the winners' 12-hit attack with three bingles and Meagher and Jackson had two hits apiece. Coleman lead the losers with two bingles.

Lefty Bruce was the batting star for Stoops collecting a homer and double as his teammates pounded over four runs in the eighth frame to break a 3-3 tie. Skidmore had three hits for Twigg's. The scores:

HE'S WORTHOWNING-- Yes, that's the name of one of the many thoroughbreds now quartered at Fairgo awaiting the opening of the Cumberland Fair Association's 10-day meeting next Tuesday. Worthowning is a 13-year-old gelding, perhaps the oldest horse stabled at the local half mile oval. He's started in 317 races, finished "in the money" 185 times and has won $40,705. J. Louis Garthright, shown in the above photo, is the owner and trainer of the veteran campaigner. He obtained Worthowning in a claiming race eight years ago.

Luck—And The Pennant

Some time back we were discussing the affairs of baseball's state with Connie Mack. The part that luck plays came up for some chatter.

"In my opinion luck plays a small part, a very small part," Mr. Mack said, "with 154 games to play. There is only one spot that luck can figure rather heavily. This could be in some injury or illness striking at a key player, one who can't be replaced. This is about the worst luck you can get," he said.

So the Braves can be charged with the worst luck of the season in losing Eddie Stanky for practically the remainder of the season. For in spite of what Messrs. Branch Rickey and Leo Durocher thought about it, Stanky has been the most valuable, the most useful second baseman in the National League. His absence from Brooklyn has accounted in large part for most of the Dodgers' doldrums earlier in the race. It has accounted for a loss of 100,000 in attendance, due to so many games lost that Stanky's presence could have won.

When the Stanky blow fell, Billy Southworth had just organized his cast into the most formidable team in the league. It had good catching and certainly one of the soundest pitching staffs in Johnny Sain, Warren Spahn, Bill Voiselle and Vernon Bickford.

The Braves had a good hitting outfield on hand. But above all in Eddie Stanky and Alvin Dark, the Braves had the strongest second-base combination in the circuit. And it might be added that Stanky was largely responsible for young Dark's fine play and his marked improvement.

On the day Stanky was hurt, both Dark and Eddie were hitting .320. Both were among the first five among the league's best hitters. As a defensive combination they had no superior pair to face. Just how Stanky's substitute will work out has yet to be shown over a long stretch.

But it is too much to expect he will be another spark plug who wasn't good enough for the Dodgers, but was good enough to help carry a rival team far beyond the Dodgers' ranking at the time he was hurt.

This could easily be the wrecking bad luck that Connie Mack was talking about. The Braves may win the pennant without Stanky. With the pepper box around they were the best team in the league, the team one had to pick as the probable pennant winner. You know what would happen to the Cardinals if they lost Stan Musial or where the Indians would be without Lou Boudreau.

Mr. Mack And His Athletics

The fact that a majority of the experts, prophets, soothsayers, etc., are still waiting for the Athletics to crack hasn't annoyed Connie too greatly. Still he hasn't liked it too much. The records show that he has the soundest and most consistent pitching staff in the league.

"And the facts show," Mr. Mack tells you, "that we have just about as good a ball club as the Yankees, Indians or Red Sox in other departments. It isn't as fast as it might be but it can hit and field and I certainly know of no other club that has more spirit. No club that has been up around the front for three playing months can be considered

Buffalo Names Coach

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 14. (AP)—Appointment of Frank Clair, Purdue University end coach, as head football coach at the University of Buffalo was announced today.

Clair, former Ohio State star who played professional football with the Washington Redskins, will succeed Jim Peelle, who continues as director of athletics.

FROSTBURG TO PLAY MT. SAVAGE 1ST TIME IN BI-STATE TODAY

The halfway mark has been passed in the Bi-State Baseball League but believe it, or not, Frostburg and Mt. Savage expect to clash for the first time this season when they play off the postponed game of May 16 at 5:30 o'clock today in Mt. Savage.

Rain washed out their initial meeting.

Today's game will be the 20th of the season for Frostburg and the 21st for Mt. Savage.

Frostburg has won 13 out of 19 and Mt. Savage has won nine and lost 11.

Cubs Defeat Naval Reserve Team 11-9

A three-run rally in the sixth inning enabled the Casino Cubs to edge the Naval Reserve 11-9 in a City Junior Softball League battle.

Dehaven, B. Raygor and Emerick had two hits apiece for the winners with the latter getting a triple. Fillegas collected three bingles for the Naval Reserve. The score:

Lloyd Mangrum Favorite To Cop Dapper Dan Show

May Lead Hogan As Top Money Winner

PITTSBURGH, July 14—(AP)—The effort of lean Lloyd Mangrum to supplant Ben Hogan as top 1948 money winner adds zing to the $16,500 Dapper Dan invitational golf tournament opening tomorrow.

The tournament spreads 72 holes of firing over four days at rolling Alcoma Country Club, lengthened to 6,850 yards for this test.

George Schneiter, PGA tournament manager, said Hogan probably will not be a starter because of "tournamentitis," a generally run-down condition resulting from a long stretch of competition which led him to both PGA and Open titles.

The grind also put Belting Ben in front of the money-making field with $20,197.50 in 1948 earnings. But Mangrum, a former Open champ, is pressing him closely with $19,146.90.

Mangrum can pass Hogan by finishing from first to fourth in a field which has been further levelled off by th absence of Bobby Locke and Sammy Snead, as well as Hogan.

First money for the visiting pros is $2,600; second $1,900; third $1,350, and fourth $1,200. Other places range downward to $100 for 25th.

Additionally district pros will divide $1,000 for the top order of their finish.

Mangrum, a Californian now playing out of Niles, Ill., by no means is a lop-sided favorite. Favored roles are divided among at least nine others including Skip Alexander, Lexington, N. C., fourth in tournament earnings; colorful Jimmy Demaret, Ojai, Calif., fifth; Dutch Harrison, Alberquerque, New Mexico, seventh, and Dr. Cary Middlecoff, golfing Memphis, Tenn., dentist, who is eighth in earnings.

Office Is Established

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—Presidency of the American Football League became a full-time job today with the establishment of an office here for Joe Rosentover of Clifton, N. J. Rosentover has been president for many years but previously handled the circuit's business in his spare time.

Worthowning Is Racing 12th Year, In Money 185 Times In 317 Races

One of the most remarkable thoroughbreds stabled at Fairgo for the 10-day race meeting of the Cumberland Fair Association, which opens one week from today, is Worthowning, the 13-year-old gelding owned by J. L. Garthright.

In 12 years of racing, the aging bangtail has been in the money 185 times in 317 starts and has won purses totaling $40,705.

During the recent meet at Charles Town, W. Va., the Garthright ace won two races and his record for the year is five times in the money in eight starts.

Garthright got Worthowning in a claiming race in June 1940.

And during his long racing career Worthowning has established records on several tracks.

There are not many horses now racing in America that have started over 300 races and can still down the winner's share of the purse. But Worthowning can claim both honors.

Here's Worthowning's record to date:

Year	Starts	Won	2nd	3rd	Unplaced	Earnings
1937	6	0	1	0	5	$ 70
1938	16	1	0	3	12	415

Are Confident As They Leave; Get Big Sendoff

$10,000 Is Added To Expense Fund

By DAVIS J. WALSH
N. S. Sports Writer

ABOARD THE S S AMERICA, At Sea, July 14. (INS)—A confident, happy United States olympic aggregation of some 300 super-performers is London-bound tonight in search of the glory that lies in the ancient olive wreath talisman of olympic games victory.

Promptly at 4 p. m. (EDT) this trim, flag-bedecked queen of the American merchant marine left her New York dock with a sendoff of music and speech-making that—enthusiastic though it was—was no more than fitting for such a galaxy of American athletic champions.

Olympics Begin July 29

The American olympians now riding the waves on this beautiful ship constitute the bulk of the United States contestants who will compete for their country in the olympic games beginning in England July 29th.

But more stars soon will be on their way. Others will follow tomorrow on the Queen Elizabeth, and a few will fly the ocean to complete Uncle Sam's olympic complement of 432 entrants.

There was an historic feeling about today's sailing — a feeling deeply significant over and beyond the fact that this is the first voyage of its kind in twelve years.

A war has rocked the world since that last trip aboard the old liner Manhattan, enroute to Berlin.

But then, as now, the Americans sailed in high fettle.

Confidence ran high as athletes and officials settled down to the first night at sea after the gala leave-taking this afternoon.

Even Avery Brundage, oft - embattled president of the United States Olympic Committee, for once—if only temporarily—is not in disagreement with anybody. He thinks we will won, too.

In fact, he regards this as the greatest team ever assembled under the Stars and Stripes.

Track Team Confident

While there may be ample room for argument on that point, the fact remains that we have the team which the rest of the world will be out to beat, and with certainty of success in some individual events.

One of our major objectives—of many such objectives — is shared jointly by the 65-man track and field team aboard this ship.

To it is delegated the task of maintaining American supremacy which goes all the way back to first of the modern olympics in 1896.

The spike-shoe brigade is as confident as all the other athletes, despite such notable absentees as Gil Dodds, our best miler who was deprived by injury of getting into the tryouts, and Chuck Fonville, our best shot putter.

The latter made the tryouts all right, but failed to make the olympic squad.

Other than the absence of Dodds and Fonville, the American contingent is the best that can be had and bears an unmistakable stamp of all-around class.

Besides the horde of athletes who take up most of the room on the American, the liner also is weighted with equipment lashed to decks and secured in the holds, plus vast stores of food stuffs.

The food will be augmented from time to time by plane to keep the foraging in depleted England from becoming a major problem.

$10,000 Added To Fund

As we steam toward our objective—or obsession—tonight, the athletes and the officials all are in high spirits and notably pleased with the farewell ceremonies which attended departure.

Last minute announcement by the New York Athletic Club that it had voted to contribute $10,000 to help off-set an olympic fund deficit did not appreciably sadden our brass hats.

This news was brought to the festivities soon after speech-making had come to a close between the strains suppled by the New York Department of Sanitation band, which closed with "God Bless America."

Fire-fighting tugs shot streams of water into the air and ships docked in the Hudson joined in whistling a rousing sendoff, as the America's lines were castoff and the journey started.

Vincent R. Impellitteri, president of the New York City Council and acting mayor, made the principal address wishing the team godspeed, and replies were made by Brundage and Dan Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the AAU.

K. Of C. Play Eagles In League's Top Game

Fighting to gain a berth in the first division and a spot in the Shaughnessy playoffs, the Knights of Columbus will do battle with the Eagles, leaders of the Rocking Chair Softball League, in the circuit's top game today on the Rolling Mill diamond.

Away to a bad start, the Knights have rallied in the past several weeks and are now only two games out of the first division, holding 6th place with six wins and 10 losses.

Other games today find the Moose playing the Amvets at Campobello, Potomac Edison facing the B.P.O. Elks at Fort Hill and the Outdoor Club tangling with Celanese at East Side Field.

Fight Promoter Seeks Insurance From Video Loss

Lost Over $10,000 On Jack-Williams Go

By ORLO ROBERTSON

PHILADELPHIA, July 14. (AP)—There will be no more televising of major fights under the direction of Herman Taylor unless the Philadelphia promoter is insured against a loss.

Taylor made that emphatic statement today, reporting he lost close to $10,000 in promoting Ike Williams' successful defense of the lightweight title at Shibe Park last Monday night.

"I've got nothing against television," said Taylor. "Don't get me wrong."

"But I refuse to lose my money for the benefit of television sponsors. Those sponsors should be forced to cooperate with boxing promoters so that they will be insured against loss."

Taylor said he had figured he would make around $50,000, but the fight drew a disappointing crowd of 12,952 fans, who contributed to a gate of $83,787.

Television, he claimed reduced the total admissions by $60,000.

The net gate receipts were $60,762. Williams received a guarantee of $30,000 while Jack was given a check for $13,671.45, equivalent to 22½ per cent.

The veteran fight promoter said he alone was responsible for selling the television rights. "I went to a Philadelphia station and they obtained a sponsor who paid $16,000," he said.

Al Weill and Chick Wergeles, comanagers of Jack, were so opposed to televising the fight that they sought to get the sponsor to cancel the contract, Taylor said. Williams, he added, was no opposed to it since he was guaranteed at least $30,000. The champion also had an option of 37½ per cent.

Fight Is Postponed

NEW YORK, July 14. (AP)—The Kid Gavilan-Roman Alvarez bout, which was to have re-opened Madison Square Garden tonight has been postponed until July 22. The change was made necessary because the new floor in the Garden has not been completed.

Champ To Give $1,000 To U. S. Olympic Fund

PHILADELPHIA, July 14 (AP)—Ike Williams, who successfully defended his lightweight boxing title last night with a six-round knockout of Beau Jack, announced today he would give $1,000 of his winnings to the U. S. Olympic Fund.

Williams collected $30,000 for slightly more than 15 minutes of work. He returned to his Trenton, N. J. home last night but will be back Friday to present the $1,000 to Judge Harry S. McDevitt, president of the Middle Atlantic Association of the AAU.

Beau Jack's share amounted to 22½ percent or $13,671.45.

FIRST POLITICAL RACES

In the days of the ancient Olympics, each contest had 8 judges, says the Encyclopedia Americana, but oddly enough, the judges word was far from final. The Greek Senate could reverse a decision. Who says sports and politics don't mix?

Hughson Recalled

AUSTIN, Tex., July 14 (AP)—Texas weather got another boost today.

At least it was good for the Boston Red Sox, who sent pitcher Tex Hughson down here to straighten out a sore arm .

Lost Over $10,000 On Jack-Williams Go

By ORLO ROBERTSON

PHILADELPHIA, July 14. (AP)—There will be no more televising of major fights under the direction of Herman Taylor unless the Philadelphia promoter is insured against a loss.

Taylor made that emphatic statement today, reporting he lost close to $10,000 in promoting Ike Williams' successful defense of the lightweight title at Shibe Park last Monday night.

"I've got nothing against television," said Taylor. "Don't get me wrong."

"But I refuse to lose my money for the benefit of television sponsors. Those sponsors should be forced to cooperate with boxing promoters so that they will be insured against loss."

Taylor said he had figured he would make around $50,000, but the fight drew a disappointing crowd of 12,952 fans, who contributed to a gate of $83,787.

Television, he claimed reduced the total admissions by $60,000.

The net gate receipts were $60,762. Williams received a guarantee of $30,000 while Jack was given a check for $13,671.45, equivalent to 22½ per cent.

The veteran fight promoter said he alone was responsible for selling the television rights. "I went to a Philadelphia station and they obtained a sponsor who paid $16,000," he said.

Al Weill and Chick Wergeles, comanagers of Jack, were so opposed to televising the fight that they sought to get the sponsor to cancel the contract, Taylor said. Williams, he added, was no opposed to it since he was guaranteed at least $30,000. The champion also had an option of 37½ per cent.

Fight Is Postponed

NEW YORK, July 14. (AP)—The Kid Gavilan-Roman Alvarez bout, which was to have re-opened Madison Square Garden tonight has been postponed until July 22. The change was made necessary because the new floor in the Garden has not been completed.

Champ To Give $1,000 To U. S. Olympic Fund

PHILADELPHIA, July 14 (AP)—Ike Williams, who successfully defended his lightweight boxing title last night with a six-round knockout of Beau Jack, announced today he would give $1,000 of his winnings to the U. S. Olympic Fund.

Williams collected $30,000 for slightly more than 15 minutes of work. He returned to his Trenton, N. J. home last night but will be back Friday to present the $1,000 to Judge Harry S. McDevitt, president of the Middle Atlantic Association of the AAU.

Beau Jack's share amounted to 22½ percent or $13,671.45.

FIRST POLITICAL RACES

In the days of the ancient Olympics, each contest had 8 judges, says the Encyclopedia Americana, but oddly enough, the judges word was far from final. The Greek Senate could reverse a decision. Who says sports and politics don't mix?

Hughson Recalled

AUSTIN, Tex., July 14 (AP)—Texas weather got another boost today.

At least it was good for the Boston Red Sox, who sent pitcher Tex Hughson down here to straighten out a sore arm .

Frostburg Firemen To Take Final Training Lesson

Class Will Receive Diplomas July 19

FROSTBURG — Members of the Frostburg Fire Department, who have been taking the firemen's training course as outlined by the extension department of the University of Maryland, will receive their final lesson Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock.

The class has been receiving instruction from William Wilson, Midland, who completed the advanced training course at the fire service training school conducted at College Park by the University of Maryland. Wilson is rated as one of the most competent instructors in the state.

The course, divided into inside and outside lessons, includes inside instruction in all phases of fire fighting service, including apparatus handling and maintenance, water supply, hose and fire streams, ladder evolutions, fire extinguishers, salvage and ventilation, first aid gas masks and rescues. The outdoor lessons include instruction in ladder and hose evolutions, rescue evolution, salvage and small tool evolutions. Before a certificate is awarded, each student is required to perform all the duties outlined in the course of instruction.

Members of the department taking the course are Chief G. Woodrow Layman, Assistant Chiefs Jesse Jacobs and Florian Nickel, Alvin Rankin, William Close, Joseph Donahue, Charles Folk, Henry Miller, James Roy Sleeman, Robert Stewart and Joseph R. Durst, Jr.

The class will receive diplomas Monday evening, July 19, at Firemen's Hall from James Just, chief of the Fire Service School, University of Maryland, and Curtiss Larrimore, chief instructor.

Keyser Man Held In Assault Case

KEYSER, W. Va.—Bernard Malone, 23-year-old resident of Radical Hill, is being held in the Mineral County Jail here under $1,000 bond following his arrest Tuesday night by Keyser City Police on a charge of malicious assault and battery on Thomas Keys, 36, 201 Lincoln Street.

Malone was arrested following a fight at the home of the Washington-Smith American Legion Home, South Davis Street. He is alleged to have struck Keys on the head with the butt of a .410 gauge shot gun, splintering the wooden stock and twisting the iron bar inside the stock.

Keys was treated at Potomac Valley Hospital for head injuries and later discharged.

Pair Fined $5

FROSTBURG. — James McAteer, Frostburg, and Joseph Durkin, Eckhart, were found guilty at a hearing in police court Monday night on charges of being drunk and disorderly. Trial Magistrate James P. Kenney fined the pair $5 each. They were arrested early Monday by City Policemen Ronald Kreider and John E. Kerr.

Wedding On Horseback Planned In Fort Ashby

FORT ASHBY, W. Va. — A wedding on horseback will be performed here Sunday night in connection with a rodeo program sponsored by the Fort Ashby Volunteer Fire Company.

Rev. William Albright, pastor of Fort Ashby Methodist Church, will perform the ceremony uniting Marion W. Phay, Billings, Mont., and Grace S. Williams, Fort Worth, Texas. Both the prospective bride and bridegroom have been in rodeo work for a number of years.

St. Clair Named To W. Va. State Education Post

Moorefield Principal Begins Duties August 1

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—John T. St. Clair, assistant superintendent of the Hardy County schools, has been named assistant state supervisor of secondary schools by W. W. Trent, West Virginia State Superintendent of Free Schools. St. Clair will assume his new duties August 1.

St. Clair holds a master's degree and a B. S. degree from West Virginia University and attended Broadus College in Philippi for three years. He taught at Moorefield High School for one year and next served as principal of Mathias High School for four years.

He returned to Moorefield in 1938 as principal of the high and elementary schools and was named principal of the new Moorefield high school when it was built in 1941. He has served as assistant superintendent of the Hardy County schools for the past five years.

St. Clair will move with his family to Charleston as soon as living quarters are available. He will travel over the entire state supervising the secondary schools in his new duties.

St. Clair is attending a county superintendent's meeting at Jackson's Mills this week with County Superintendent Raymond S. Dispanet. The Hardy County Board of Education has not named a successor to St. Clair.

St. Clair is the retiring president of the Moorefield Lions Club and is an elder in the Moorefield Presbyterian Church. He has been active in civic affairs in Moorefield and the county.

Paw Paw Lions Name Committees For Coming Year

Crossing Signals Will Be Installed

PAW PAW, W. Va.—The Paw Paw Lions Club held its regular dinner meeting at the Lark Inn this week with almost perfect attendance to greet its incoming president, Henry Miller, Jr. The principal business before the meeting was hearing current committee reports and the appointment of standing committees.

The safety committee reported material for the new signal system to be installed by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the State Road Commission at the dangerous crossing here is on hand and that workmen will come soon for its installation. The club has been interested in this project for a couple of years.

"Andy" Andresen, a young man from Norway, who is here studying the apple industry,and acting as scoutmaster for the Boy Scout troop, showed colored pictures, which he took on a recent tour of some 30 odd states of our country.

Committee assignments include:

Attendance, E. C. Kline, chairman, Otto B. Clem, Clifford Gordon, Lloyd Hardy and Albert Simmons.

Membership, T. J. Hanrahan, chairman, R. A. Portmess and Albert Simmons.

MISS CAROLYN CROUSE

Miss Carolyn Crouse Enters Beauty Pageant At Paw Paw Monday Night

PAW PAW, W. Va.—The first Paw Paw girl to join the girls from Berkeley Springs, Romney and Oldtown, Md., in the Miss America preliminary contest to be held at the Paw Paw Theater Monday night is Miss Carolyn Crouse, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Crouse.

Five feet, two and a half inches in height, she has brown hair and blue eyes and tips the scales at 116 pounds. She collects records and books as a hobby. Her favorite sport is baseball and she likes dramatic movies.

A graduate of Paw Paw High School in 1946, Miss Crouse was valedictorian of the class, was selected to take part in the American Legion oratorical contest for two years and was a member of the Glee Club for three years.

Miss Crouse also served as editor of the school paper during her junior year, was editor of the high school annual, "Paphisco," and won a scholarship award from the American Legion.

In the talent phase of the competition Monday night, she probably will sing.

Her father is a field foreman for the Consolidated Orchard Company at Paw Paw.

Baering Down On The News

PHILADELPHIA, July 14 (INS)—Among the foreign affairs talked over by the self-funding Democrats are the efforts of the outlying Republicans to muscle into the gravy department.

The committee on prominent resignations was requested not to mention the subject until November. The temporary chairman has instructions to gavel up and down but not sideways.

If the delegates do not answer to their names with the alertness of bird dogs it is due to habit. For sixteen years they have been accustomed to reading their names backward on glass doors.

Now the Republicans are trying to arrange for them to read 'em upside down on packing cases.

TRI-STATE DEATHS

CPL. WILEY RITES

GRANTSVILLE.—A funeral service for Cpl. Elwood Milton Wiley, 20, son of Dewey and Lulu Kinsinger Wiley, near Grantsville, who was drowned July 4 in Holman Sandpit, two and a half miles north of Plattsmouth, Neb., was held Thursday afternoon in Grantsville Lutheran Church.

Rev. George E. Bowersox, pastor, officiated and interment was in Grantsville Cemetery.

Cpl. Wiley, who was attached to Squadron B, 131st A.F.B.U. at Fort Crook, had been swimming with several companions at a rest camp when he was drowned. The body was recovered after hours, but an attempt to revive him proved futile.

Cpl. Wiley was born at Lamberton, Pa. He entered the Air Force March 15, 1946, at Chanute Field, Ill. Prior to enlisting, he worked at the Carnegie Steel Mills at Clairton, Pa., where he was a member of Trinity Lutheran Church.

Surviving, beside his parents, are two sisters, Mrs. John G. Lohr and Mrs. James L. Hall; two brothers, Dale, Clairton, and Donald, at home.

McKENZIE RITES

FROSTBURG.—A funeral service for Alban McKenzie, 71, Finzel, who died Tuesday in Miners Hospital, will be held Friday at 9:30 a. m. in St. Michael's Catholic Church. Burial will be in St. Michael's Cemetery.

The Sportlight

any morning glory. If Phil Marchildon were in his 1947 shape, we'd have a nice lead already set aside with better prospects on ahead."

Whatever happens, 1948 can be set down as one of Mr. Mack's bigger years. The veteran won his first American League pennant 46 years ago in 1902. He won again in 1905, 1910, 1911, 1913, 1914, 1929, 1930 and 1931. So it has been a matter of 17 years since the tall thin old-timer has won a flag and he feels that he could make good use of his 10th pennant before retiring from the busy scene.

He had no idea this spring that he could do as well as he has to date. I feel pretty sure that back in early April, Mr. Mack gladly would have settled for a spot at the bottom of the first division.

At that time about all you could hear were the Yankees and the Red Sox. The Tigers and the Indians drew the next rounds of applause. What everyone overlooked was the value of six or seven good, consistent pitchers in a season where good pitching was extremely scarce. When such ballplayers as Eddie Joost and Hank Majeskie began acting like stars, the Athletics began showing dust to both Yankees and Red Sox.

They gave pretty fair proof of their intentions by opening the season in Boston and walloping the astonished Red Sox three times running. Shortly after this they moved up with the Cleveland Indians and began feeding Athletic dust to the rest of the league. It might be noted in this connection that Mr. Mack has also received a lot of help from Coach Al Simmons, one of the best ballplayers in American League history. Simmons in his day was not only a great hitter but also a fine defensive player. Big Al has been a leading factor in the Athletics' success and is hereby awarded the chaplet of wild peach blossoms earned by helpful aides.

It is still rather difficult to visualize the Athletics booming along in front of the A.L. pack through August and September.

But it could happen and such a victory would be the most popular win of the year. When you've passed your 86th year, there are not so many campaigns left on the charts of time.

Charles Swearman Reburial Held

MEYERSDALE, Pa.—The body of Charles Edward Swearman, aged 26 at the time of his death, was returned to Meyersdale Monday for reburial yesterday in the family plot in Union Cemetery.

Sgt. Swearman was born October 19, 1919, in Meyersdale, the son of James Swearman and Ruth Smeak Swearman. He graduated from Meyersdale High School, class of 1937, and was later employed by Glenn L. Martin, Baltimore.

Death came as the result of a B-29 crash at North Field, Tinian Island, on December 20, 1945.

His body was returned to his home base on Guam, and interment was in the Agat Military Cemetery on that island. Sgt. Swearman was serving with the 411th Bomb Squadron (VH), 502nd Bomb Group, 315th Bomb Wing, stationed at Northwest Field, Guam.

In addition to his parents he is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Paul Critchfield, Boynton; Mrs. Ethel Martincic, Rockwood; and Elaine, at home.

He was a member of the Knights of Malta, Teutonic Lodge No. 320, and Zion Evangelical Church, Meyersdale.

The service was conducted at the Konhaus Funeral Chapel at 2 p. m. yesterday. Rev. Howard K. Hilner, church pastor, officiated. Full military rites were extended by members of John C. Tressler Post No. 3504, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Charles E. Kelly Post No. 112, American Legion. Interment followed in Union Cemetery.

Plans Progress For "Field Day"

FREDERICK — Making his first formal appearance in Maryland since he was sworn into office on June 2, United States Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan will attend the Maryland Conservation Field Day which will be held on August 18 in Frederick County.

This announcement was made by Holmes D. Baker, chairman of the committee on speakers and entertainment and a director of the Field Day, who added that J. C. Dykes, assistant chief of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, will also attend.

Baker, who is president of the Maryland chapter of "Friends of the Land"—a co-sponsor of the Maryland Conservation Field Day—said an invitation to address the 25,000 to 40,000 anticipated spectators at the demonstration has been extended to Governor William Preston Lane, Jr., as well as to "one of the country's outstanding spokesmen for conservation of our natural resources."

Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the University of Maryland, will preside during the afternoon program.

Preparations were being accelerated this week to accommodate the deluge of spectators from Maryland, the District of Columbia, and surrounding eastern states who are expected to witness the demonstration.

Nearly 500 volunteer workers, operating approximately 100 pieces of machinery, will completely re-make the 175-acre dairy farm of Mrs. Nellie V. Thrasher, near Jefferson, by installing a complete program of soil and water conservation in less than eight hours. The Field Day will be held from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., Eastern Daylight Time.

Driver Forfeits Bond After Crash

KEYSER, W. Va.—Fines totaling $20 were forfeited in Police Court yesterday when two men, one charged with reckless driving and the other with speeding, failed to appear for hearings before City Judge A. A. Jordan.

R. W. Baird, Cumberland, was charged with speeding. Kenneth F. Haines, 19, Sprinfield, was charged with reckless driving after the car he was driving crashed against a large trailer truck at the intersection of Water Street and New Creek Drive Tuesday night, police said.

City police, who investigated, report that a 1936 car driven by Haines, traveling west on Water Street, ran against the truck operated by Ford G. Feltz, Bedford Road, Cumberland, who was turning off Route 220 toward Main Street.

The trailer-truck is the property of the Celanese Corporation of America. Damage to the two vehicles was estimated at $250 by the investigating officers.

Bedford County Hospital Funds Total $143,935

24 Per Cent Mark Reached In Drive

BEDFORD, Pa. — The $595,000 campaign for the Memorial Hospital of Bedford County attained 24 per cent of its goal at the initial report meeting of the Special and Memorial Gifts Division Tuesday night when a total of $143,935 was chalked up.

This total represented one week of solicitation work among a relatively few selected prospects.

The sum reported included $125,600 in special gifts, $5,250 reported in advance from the General Division, and the 10 per cent Leon Falk contingent made available of $13,085.

Special mention was made at the workers' meeting at the Fort Bedford Inn of $40,000 subscribed thus far by physicians, who have been solidly behind the movement for a voluntary, non-profit community hospital for Bedford County. Of this sum, it was announced, Dr. D. R. Sipes, owner of the Everett Hospital, a private institution, subscribed $25,000.

In the competition among communities, Everett came out on top with a total for the borough of $67,000 against $15,600 turned in by Bedford teams.

A total of 10 rooms in the new hospital have been designated as memorials by contributors, it was revealed, while a number of others are awaiting confirmation.

The $5,250 reported from the General Division which will formally launch solicitation next Tuesday night, represented the first group subscription of employes and came from 100 per cent participation by the 103 workers at the Ashcom works of the New Enterprise Stone and Lime Company.

Besides Everett and Bedford, other townships and boroughs reporting Tuesday night were as follows: Hyndman, $5,000; West Providence Township, $21,000; South Woodbury Township, $22,500; Woodbury Borough, $1,000; Broadtop Township, $3,500 and Saxton $11,000.

Paw Paw Lions Name Committees For Coming Year

Crossing Signals Will Be Installed

PAW PAW, W. Va.—The Paw Paw Lions Club held its regular dinner meeting at the Lark Inn this week with almost perfect attendance to greet its incoming president, Henry Miller, Jr. The principal business before the meeting was hearing current committee reports and the appointment of standing committees.

The safety committee reported material for the new signal system to be installed by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the State Road Commission at the dangerous crossing here is on hand and that workmen will come soon for its installation. The club has been interested in this project for a couple of years.

"Andy" Andresen, a young man from Norway, who is here studying the apple industry,and acting as scoutmaster for the Boy Scout troop, showed colored pictures, which he took on a recent tour of some 30 odd states of our country.

Committee assignments include:

Attendance, E. C. Kline, chairman, Otto B. Clem, Clifford Gordon, Lloyd Hardy and Albert Simmons.

Membership, T. J. Hanrahan, chairman, R. A. Portmess and Albert Simmons.

PAW PAW, W. Va.—The first Paw Paw girl to join the girls from Berkeley Springs, Romney and Oldtown, Md., in the Miss America preliminary contest to be held at the Paw Paw Theater Monday night is Miss Carolyn Crouse, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Crouse.

Five feet, two and a half inches in height, she has brown hair and blue eyes and tips the scales at 116 pounds. She collects records and books as a hobby. Her favorite sport is baseball and she likes dramatic movies.

A graduate of Paw Paw High School in 1946, Miss Crouse was valedictorian of the class, was selected to take part in the American Legion oratorical contest for two years and was a member of the Glee Club for three years.

Miss Crouse also served as editor of the school paper during her junior year, was editor of the high school annual, "Paphisco," and won a scholarship award from the American Legion.

In the talent phase of the competition Monday night, she probably will sing.

Her father is a field foreman for the Consolidated Orchard Company at Paw Paw.

Begins Law Practice

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — James E. Ansel, Springfield, began practicing law in the office of H. Gus Muntzing, Moorefield attorney recently. Ansel was graduated from the West Virginia University Law School last month, where he received his law degree. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree at Shepherd College.

Baering Down On The News

PHILADELPHIA, July 14 (INS)—Among the foreign affairs talked over by the self-funding Democrats are the efforts of the outlying Republicans to muscle into the gravy department.

The committee on prominent resignations was requested not to mention the subject until November. The temporary chairman has instructions to gavel up and down but not sideways.

If the delegates do not answer to their names with the alertness of bird dogs it is due to habit. For sixteen years they have been accustomed to reading their names backward on glass doors.

Now the Republicans are trying to arrange for them to read 'em upside down on packing cases.

TRI-STATE DEATHS

CPL. WILEY RITES

GRANTSVILLE.—A funeral service for Cpl. Elwood Milton Wiley, 20, son of Dewey and Lulu Kinsinger Wiley, near Grantsville, who was drowned July 4 in Holman Sandpit, two and a half miles north of Plattsmouth, Neb., was held Thursday afternoon in Grantsville Lutheran Church.

Rev. George E. Bowersox, pastor, officiated and interment was in Grantsville Cemetery.

Cpl. Wiley, who was attached to Squadron B, 131st A.F.B.U. at Fort Crook, had been swimming with several companions at a rest camp when he was drowned. The body was recovered after hours, but an attempt to revive him proved futile.

Cpl. Wiley was born at Lamberton, Pa. He entered the Air Force March 15, 1946, at Chanute Field, Ill. Prior to enlisting, he worked at the Carnegie Steel Mills at Clairton, Pa., where he was a member of Trinity Lutheran Church.

Surviving, beside his parents, are two sisters, Mrs. John G. Lohr and Mrs. James L. Hall; two brothers, Dale, Clairton, and Donald, at home.

McKENZIE RITES

FROSTBURG.—A funeral service for Alban McKenzie, 71, Finzel, who died Tuesday in Miners Hospital, will be held Friday at 9:30 a. m. in St. Michael's Catholic Church. Burial will be in St. Michael's Cemetery.

The Sportlight

any morning glory. If Phil Marchildon were in his 1947 shape, we'd have a nice lead already set aside with better prospects on ahead."

Whatever happens, 1948 can be set down as one of Mr. Mack's bigger years. The veteran won his first American League pennant 46 years ago in 1902. He won again in 1905, 1910, 1911, 1913, 1914, 1929, 1930 and 1931. So it has been a matter of 17 years since the tall thin old-timer has won a flag and he feels that he could make good use of his 10th pennant before retiring from the busy scene.

He had no idea this spring that he could do as well as he has to date. I feel pretty sure that back in early April, Mr. Mack gladly would have settled for a spot at the bottom of the first division.

At that time about all you could hear were the Yankees and the Red Sox. The Tigers and the Indians drew the next rounds of applause. What everyone overlooked was the value of six or seven good, consistent pitchers in a season where good pitching was extremely scarce. When such ballplayers as Eddie Joost and Hank Majeskie began acting like stars, the Athletics began showing dust to both Yankees and Red Sox.

They gave pretty fair proof of their intentions by opening the season in Boston and walloping the astonished Red Sox three times running. Shortly after this they moved up with the Cleveland Indians and began feeding Athletic dust to the rest of the league. It might be noted in this connection that Mr. Mack has also received a lot of help from Coach Al Simmons, one of the best ballplayers in American League history. Simmons in his day was not only a great hitter but also a fine defensive player. Big Al has been a leading factor in the Athletics' success and is hereby awarded the chaplet of wild peach blossoms earned by helpful aides.

It is still rather difficult to visualize the Athletics booming along in front of the A.L. pack through August and September.

But it could happen and such a victory would be the most popular win of the year. When you've passed your 86th year, there are not so many campaigns left on the charts of time.

Charles Swearman Reburial Held

MEYERSDALE, Pa.—The body of Charles Edward Swearman, aged 26 at the time of his death, was returned to Meyersdale Monday for reburial yesterday in the family plot in Union Cemetery.

Sgt. Swearman was born October 19, 1919, in Meyersdale, the son of James Swearman and Ruth Smeak Swearman. He graduated from Meyersdale High School, class of 1937, and was later employed by Glenn L. Martin, Baltimore.

Death came as the result of a B-29 crash at North Field, Tinian Island, on December 20, 1945.

His body was returned to his home base on Guam, and interment was in the Agat Military Cemetery on that island. Sgt. Swearman was serving with the 411th Bomb Squadron (VH), 502nd Bomb Group, 315th Bomb Wing, stationed at Northwest Field, Guam.

In addition to his parents he is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Paul Critchfield, Boynton; Mrs. Ethel Martincic, Rockwood; and Elaine, at home.

He was a member of the Knights of Malta, Teutonic Lodge No. 320, and Zion Evangelical Church, Meyersdale.

The service was conducted at the Konhaus Funeral Chapel at 2 p. m. yesterday. Rev. Howard K. Hilner, church pastor, officiated. Full military rites were extended by members of John C. Tressler Post No. 3504, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Charles E. Kelly Post No. 112, American Legion. Interment followed in Union Cemetery.

Plans Progress For "Field Day"

FREDERICK — Making his first formal appearance in Maryland since he was sworn into office on June 2, United States Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan will attend the Maryland Conservation Field Day which will be held on August 18 in Frederick County.

This announcement was made by Holmes D. Baker, chairman of the committee on speakers and entertainment and a director of the Field Day, who added that J. C. Dykes, assistant chief of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, will also attend.

Baker, who is president of the Maryland chapter of "Friends of the Land"—a co-sponsor of the Maryland Conservation Field Day—said an invitation to address the 25,000 to 40,000 anticipated spectators at the demonstration has been extended to Governor William Preston Lane, Jr., as well as to "one of the country's outstanding spokesmen for conservation of our natural resources."

Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the University of Maryland, will preside during the afternoon program.

Preparations were being accelerated this week to accommodate the deluge of spectators from Maryland, the District of Columbia, and surrounding eastern states who are expected to witness the demonstration.

Nearly 500 volunteer workers, operating approximately 100 pieces of machinery, will completely re-make the 175-acre dairy farm of Mrs. Nellie V. Thrasher, near Jefferson, by installing a complete program of soil and water conservation in less than eight hours. The Field Day will be held from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., Eastern Daylight Time.

Driver Forfeits Bond After Crash

KEYSER, W. Va.—Fines totaling $20 were forfeited in Police Court yesterday when two men, one charged with reckless driving and the other with speeding, failed to appear for hearings before City Judge A. A. Jordan.

R. W. Baird, Cumberland, was charged with speeding. Kenneth F. Haines, 19, Sprinfield, was charged with reckless driving after the car he was driving crashed against a large trailer truck at the intersection of Water Street and New Creek Drive Tuesday night, police said.

City police, who investigated, report that a 1936 car driven by Haines, traveling west on Water Street, ran against the truck operated by Ford G. Feltz, Bedford Road, Cumberland, who was turning off Route 220 toward Main Street.

The trailer-truck is the property of the Celanese Corporation of America. Damage to the two vehicles was estimated at $250 by the investigating officers.

Final Rites Held For Mayor Moran

WESTERNPORT — Funeral services for Mayor Edward S. Moran, 47, who died Sunday morning in the Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, were held yesterday morning at 10 o'clock in St. Peter's Catholic Church with requiem high mass celebrated by Rev. Charles H. Quinn, assistant pastor. Interment was in Philos Cemetery.

Numerous floral offerings were taken to the cemetery in the squad truck of Potomac Fire Company No. 2.

Active pallbearers were Thomas McGuire, John Determan, Arthur Fazenbaker, James E. Kenny, James A. Welsh, Collin Reeves, George DeWitt and Fred Wiseman.

Honorary pallbearers were Charles Biggs, Harry Biggs, John Matthews, Clarence McBee, George Kight, William C. Ravenscroft, J. Carr Getty, Francis D. Glass, John Barnard and Charles Ludwick.

All business places were closed yesterday morning in respect to the late mayor.

Church To Observe 50th Anniversary

MIDLAND.—A special service will be held at Woodland Methodist Church, Woodland, Sunday at 3 p. m. This service is in recognition of the 50th anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone of the present building. The cornerstone is dated July 17, 1898. Rev. G. C. Harris and Rev. L. M. Ferguson were the ministers at that time.

Rev. William F. Wright, superintendent of the Hagerstown District, will preach the anniversary sermon. Rev. Joseph W. Young, Cumberland, a former minister, will lead the prayer. Special music will be furnished by the choirs of the Midland and Shaft churches and by the Crowe quartet of Finzel.

Moorefield Band Wins Cash Prize

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — The Wardensville High School Band, directed by Frank Troy, Sr., won first prize of $20 as the best and largest band in the Fireman's Parade held at Mount Jackson, Virginia, Friday night.

The Wardensville band was in competition with bands in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia.

The band was attired in its new uniforms of maroon and white and won the prize as much for its precision marching and drilling as for appearance.

Bedford County Hospital Funds Total $143,935

24 Per Cent Mark Reached In Drive

BEDFORD, Pa. — The $595,000 campaign for the Memorial Hospital of Bedford County attained 24 per cent of its goal at the initial report meeting of the Special and Memorial Gifts Division Tuesday night when a total of $143,935 was chalked up.

This total represented one week of solicitation work among a relatively few selected prospects.

The sum reported included $125,600 in special gifts, $5,250 reported in advance from the General Division, and the 10 per cent Leon Falk contingent made available of $13,085.

Special mention was made at the workers' meeting at the Fort Bedford Inn of $40,000 subscribed thus far by physicians, who have been solidly behind the movement for a voluntary, non-profit community hospital for Bedford County. Of this sum, it was announced, Dr. D. R. Sipes, owner of the Everett Hospital, a private institution, subscribed $25,000.

In the competition among communities, Everett came out on top with a total for the borough of $67,000 against $15,600 turned in by Bedford teams.

A total of 10 rooms in the new hospital have been designated as memorials by contributors, it was revealed, while a number of others are awaiting confirmation.

The $5,250 reported from the General Division which will formally launch solicitation next Tuesday night, represented the first group subscription of employes and came from 100 per cent participation by the 103 workers at the Ashcom works of the New Enterprise Stone and Lime Company.

Besides Everett and Bedford, other townships and boroughs reporting Tuesday night were as follows: Hyndman, $5,000; West Providence Township, $21,000; South Woodbury Township, $22,500; Woodbury Borough, $1,000; Broadtop Township, $3,500 and Saxton, $11,000.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to our friends and neighbors who were so kind and helpful during our recent bereavement, the death of our Mother, Mrs. Ida May Shobe. We also wish to thank Rev. Gordon G. Jones, those who sent flowers and cards and those who loaned cars for the funeral.
The Children.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Carl Huffman, Jr., who passed away one year ago today, July 15, 1947.

The blow was hard, the shock severe,
We never thought the end so near;
Only those who have lost can tell,
The pain of passing without farewell.
Our love cannot tell how we miss him;
Our hearts cannot tell what to say;
God alone knows how we miss him,
In our lonesome hearts today.
He little thought when leaving home,
That he would never return,
That he so soon in death would sleep,
And leave us here to mourn.
God knows how much we miss him;
Never shall his memory fade,
Loving thoughts shall ever wander,
To the spot where he is laid.

Sadly missed by his
Dad, Mother & Sister.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to our friends and neighbors who were so kind and helpful during our recent bereavement, the death of our Mother, Mrs. Ida May Shobe. We also wish to thank Rev. Gordon G. Jones, those who sent flowers and cards and those who loaned cars for the funeral.
The Children.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Carl Huffman, Jr., who passed away one year ago today, July 15, 1947.

The blow was hard, the shock severe,
We never thought the end so near;
Only those who have lost can tell,
The pain of passing without farewell.
Our love cannot tell how we miss him;
Our hearts cannot tell what to say;
God alone knows how we miss him,
In our lonesome hearts today.
He little thought when leaving home,
That he would never return,
That he so soon in death would sleep,
And leave us here to mourn.
God knows how much we miss him;
Never shall his memory fade.
Loving thoughts shall ever wander,
To the spot where he is laid.

Dad, Mother & Sister.

FRAGRANT FLOWER AND THE GENERAL

Happy Home Life of Chennault and His Chinese Bride

By WALTER BRIGGS
Central Press Correspondent

SHANGHAI, China—Chen Nateh, the former Lord of the Flying Tigers, and Srung-mai the Fragrant Flower from Hong Kong made me most welcome.

So I shook hands with Gen. Claire Chennault and his wife, Anna.

Chennault, known to millions of Chinese as Chen Na-teh (The Virtuous) and his 24-year-old Chinese bride, Srung-mai (The Fragrant Flower), who has adopted the westernized name of Anna, live in a comfortable bungalow in suburban Hungjao, not far from an air field.

On the occasion of my visit to the Chennaults she wore a pink silk dress, buttoned at the neck and slit a bit along the legs, as is the Chinese style.

Chennault, leader of the American Volunteer Group—the Flying Tigers—and later the 14th Air Force, left the wars to settle down in Waterproof, La., his home town. For two years he tried a quiet life in the bayou country.

CHENNAULT'S thoughts dwelt on China and its skies. Finally, he and his wife agreed that she should divorce him—after 35 years of marriage.

The onetime acrobatic pilot returned to China. He established an airline to haul relief supplies to the interior and bring out export goods. "I feel that I am needed here and know that I am not especially needed in Louisiana," he has said.

At 57, Chennault has decided to spend the rest of his years here. He feels that he has come home. A few days before Christmas he made Anna a part of that home.

Anna is the daughter of a former consul-general in San Francisco. As a college student she made her way from Hong Kong into Free China.

In 1943 she joined a Chinese news agency at Kunming, where she first met Chennault at a press conference. She didn't see him socially, however, until after she went to interview him when he returned to China.

She became his hostess at occasional parties and was seen with him at occasional social functions. The sudden wedding surprised all but a few close friends.

"Marriage has changed my whole habit of life," Srung-mai told me with a slight accent. "You know how nightside reporters love to sleep late. Well, my husband likes to be the first man in the office."

Anna is usually up first to take their dachshunds, Joe and Sandy, for a romp in the garden. The Chennaults quickly down ham and eggs over the morning papers and leave about 8 o'clock. Their chauffeur, Wang, with the general since he first came to China in 1937, drives them downtown in a Plymouth sedan.

FOR ABOUT 40 minutes they plunge through the narrow crowded streets to a tall building on the Bund along the muddy Whangpoo river.

In China women are slowly becoming emancipated. Anna is far ahead of most. Not only does she appear frequently in public and work in an office, but she works right alongside her husband. While he is busy seeing numerous callers about flights, contracts and personnel, and keeping three secretaries busy with dictation, she is helping to handle the airline's public relations.

They lunch at a nearby United States Army officers' club. Back at the office he naps for an hour on a couch. Work is then resumed. This is especially heavy now with the airline's franchise being enlarged and operations extended.

When they return home Anna consults with their five servants on household affairs while the general lounges with a book or paper. Four or five evenings a week they mix socially with others, sometimes going out, often entertaining as many as 20 at dinner at home.

American generals, Chinese politicians, businessmen, air crew members are among their guests. Chennault favors Louisiana dishes, which he has taught the cook, so that gumbo soup and rice dishes appear frequently.

Chinese chow, which he also likes, sometimes is served. At his hand always sits a bottle of tabasco sauce, which he calls "Louisiana ketchup." "I tried it once," Srung-mai said, "but never again."

IF THEY are alone, Chennault takes a couple of straight whiskies before dinner, while she sips a martini.

At dinner she tries to fill him in on what's what among the Chinese. Afterwards they often play a bit of cards. Now and then they drop into a movie. If the general doesn't like it he sometimes falls asleep. They generally turn in at about 11.

Winter Sundays the general and several cronies leave before dawn for the countryside to shoot pheasants and ducks. This summer he expects to show up frequently again at the Columbia Country club's softball diamond, where he has pitched many a hard, fast game. When it is warm Chennault, a GI mechanic's cap shading his eyes, plays badminton with friends in the backyard.

Family life is definitely fun to Anna. "He thinks I'm boss and I think he's boss," Anna said, "so we get along swell."

As we finished talking, the general appeared. He walked tall and straight in a brown business suit. Deep, rough furrows creased his browned face. I mentioned a mutual friend, an American general who had served in India.

"Oh, yes," Chennault said, "he's retired. Picked up some bug out here." He paused. "I've been lucky. Been out 10 years. Feel just as good as when I first came." Then he grinned. "Yes . . . even better."

FRAGRANT FLOWER AND THE GENERAL

Happy Home Life of Chennault and His Chinese Bride

By WALTER BRIGGS
Central Press Correspondent

SHANGHAI, China—Chen Nateh, the former Lord of the Flying Tigers, and Srung-mai the Fragrant Flower from Hong Kong made me most welcome.

So I shook hands with Gen. Claire Chennault and his wife, Anna.

Chennault, known to millions of Chinese as Chen Na-teh (The Virtuous) and his 24-year-old Chinese bride, Srung-mai (The Fragrant Flower), who has adopted the westernized name of Anna, live in a comfortable bungalow in suburban Hungjao, not far from an air field.

Srung-mai or Anna is slim, graceful, scarcely five feet tall, with pronounced cheekbones of her race and parted hair swept neatly back.

On the occasion of my visit to the Chennaults she wore a pink silk dress, buttoned at the neck and slit a bit along the legs, as is the Chinese style.

To Occidentals and many Chinese friends she is Anna. Her family name, oddly enough, is Chen—the same as her husband's. Anna calls him Claire but to most of his friends he is "the Old Man."

Chennault, leader of the American Volunteer Group—the Flying Tigers—and later the 14th Air Force, left the wars to settle down in Waterproof, La., his home town. For two years he tried a quiet life in the bayou country.

CHENNAULT'S thoughts dwelt on China and its skies. Finally, he and his wife agreed that she should divorce him—after 35 years of marriage.

The onetime acrobatic pilot returned to China. He established an airline to haul relief supplies to the interior and bring out export goods. "I feel that I am needed here and know that I am not especially needed in Louisiana," he has said.

At 57, Chennault has decided to spend the rest of his years here. He feels that he has come home. A few days before Christmas he made Anna a part of that home.

Anna is the daughter of a former consul-general in San Francisco. As a college student she made her way from Hong Kong into Free China.

In 1943 she joined a Chinese news agency at Kunming, where she first met Chennault at a press conference. She didn't see him socially, however, until after she went to interview him when he returned to China.

She became his hostess at occasional parties and was seen with him at occasional social functions. The sudden wedding surprised all but a few close friends.

"Marriage has changed my whole habit of life," Srung-mai told me with a slight accent. "You know how nightside reporters love to sleep late. Well, my husband likes to be the first man in the office."

Anna is usually up first to take their dachshunds, Joe and Sandy, for a romp in the garden. The Chennaults quickly down ham and eggs over the morning papers and leave about 8 o'clock. Their chauffeur, Wang, with the general since he first came to China in 1937, drives them downtown in a Plymouth sedan.

FOR ABOUT 40 minutes they plunge through the narrow crowded streets to a tall building on the Bund along the muddy Whangpoo river.

In China women are slowly becoming emancipated. Anna is far ahead of most. Not only does she appear frequently in public and work in an office, but she works right alongside her husband. While he is busy seeing numerous callers about flights, contracts and personnel, and keeping three secretaries busy with dictation, she is helping to handle the airline's public relations.

They lunch at a nearby United States Army officers' club. Back at the office he naps for an hour on a couch. Work is then resumed. This is especially heavy now with the airline's franchise being enlarged and operations extended.

Occasionally the Chennaults drive to Hungjao airfield, where the general is in his element among planes and airmen.

When they return home Anna consults with their five servants on household affairs while the general lounges with a book or paper. Four or five evenings a week they mix socially with others, sometimes going out, often entertaining as many as 20 at dinner at home.

American generals, Chinese politicians, businessmen, air crew members are among their guests. Chennault favors Louisiana dishes, which he has taught the cook, so that gumbo soup and rice dishes appear frequently.

Chinese chow, which he also likes, sometimes is served. At his hand always sits a bottle of tabasco sauce, which he calls "Louisiana ketchup." "I tried it once," Srung-mai said, "but never again."

• • •

IF THEY are alone, Chennault takes a couple of straight whiskies before dinner, while she sips a martini.

At dinner she tries to fill him in on what's what among the Chinese. Afterwards they often play a bit of cards. Now and then they drop into a movie. If the general doesn't like it he sometimes falls asleep. They generally turn in at about 11.

Winter Sundays the general and several cronies leave before dawn for the countryside to shoot pheasants and ducks. This summer he expects to show up frequently again at the Columbia Country club's softball diamond, where he has pitched many a hard, fast game. When it is warm Chennault, a GI mechanic's cap shading his eyes, plays badminton with friends in the backyard.

Family life is definitely fun to Anna. "He thinks I'm boss and I think he's boss," Anna said, "so we get along swell."

As we finished talking, the general appeared. He walked tall and straight in a brown business suit. Deep, rough furrows creased his browned face. I mentioned a mutual friend, an American general who had served in India.

"Oh, yes," Chennault said, "he's retired. Picked up some bug out here." He paused. "I've been lucky. Been out 10 years. Feel just as good as when I first came." Then he grinned. "Yes . . . even better."

LaVale Group Plans Appeal From Decision

Committee Named To Raise Funds

By unanimous vote, members of the board of directors of the LaVale Civic Improvement Association last night decided to file an appeal with the Maryland Court of Appeals from the recent Circuit Court decision ruling that the referendum held in LaVale in January was null and void.

The referendum, on the question of creating a sanitary district for Election District No. 29, which includes LaVale, passed with a majority of 16 votes.

However, a group of residents in that district later filed a bill of complaint in Circuit Court charging irregularities in the manner in which the election was held.

Last night's decision to appeal the ruling was taken in the hope of having the election declared valid and the sanitary district to be in effect. The appeal will be filed immediately by Harry and David Kauffman, attorneys to the board of directors.

However, it is not expected that the Maryland Court of Appeals will hold a hearing on the appeal for several months.

William B. Ludman, William Wiegand and John J. Rowan were appointed to determine methods of raising funds to pay court costs of the appeal.

Meanwhile, members indicated that if the appeal fails, mandamus proceedings would be instituted against the Board of Election Supervisors to compel a new election under the LaVale Sanitary District bill.

Miles G. Thompson, chairman, presided. Besides Ludman, Wiegand, Rowan and Harry Kauffman, other board members present were Harry Simpson, George Dressman, J. K. Snyder, J. Louis Spoerl, William A. Douglas and James E. Judy.

The next meeting of the board will be held in August.

2 Motorists File Damage Suits

Two damage suits totaling $600 were filed in Circuit Court yesterday as the result of property damage automobile accidents that occurred in this area during April of this year.

The first suit for $200 was filed by Benjamin L. Houdersheldt for himself and the Philadelphia Fire and Marine Insurance Company against Ruth L. Clauson.

Houdersheldt charges that the defendent was the operator of an automobile that struck his car on April 29 while he was driving on Greene Street.

The second suit for $400 was filed by John T. Davis for himself and the Emmco Insurance Company against Robert D. Seiforth. Davis charges that Seiforth's automobile collided with a vehicle that he was operating April 29 on Winchester Road.

Both plaintiffs claim that the accidents occurred as the result of negligent driving on the part of the defendants and stated that their vehicles were badly damaged.

12 Join Army, Air Force Here

Twelve area men enlisted in the regular Army and Air Force yesterday at the local Army and Air Force main recruiting station, Capt. Laurence M. Bairstow, officer in charge, announced.

The men are Cecil James Whiteman, 27, Lonaconing, as a corporal in the Ninth Infantry Division; Ronald Ervin Hardy, 17, Kessel, W. Va., Private in the Coast Artillery; Olie Alfred Mick, 38, Ridgeville, W. Va., private first class, unassigned; Robert Blane Kesner, 19, Ridgeley, Air Force unassigned; David Tennant Adams, Jr., 18, Frostburg, private in the Air Force, unassigned; Richard Garland Magruder, 17, Ridgeley, private in the Air Force, unassigned.

Dewey Earnest Ringer, 24, Springfield, W. Va., private first class, unassigned; Robert Lee Dawson, 18, Limestone RD 1, Keyser, W. Va., private in the Armored Forces; Paul Frederick Cornell, 19, private in the Corps of Engineers; Francis Earl Dick, 24, Cresaptown, private in the Mechanized Cavalry; Lorraine Dyer Parker, 23, Lahmansville, W. Va., private first class; James Owen Ashenfelter, 26, Petersburg, private first class unassigned.

The Weather

Yesterday's 17-hundredths of an inch of rain will be augmented by additional showers today, according to the weatherman who predicted that the temperature will be even more moderate than the 76 degrees high of yesterday. It was 69 degrees at 11 p. m.

Brown Withdraws Permit Appeal At Zoning Session

Board Grants Five Other Applications

A possible stormy session of the Board of Zoning Appeals was averted last night when A. L. Brown, 505 Greenway Avenue, withdrew his appeal for a permit to locate a proposed two-story building to house a garage and five apartments on Lot 18 at the intersection of Ridgewood and Warwick Avenues.

According to the application, the garage would be designed for the storage and repair of cars and trailer trucks.

Prior to the opening of the board session, William L. Wilson, Jr., attorney for Brown, informed the members that the appeal would be withdrawn. No reason was given for the action.

Seven residents of the Ridgewood Avenue section were on hand to oppose granting of the permit.

Original Application Denied

Brown's original application to City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer was denied because the lot is located in a residential district, insufficient setback space was allowed from the street, and because no permit can be granted outright for a dwelling to house more than two families, without an appeal to the board.

Four other appeals which involved side yard space for proposed new residences were granted under a section of the zoning ordinance which provides special exceptions in front, side and rear yard requirements if necessary because of topography.

Two of the appeals were filed by Richard E. Runion, 297 Mullin Street, who sought permission to build two residences, one on the front of Lot 35, Bopp's Addition, Frederick Street, and the other on the rear of the same lot facing the back of the former house.

The other two appeals concerned lots in the Allegany County Farms Addition on Holland Street. William J. Robertson, 1040 Myrtle Street, was granted a permit to build a residence on Lot 6 and William R. King, 450 Columbia Street, secured permission to build on Lot 12 in that addition.

Exception Asked

Robertson explained that the 50-foot lots in the addition leave insufficient space to meet requirements of the zoning ordinance for 10-foot side yards. He informed the board that several veterans are planning to build in the addition and asked if a special exception could be made in regard to side yard requirements without making it necessary for each to file an appeal with the board.

Board members suggested a conference with Rizer on the subject.

J. R. Lucas, 437 Ascension Street, was granted his appeal for permission to locate a store for heating equipment on the first floor of a two-story frame building at 901 Maryland Avenue, where a shoe repair shop was formerly located.

The board granted the appeal because the premises were previously used for business purposes.

Charles Paul Roeder presided in the absence of Chairman Joseph R. Mantheiy.

Progress Is Made On Kelly Contract

Local 26, URCLPWA, CIO, and Kelly-Springfield Tire Company officials were still busily engaged yesterday in reducing to writing the terms of a tentative agreement on wages and contract reached Tuesday.

A. E. Johnson, union president, said last night that the meetings should end today. The complete agreement is slated for presentation to the membership Saturday at 7:30 p. m.

Service Officers Assist Veterans

Benefits totaling $26,588.42 were secured for former servicemen and their dependents in June through the work of the Maryland Veterans Commission, Thomas F. Conlon, service officer, announced yesterday.

Back pay included $985.80 for Spanish-American War veterans, $5,657.46 for World War I veterans and $1,546.46 for World War II veterans for a total of $8,189.72.

Pensions — Spanish - American War, $2,592; World War I, $5,860.80; World War II, $5,839.22, total $14,-292.02.

Burial allowances secured in June totaled $1,975 and insurance $2,-131.68.

Permits Granted For Two Garages

James H. Reynolds, 517 Hill Top Drive, secured a permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to build a one-story concrete block garage at the rear of his home, with cost estimated at $300. The structure will measure 14 by 20 feet, with a composition roof.

A permit was granted to John W. Snyder to build a one-story frame garage at the rear of 108 Blaul Avenue, at an estimated cost of $75. The 18 by 10-foot structure will have a foundation of posts and a composition roof.

White "Satisfactory"

Clifton W. White, president and general manager of the Cumberland Fair Association, was reported in a "satisfactory" condition last night at Memorial Hospital where he was admitted July 10 suffering from severe nasal hemorrhages.

Attaches said White is "up and about."

Ravenscroft Is Elected Mayor Of Westernport

Dr. Engle To Fill Council Vacancy

WESTERNPORT — Commissioner William C. Ravenscroft, 308 Spruce Street, was elected mayor of Westernport at a special meeting of the Council here last night. He will complete the unexpired term of Mayor Edward S. Moran, 47, who died Sunday.

Dr. Lewis F. Engle, 208 Vine Street, well known local dentist, was elected commissioner to fill Mayor Ravenscroft's place on the council.

Dr. Engle was elected to the Westernport Council May 1, 1944, to fill the vacancy created when James L. Shay resigned to move to McCoole. He was re-elected to that post in 1946. In February, Dr. Engle was nominated for the post of mayor but lost to Mayor Moran by 20 votes.

A funeral service was held yesterday for Mayor Moran, who died in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted July 7.

He had undergone an operation in February and was re-admitted to the Cumberland hospital to undergo further surgical treatment when death came.

Chamber Of Commerce Committees To Meet

The membership activities of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce will meet tomorrow morning at 11:30 o'clock at the Chamber office to complete plans for the annual meeting to be held July 27 at 7:30 p. m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, Harold W. Smith, manager said.

The membership committee will also meet tomorrow at 12:45 p. m. Progress in the annual membership drive is progressing splendidly, Smith said.

Marine Injured In Cycle Mishap Near Romney

Pa. Police Report Turnpike Accident

A man identified as Cpl. Luther J. Hodapp, 20, Route 1, Spensville, Lima, O., was reported in fair condition last night in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted at 8 a. m. after being thrown from a motorcycle near Romney, W. Va.

Trooper E. D. Harbert, of the West Virginia State Police, who investigated, said Hodapp, who is on leave from the Platoon Leaders Unit, Quantico, Va., was traveling to Ohio. He spent Tuesday night at a tourist cabin near Romney, and started on his trip at 4:30 a. m.

He was about four and a half miles west of Romney when his machine skidded on a sharp turn and climbed an embankment, throwing Hodapp about 20 feet. Trooper Harbert explained that the road was extremely slippery as the result of heavy rains in the area Tuesday night.

Hodapp was brought to the local hospital by ambulance and did not regain consciousness until 10 a. m. Authorities said he received treatment for a severe laceration of the scalp, and that X-rays will be taken today.

At 10:30 a. m. Rose Roslonski, Trenton, N. J., attempted to pass another car about 20 miles from Bedford, when the second car swerved out. The woman veered out sharply to the left to avoid striking the other car, and struck an embankment. She was not injured but damage to the car was estimated at $1,000.

Robert Martz, Holland, Pa., was treated at Memorial Hospital at noon yesterday for injuries to his left little finger sustained when he was loosening a bolt on a tank at the Baltimore and Ohio Roundhouse at about 10:30 a. m. The wrench slipped, mashing his finger. The digit was X-rayed and a dressing was applied.

Milan McGreevy, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen McGreevy, 7 East Elder Street, was treated at Memorial Hospital at 9 p. m. yesterday after he stepped on a piece of glass in the yard of his home. He sustained lacerations of the left foot.

Swimming School Registration Set

Registration for sixth grade students of Columbia Street and Virginia Avenue schools in the cooperative swimming program sponsored by the Red Cross and Constitution Park Pool will be held Monday morning at the pool.

The Virginia Avenue students will be registered at 10 a. m. and the Columbia Street students at 11 a. m. The pool will be open to the children from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Optimists Entertain "Miss Cumberland"

The Cumberland Optimist Club was host to Juanita Lookabaugh, "Miss Cumberland of 1948," last night and heard Jack Moore, beauty pageant director, outline plans for making the pageant an annual event.

Moore said the Junior Association of Commerce, which holds the franchise for the affair, plans to make the state contest a yearly event in Cumberland also.

Blaze Extinguished

Central Fire Company No. 1 was called to the home of Howard Twigg, 154 Bedford Street, at 6:12 p. m. yesterday, after a washing machine motor began to burn. Damage was confined to the motor.

Clinic Tomorrow

The City Health Department will hold a Child Hygiene Clinic at the Fireman's Hall at Bowman's Addition at 10 a. m. tomorrow. Dr. William McFarland will be examining physician.

STATE'S BEST SHOT-- Trooper Jack Browning (right) yesterday received the Maryland State Police Department's highest marksmanship award — the Superintendent's Medal — from Col. Beverly Ober, department superintendent, after his 297 out of a possible 300 was announced as the highest score made by any trooper on the Maryland force this year. Trooper Browning is the first officer in the local barracks to receive the award.

Trooper Browning Receives Award As State Police's Best Marksman

Is State's High Scoring Officer

Trooper Jack Browning, the Maryland State Police Department's best pistol shot, yesterday was among 15 officers who received marksmanship awards at the annual inspection of the LaVale Barracks, made by Col. Beverly Ober, department superintendent.

Trooper Browning, who scored 297 out of a possible 300 in qualifying matches, was presented with the Superintendent's Medal, which Col. Ober annually awards to the officer with the highest score in the state.

The marksmanship awards were presented at a formation on the LaVale Barracks pistol range following the annual inspection, which resulted in a commendation for First Sgt. W. E. O'Hara and the 17 officers who patrol Allegany and Garrett Counties under his command.

Accompanying Col. Ober on the inspection tour were Capt. A. T. Conner, department administrative office, Lt. W. H. Conroy, director of the Maryland State Police Training School, and Lt. Charles W. Magaha, commander of Troop B, of which the LaVale command is a unit.

The headquarters officers inspected men and equipment during the day-long visit at the LaVale Barracks and also took inventory of the local command.

The medal presented to Trooper Browning is a gold piece with two gold bars above it. It is the first time the medal has been awarded to a trooper in the local command.

Other officers receiving marksmanship awards yesterday are:

Expert—First Sgt. O'Hara, Trooper First Class G. M. Rotruck, Trooper P. T. Long, Trooper First Class A. M. Spioch, Trooper First Class Thomas G. Barton, Trooper G. E. Coddington, Trooper Glen D. Folk and Trooper Blair J. Buckel.

Sharpshooter — Trooper William McElfish and Trooper Harry Bosley.

Marksmanship — Trooper First Class William Baker, Trooper R. D. Henline, Trooper T. M. Gilmore and Trooper Milton G. Hart.

Area Reservists To Cruise To Bermuda

Six members of Organized Surface Division 5-9, Naval Reserve, will leave Norfolk, Va., Monday for a two-weeks cruise aboard the light cruiser USS Fresno, according to Lt. Comdr. E. R. Edwards, commanding officer.

The Fresno, a new type anti-aircraft ship recently returned from duty in the Mediterranean, will call at Bermuda during the cruise.

Those who will make the cruise are William Corrick, QMS-1, 39 Oak Street; Charles Bujac, 232 Cecelia Street; Thomas Brodie, Midland; Donald Sensabaugh, 708 Brookfield Avenue; George A. Herring, Frostburg, and William Tates, 241 East Main Street, Frostburg.

Firms Are Asked To Provide Jobs For Handicapped

Handicapped workers are valuable employes and deserve your attention and consideration, Harold W. Smith, manager of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, said yesterday in an appeal to Cumberland area business firms to aid in the task of placing the handicapped in useful jobs.

The Maryland Employment Service, he explained, will be glad to submit names of handicapped workers for your consideration.

Officials of the State Employment Service, which gives preferential treatment for the handicapped, yesterday praised the work of service clubs of Cumberland which have been co-operating in the work for the handicapped.

The big problem, Patrick J. Carroll, manager, said, is to find an available job for which the handicapped worker is suited.

Could Be Placed

There is not a single one of the 76 persons who are now actively seeking work through the State Employment office who could not be placed if the opportunity were available, employment officials said.

The biggest hurdle in this area, they added, is that industrial plants utilize most of the jobs available for the handicapped to take care of their own employes who become disabled.

One of the developments which has made it easier to find gainful employment for the handicapped is the Maryland Second Injury Fund. Since the employer of a handicapped person is liable only for such injuries as are suffered while on his payroll, his liability is the same as if the worker were not physically handicapped.

Are Successful

Employment officials here declared the handicapped are very successful when placed on the job for which they are suited. Such workers, they added, are very conscientious, careful and loyal workers.

The placement of handicapped World War II veterans here, they added, is easier than for other handicapped workers since the veterans fall in the easily employable age group. Employers, they added, hesitate to employ older handicapped workers.

Most needed for the employment of the handicapped, employment officials said, is the establishment of a local workshop where the handicapped worker could be taught some skill within his ability.

German Woman Asks Aid From Cumberland

A letter has been received at the local Postoffice from a German woman asking aid for her family from those who are sending CARE packages to Germany.

"I beg you to give my letter to a family which intends to send a food package to a poor German family. My husband is unable to work. He was a prisoner of war two years in Russia and now he is very sick.

"We have two children and not enough to eat and are suffering from hunger. I beg you to think of us. We are so grateful for the smallest present."

The letter was written by Gertrud Lauer, Ludwigshafen, Forsterstr 4, French Zone, Germany.

Celanese-Union Contract Talk Planned Today

Holden Arranges Meeting At 10 A. M.

James A. Holden, Washington, federal conciliator, announced last night that a meeting between Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, and the Celanese Corporation of America will be held this morning at 10 o'clock at the Amcelle plant.

Commissioner Holden, who has assisted in the settlement of virtually every labor dispute here in recent years, did not comment on the prospects of any significant break in the contract dispute here.

Holden was called into the dispute late in June when contract negotiations became deadlocked over wage issues.

No Counter Offer

So far the Celanese Corporation has made no counter offer to the 25 cents hourly increase being asked by the TWUA here and in other units of the rayon industry.

The TWUA rayon advisory council met recently to discuss the wage pattern for the industry but has kept mum on the strategy formed at that meeting.

The first significant development in the rayon wage pattern came Tuesday with the American Viscose Company report that the TWUA had turned down a 10 per cent wage offer which would average a 13 cent increase for most workers and range from nine to 17 cents per hour.

Local 1874 represents some 8,500 hourly rated workers at the Amcelle plant and is the largest single unit in the Textile Workers Union of America.

Average Rate $1.20

The three cent general wage boost provided in the agreement which ended a four-weeks strike late in June, 1947, brought to $1.20 the average rate at the Amcelle plant which then employed 9,000 hourly rated and 1,400 staff employes.

That agreement also provided that the firm would pay the cost of sickness and accident premiums, set aside one cent to correct inequalities alleged by the union, upped top rates in the mechanical department by five cents, provided double time for holidays worked and gave workers straight time for holidays not worked when the firm could not provide an extra day's work in that week and gave employes the opportunity to join in a pension plan started in all Celanese plants.

Tenant Sues To Halt Eviction

Lester C. Harper, 13 Williston Place, yesterday filed suit in Circuit Court to prevent his landlord, Hosea H. Dolan, from dispossessing him from the premises which he contends was leased for 16 months in September, 1947.

In the bill of complaint, Harper declared that Sheriff Edward R. Muir was ordered by Trial Magistrates Court to dispossess him, but asked that an injunction be issued to prevent such action.

Harper stated that he leased the premises in 1947 and contracted to pay $18.40 a month with the payments to be made in advance. He informed the court that his rent is now paid until July 28.

Chief Judge William A. Huster signed an order for Dolan and Sheriff Muir to appear in Court to show cause why they should not be prohibited from dispossessing Harper.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd W. Dawson, 409 Springdale Street, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Winter, Cresaptown, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Mazuran, 400 Springdale Street, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McGann, Gramlich Road, LaVale, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Settle, 14 Arch Street, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin B. Barnes, 26 East Roberts Street, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew M. Whetzel, 33 Arch Street, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin C. Kennell, Winston-Salem, N. C., announce the birth of a son, Austin C. Kennell, III, Wednesday morning in Baptist Hospital there. Mr. Kennell is the son of Mrs. Eliza M. Kennell, 341 Bedford Street.

Mr. and Mrs. John Busch, Washington, announce the birth of a daughter yesterday. Mrs. Busch is the former Miss Mary Lawler, daughter of Mrs. Leo T. Lawler, 214 Fayette Street.

Social Tomorrow

Charles Sitter, Cumberland, Wins Top Honors At Legion "Boys' State"

Charles Sitter

Sitter made a landslide of the major political contest when he garnered 67 votes in the election of two Maryland "Senators" to represent the state in a national boys' forum sponsored by the Legion in Washington late this month.

Bill Hancock, Middle River, Baltimore County, got the other Senate seat with 31 votes. Some 150 boys participated in the election, each voting for two candidates.

Sitter's triumph was his third in the 10 days of politicking. He first was elected mayor of "Key City," one of the municipal governments set up by the campers.

Then he was nominated and elected governor and inaugurated in ceremonies attended by relatives and friends of the campers on Sunday.

Hancock was president of the "Key City" council and became its mayor when Sitter advanced to the governorship.

Cumberlanders Head For Mountains To See Convention By Television

Small groups of Cumberland citizens who took off to the nearby mountains last night returned after several hours with visual details of the Democratic National Convention which they say 'came in fine on two television sets."

One of these sets owned by Virgil Ruppenthal, LaVale, was set up at Wolford's Inn on Martin's Mountain where the elevation is 1,675 feet, and observers said scenes of the convention were received on the 32-tube commercial set over three stations and poor but visible results were possible over a fourth.

Ruppenthal's set reportedly received good pictures over WMAR-TV, Baltimore; WMAL-TV, Washington, and WNBW-TV, also Washington.

Results were not too good from a Cleveland station, observers said, but when the airplane, which is sometimes used as a relay station, was up, the scenes were very clear.

The owners of both sets said they have found that their sets must be at a point higher than the broadcasting station and also higher than any point between the receiver and sending station.

Ruppenthal declared that the Martin Mountain position is by far the best location he has tried yet, and added it is impossible to receive at all in any section of Cumberland.

LaVale Group Plans Appeal From Decision

Brown Withdraws Permit Appeal At Zoning Session

Board Grants Five Other Applications

A possible stormy session of the Board of Zoning Appeals was averted last night when A. L. Brown, 505 Greenway Avenue, withdrew his appeal for a permit to locate a proposed two-story building to house a garage and five apartments on Lot 18 at the intersection of Ridgewood and Warwick Avenues.

According to the application, the garage would be designed for the storage and repair of cars and trailer trucks.

Prior to the opening of the board session, William L. Wilson, Jr., attorney for Brown, informed the members that the appeal would be withdrawn. No reason was given for the action.

Seven residents of the Ridgewood Avenue section were on hand to oppose granting of the permit.

Original Application Denied

Brown's original application to City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer was denied because the lot is located in a residential district, insufficient setback space was allowed from the street, and because no permit can be granted outright for a dwelling to house more than two families, without an appeal to the board.

Four other appeals which involved side yard space for proposed new residences were granted under a section of the zoning ordinance which provides special exceptions in front, side and rear yard requirements if necessary because of topography.

Two of the appeals were filed by Richard E. Runion, 297 Mullin Street, who sought permission to build two residences, one on the front of Lot 35, Bopp's Addition, Frederick Street, and the other on the rear of the same lot facing the back of the former house.

The other two appeals concerned lots in the Allegany County Farms Addition on Holland Street. William J. Robertson, 1040 Myrtle Street, was granted a permit to build a residence on Lot 6 and William R. King, 450 Columbia Street, secured permission to build on Lot 12 in that addition.

Exception Asked

Robertson explained that the 50-foot lots in the addition leave insufficient space to meet requirements of the zoning ordinance for 10-foot side yards. He informed the board that several veterans are planning to build in the addition and asked if a special exception could be made in regard to side yard requirements without making it necessary for each to file an appeal with the board.

Board members suggested a conference with Rizer on the subject.

J. R. Lucas, 437 Ascension Street, was granted his appeal for permission to locate a store for heating equipment on the first floor of a two-story frame building at 901 Maryland Avenue, where a shoe repair shop was formerly located.

The board granted the appeal because the premises were previously used for business purposes.

Charles Paul Roeder presided in the absence of Chairman Joseph R. Mantheiy.

Progress Is Made On Kelly Contract

Local 26, URCLPWA, CIO, and Kelly-Springfield Tire Company officials were still busily engaged yesterday in reducing to writing the terms of a tentative agreement on wages and contract reached Tuesday.

A. E. Johnson, union president, said last night that the meetings should end today. The complete agreement is slated for presentation to the membership Saturday at 7:30 p. m.

Service Officers Assist Veterans

Benefits totaling $26,588.42 were secured for former servicemen and their dependents in June through the work of the Maryland Veterans Commission, Thomas F. Conlon, service officer, announced yesterday.

Back pay included $985.80 for Spanish-American War veterans, $5,657.46 for World War I veterans and $1,546.46 for World War II veterans for a total of $8,189.72.

Pensions — Spanish - American War, $2,592; World War I, $5,860.80; World War II, $5,839.22, total $14,-292.02.

Burial allowances secured in June totaled $1,975 and insurance $2,-131.68.

Permits Granted For Two Garages

James H. Reynolds, 517 Hill Top Drive, secured a permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to build a one-story concrete block garage at the rear of his home, with cost estimated at $300. The structure will measure 14 by 20 feet, with a composition roof.

A permit was granted to John W. Snyder to build a one-story frame garage at the rear of 108 Blaul Avenue, at an estimated cost of $75. The 18 by 10-foot structure will have a foundation of posts and a composition roof.

Attaches said White is "up and about."

Ravenscroft Is Elected Mayor Of Westernport

Dr. Engle To Fill Council Vacancy

WESTERNPORT — Commissioner William C. Ravenscroft, 308 Spruce Street, was elected mayor of Westernport at a special meeting of the Council here last night. He will complete the unexpired term of Mayor Edward S. Moran, 47, who died Sunday.

Mayor Ravenscroft, a retired Baltimore and Ohio Railroad employe, is serving his third term as commissioner of Westernport.

Commissioner George P. Kight presided at the meeting as councilmen voted unanimously to accept the nomination presented by Commissioner John Matthews.

Dr. Lewis F. Engle, 208 Vine Street, well known local dentist, was elected commissioner to fill Mayor Ravenscroft's place on the council.

Dr. Engle was elected to the Westernport Council May 1, 1944, to fill the vacancy created when James L. Shay resigned to move to McCoole. He was re-elected to that post in 1946. In February, Dr. Engle was nominated for the post of mayor but lost to Mayor Moran by 20 votes.

A funeral service was held yesterday for Mayor Moran, who died in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted July 7.

He had undergone an operation in February and was re-admitted to the Cumberland hospital to undergo further surgical treatment when death came.

The membership committee will also meet tomorrow at 12:45 p. m. Progress in the annual membership drive is progressing splendidly, Smith said.

Marine Injured In Cycle Mishap Near Romney

Pa. Police Report Turnpike Accident

A man identified as Cpl. Luther J. Hodapp, 20, Route 1, Spensville, Lima, O., was reported in fair condition last night in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted at 8 a. m. after being thrown from a motorcycle near Romney, W. Va.

Trooper E. D. Harbert, of the West Virginia State Police, who investigated, said Hodapp, who is on leave from the Platoon Leaders Unit, Quantico, Va., was traveling to Ohio. He spent Tuesday night at a tourist cabin near Romney, and started on his trip at 4:30 a. m.

He was about four and a half miles west of Romney when his machine skidded on a sharp turn and climbed an embankment, throwing Hodapp about 20 feet. Trooper Harbert explained that the road was extremely slippery as the result of heavy rains in the area Tuesday night.

Hodapp was brought to the local hospital by ambulance and did not regain consciousness until 10 a. m. Authorities said he received treatment for a severe laceration of the scalp, and that X-rays will be taken today.

Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford reported two Turnpike accidents yesterday, in which damage totaled $1,950.

At 10:30 a. m. Rose Roslonski, Trenton, N. J., attempted to pass another car about 20 miles from Bedford, when the second car swerved out. The woman veered out sharply to the left to avoid striking the other car, and struck an embankment. She was not injured but damage to the car was estimated at $1,000.

Robert Martz, Holland, Pa., was treated at Memorial Hospital at noon yesterday for injuries to his left little finger sustained when he was loosening a bolt on a tank at the Baltimore and Ohio Roundhouse at about 10:30 a. m. The wrench slipped, mashing his finger. The digit was X-rayed and a dressing was applied.

Milan McGreevy, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen McGreevy, 7 East Elder Street, was treated at Memorial Hospital at 9 p. m. yesterday after he stepped on a piece of glass in the yard of his home. He sustained lacerations of the left foot.

Swimming School Registration Set

Registration for sixth grade students of Columbia Street and Virginia Avenue schools in the cooperative swimming program sponsored by the Red Cross and Constitution Park Pool will be held Monday morning at the pool.

The Virginia Avenue students will be registered at 10 a. m. and the Columbia Street students at 11 a. m. The pool will be open to the children from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.

The classes are conducted by Miss Ann Nagel, Red Cross instructor, assisted by James Hines, who teaches the intermediates.

Optimists Entertain "Miss Cumberland"

The Cumberland Optimist Club was host to Juanita Lookabaugh, "Miss Cumberland of 1948," last night and heard Jack Moore, beauty pageant director, outline plans for making the pageant an annual event.

Moore said the Junior Association of Commerce, which holds the franchise for the affair, plans to make the state contest a yearly event in Cumberland also.

Blaze Extinguished

Central Fire Company No. 1 was called to the home of Howard Twigg, 154 Bedford Street, at 6:12 p. m. yesterday, after a washing machine motor began to burn. Damage was confined to the motor.

STATE'S BEST SHOT-- Trooper Jack Browning (right) yesterday received the Maryland State Police Department's highest marksmanship award — the Superintendent's Medal — from Col. Beverly Ober, department superintendent, after his 297 out of a possible 300 was announced as the highest score made by any trooper on the Maryland force this year. Trooper Browning is the first officer in the local barracks to receive the award.

Trooper Browning Receives Award As State Police's Best Marksman

Is State's High Scoring Officer

Trooper Jack Browning, the Maryland State Police Department's best pistol shot, yesterday was among 15 officers who received marksmanship awards at the annual inspection of the LaVale Barracks, made by Col. Beverly Ober, department superintendent.

Trooper Browning, who scored 297 out of a possible 300 in qualifying matches, was presented with the Superintendent's Medal, which Col. Ober annually awards to the officer with the highest score in the state.

The marksmanship awards were presented at a formation on the LaVale Barracks pistol range following the annual inspection, which resulted in a commendation for First Sgt. W. E. O'Hara and the 17 officers who patrol Allegany and Garrett Counties under his command.

Accompanying Col. Ober on the inspection tour were Capt. A. T. Conner, department administrative office, Lt. W. H. Conroy, director of the Maryland State Police Training School, and Lt. Charles W. Magaha, commander of Troop B, of which the LaVale command is a unit.

The headquarters officers inspected men and equipment during the day-long visit at the LaVale Barracks and also took inventory of the local command.

The medal presented to Trooper Browning is a gold piece with two gold bars above it. It is the first time the medal has been awarded to a trooper in the local command.

Prior to Col. Ober's inspection, the LaVale barracks was completely redecorated and painted.

Other officers receiving marksmanship awards yesterday are:

Expert—First Sgt. O'Hara, Trooper First Class G. M. Rotruck, Trooper P. T. Long, Trooper First Class A. M. Spioch, Trooper First Class Thomas G. Barton, Trooper G. E. Coddington, Trooper Glen D. Folk and Trooper Blair J. Buckel.

Sharpshooter — Trooper William McElfish and Trooper Harry Bosley.

Marksmanship — Trooper First Class William Baker, Trooper R. D. Henline, Trooper T. M. Gilmore and Trooper Milton G. Hart.

Area Reservists To Cruise To Bermuda

Six members of Organized Surface Division 5-9, Naval Reserve, will leave Norfolk, Va., Monday for a two-weeks cruise aboard the light cruiser USS Fresno, according to Lt. Comdr. E. R. Edwards, commanding officer.

Firms Are Asked To Provide Jobs For Handicapped

Handicapped workers are valuable employes and deserve your attention and consideration, Harold W. Smith, manager of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, said yesterday in an appeal to Cumberland area business firms to aid in the task of placing the handicapped in useful jobs.

Surveys, he added, have shown that handicapped workers are not handicapped when placed in the right jobs.

The Maryland Employment Service, he explained, will be glad to submit names of handicapped workers for your consideration.

Officials of the State Employment Service, which gives preferential treatment for the handicapped, yesterday praised the work of service clubs of Cumberland which have been co-operating in the work for the handicapped.

The big problem, Patrick J. Carroll, manager, said, is to find an available job for which the handicapped worker is suited.

Could Be Placed

There is not a single one of the 76 persons who are now actively seeking work through the State Employment office who could not be placed if the opportunity were available, employment officials said.

The biggest hurdle in this area, they added, is that industrial plants utilize most of the jobs available for the handicapped to take care of their own employes who become disabled.

One of the developments which has made it easier to find gainful employment for the handicapped is the Maryland Second Injury Fund. Since the employer of a handicapped person is liable only for such injuries as are suffered while on his payroll, his liability is the same as if the worker were not physically handicapped.

Are Successful

Employment officials here declared the handicapped are very successful when placed on the job for which they are suited. Such workers, they added, are very conscientious, careful and loyal workers.

The placement of handicapped World War II veterans here, they added, is easier than for other handicapped workers since the veterans fall in the easily employable age group. Employers, they added, hesitate to employ older handicapped workers.

Most needed for the employment of the handicapped, employment officials said, is the establishment of a local workshop where the handicapped worker could be taught some skill within his ability.

German Woman Asks Aid From Cumberland

A letter has been received at the local Postoffice from a German woman asking aid for her family from those who are sending CARE packages to Germany.

The letter, dated June 23 and addressed only to the Postoffice, was turned over to the Red Cross chapter here.

Text of the letter, which is written in English, follows:

"I beg you to give my letter to a family which intends to send a food package to a poor German family. My husband is unable to work. He was a prisoner of war two years in Russia and now he is very sick.

"We have two children and not enough to eat and are suffering from hunger. I beg you to think of us. We are so grateful for the smallest present."

The letter was written by Gertrud Lauer, Ludwigshafen, Forsterstr 4, French Zone, Germany.

Celanese-Union Contract Talk Planned Today

Holden Arranges Meeting At 10 A. M.

James A. Holden, Washington, federal conciliator, announced last night that a meeting between Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, and the Celanese Corporation of America will be held this morning at 10 o'clock at the Amcelle plant.

Commissioner Holden, who has assisted in the settlement of virtually every labor dispute here in recent years, did not comment on the prospects of any significant break in the contract dispute here.

Holden was called into the dispute late in June when contract negotiations became deadlocked over wage issues.

No Counter Offer

So far the Celanese Corporation has made no counter offer to the 25 cents hourly increase being asked by the TWUA here and in other units of the rayon industry.

The TWUA rayon advisory council met recently to discuss the wage pattern for the industry but has kept mum on the strategy formed at that meeting.

The first significant development in the rayon wage pattern came Tuesday with the American Viscose Company report that the TWUA had turned down a 10 per cent wage offer which would average a 13 cent increase for most workers and range from nine to 17 cents per hour.

Local 1874 represents some 8,500 hourly rated workers at the Amcelle plant and is the largest single unit in the Textile Workers Union of America.

Average Rate $1.20

The three cent general wage boost provided in the agreement which ended a four-weeks strike late in June, 1947, brought to $1.20 the average rate at the Amcelle plant which then employed 9,000 hourly rated and 1,400 staff employes.

That agreement also provided that the firm would pay the cost of sickness and accident premiums, set aside one cent to correct inequalities alleged by the union, upped top rates in the mechanical department by five cents, provided double time for holidays worked and gave workers straight time for holidays not worked when the firm could not provide an extra day's work in that week and gave employes the opportunity to join in a pension plan started in all Celanese plants.

Tenant Sues To Halt Eviction

Lester C. Harper, 13 Williston Place, yesterday filed suit in Circuit Court to prevent his landlord, Hosea H. Dolan, from dispossessing him from the premises which he contends was leased for 16 months in September, 1947.

In the bill of complaint, Harper declared that Sheriff Edward R. Muir was ordered by Trial Magistrates Court to dispossess him, but asked that an injunction be issued to prevent such action.

Harper stated that he leased the premises in 1947 and contracted to pay $18.40 a month with the payments to be made in advance. He informed the court that his rent is now paid until July 28.

Chief Judge William A. Huster signed an order for Dolan and Sheriff Muir to appear in Court to show cause why they should not be prohibited from dispossessing Harper.

Charles Sitter, Cumberland, Wins Top Honors At Legion "Boys' State"

Charles Sitter

The 10-day encampment, which set up model city and state governments broke up tonight with a farewell party.

Sitter made a landslide of the major political contest when he garnered 67 votes in the election of two Maryland "Senators" to represent the state in a national boys' forum sponsored by the Legion in Washington late this month.

Bill Hancock, Middle River, Baltimore County, got the other Senate seat with 31 votes. Some 150 boys participated in the election, each voting for two candidates.

Sitter's triumph was his third in the 10 days of politicking. He first was elected mayor of "Key City," one of the municipal governments set up by the campers.

Then he was nominated and elected governor and inaugurated in ceremonies attended by relatives and friends of the campers on Sunday.

Hancock was president of the "Key City" council and became its mayor when Sitter advanced to the governorship.

Small groups of Cumberland citizens who took off to the nearby mountains last night returned after several hours with visual details of the Democratic National Convention which they say 'came in fine on two television sets."

One of these sets owned by Virgil Ruppenthal, LaVale, was set up at Wolford's Inn on Martin's Mountain where the elevation is 1,675 feet, and observers said scenes of the convention were received on the 32-tube commercial set over three stations and poor but visible results were possible over a fourth.

A 28-tube commercial set, owned by R. W. Vandergrift, was receiving convention details over three channels at Anton's Inn, atop Big Savage where the elevation is 2,800 feet. William Poling provided the antenna.

Ruppenthal's set reportedly received good pictures over WMAR-TV, Baltimore; WMAL-TV, Washington, and WNBW-TV, also Washington.

Results were not too good from a Cleveland station, observers said, but when the airplane, which is sometimes used as a relay station, was up, the scenes were very clear.

The owners of both sets said they have found that their sets must be at a point higher than the broadcasting station and also higher than any point between the receiver and sending station.

Ruppenthal declared that the Martin Mountain position is by far the best location he has tried yet, and added it is impossible to receive at all in any section of Cumberland.
